The days of Marco Polo are gone forever

IT'S ALREADY a long time since this Company introduced its rest room service and rescued the public from a deplorable inconvenience which had harassed the motorists here.

Since the institution of this advance in civilized travel—marking a brisk upsurge in the affairs of the human race—millions of motorists have taken it for granted that our name outside a service station means spotless rest rooms within.

There, stars, is a reputation worth living up to. Everything you organization can do to deserve it, we most certainly do.

From the start motorists universally have appreciated our determination to keep both reputation and rest rooms unimpaired. They've allied themselves with us—an army of friendly volunteer inspectors who reports get instant action.

If we needed anything more than our name to warrant cleanliness in our rest rooms, we'd put up a sign. It would mark them as the best—unsurpassed, as we sometimes say. The sign would be short and sweet: "Inspected and Approved—by The Public."

RAIN HITS TOMS, BENEFITS WOODS

Rains over the week-end were generally beneficial and reduced fire hazards on state and national forests in this area to such an extent that reduction of protective forces was begun today.

In the agricultural industry only tomatoes suffered possible damage and that is expected after October 1, said C. B. Cordy, county horticulturist. No damage was done to the Copco system in this area and telephone lines suffered only the interference anticipated at this time of year, company executives said.

Contrary to reports published in update newspapers, no forest fires were set by lightning in this region. Official forecast was for partly cloudy weather.

NEW CITIZENS TO RECEIVE PAPERS

All Jackson and Josephine county residents who have completed their requirements for citizenship and are ready to take the oath of allegiance, are to meet at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the post office. The oath will be given in the federal court by Judge Claude McCulloch of Portland.

It is expected that between 20 to 25 persons will become citizens tomorrow. The class is sponsored by the American committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. G. D'Albini is chairman of the committee.

HUBBARD ELECTED BUDGET CHAIRMAN

A. C. Hubbard was elected chairman of the 1939 Jackson county budget committee when the group met to organize in the county court's offices this morning.

Dr. George B. Dean was elected secretary. Other member of the citizens committee is H. G. Endera. These three and the county court comprise the budget committee.

After organization the committee immediately began the task of preparing the 1939 county budget.

TALENT TEACHERS RECEPTION OCT. 5

Building Permits in September Decrease

Building permits amounting to $10,580 were issued from the city building inspector's office during September, bringing Medford's total for the first nine months of 1938 to $209,430, a decrease under the same period in 1937 when permits valued at $252,975 were issued.

The total last month was also considerably under September of 1937, when the value of permits was $34,660, and under August of this year, when permits totaling $24,350 were issued.

WARM-UP DINNER TO OPEN SHASTA CASCADE PARLEY

ASHLAND, Oct. 3.—(Spl.)—With ticket sales exceeding expectations, preparations are being completed for a warm-up fried chicken dinner to be served at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday, October 5, in the civic club house as a prelude to the annual convention of the Shasta-Cascade Wondersland Association in Ashland, October 10 and 11, at which time more than 500 delegates are expected.

The warm-up banquet will be served by ladies of the Bellview Glee Club, under the leadership of Chas. Beebe and President R. E. Poston. The affair will serve to acquaint residents of Ashland and southern Oregon with the nature and purpose of the convention and to lay the groundwork for a warm reception of Wondersland visitors.

A brief program, including music, a short sketch on "How to Be a Host City" and other novelty entertainments, as well as short talks by Wondersland association officials, will feature the evening. Assisting Beebe and Dr. Poston are Paul R. Finner and Leonard Hall and the entire membership of the Lions' club, which has handled ticket sales.

A special invitation to Medford and Jackson county residents to attend the warm-up dinner is being extended by Chairman Beebe.

Miss Izola Jensen, extension specialist in community social organization arrived in Jackson county today to assist Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent in the community recreation project.

Meetings have been scheduled for community leaders and heads of organizations in three districts of the county—on Monday, October 3, at 8 p. m. at the county house auditorium at Medford; Tuesday, October 4 at 8 p. m. at the Upper Rogue Grange hall and Wednesday, October 5 at 8 p. m. at the Gold Hill Grange hall. The heads of all organizations of the various communities are invited to attend one of these district meetings and to assist in planning their community program.

Henry Weidmeyer of Jacksonville president of the Jackson County Recreation club, Mrs. Olive Floyd of Medford, recreation chairman of the county extension committee; Ray Ward, recreation leader of the Phoenix Grange; Eudora Bohner of the Central Point Grange and Ethel Blah of the Roxy Ann Grange are also assisting with these meetings.

PROJECT LEADERS MEET TOMORROW

Mack, county home demonstration agent.

NO INQUEST INTO HUNTING TRAGEDY

There will be no inquest into the death of Homer Scholar, Klamath Junction rancher accidentally shot and killed by his hunting companion, Thomas L. Edsall of 215 Washington street, District Attorney Frank I. Newman said today.

Funeral services for Mr. Scholar will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Litwiler chapel, Ashland. The Rev. E. E. Wordsworth, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene will officiate. Burial will take place in the Mountain View cemetery.

An aftermath of the tragedy reached justice of the peace court this morning when Edsall pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing a fawn deer. Pronouncement of sentence was deferred by Judge William R. Coleman to 2 p. m. Wednesday.

The charge was filed by state police. It was brought out in justice court that the fawn was jumped by Scholar when he threw a rock into a clump of brush. Edsall said he did not kill the fawn but District Attorney Newman said anyone in the hunting party was equally guilty of the possession charge. The court was told no possession would be filed against Dale Rowley, 18, of Klamath Junction, because of his youth. He was the third member of the hunting party.

After it was seen the deer was a fawn, the hunters decided not to waste the meat. Edsall told the court. It was thought at first that the fawn was a forked-horn buck, he related.

Scholar was carrying the fawn when he was fatally shot Friday afternoon near Pilot Rock, it was said. He was walking ahead of Edsall when the latter slipped and his rifle went off. The investigation has brought out.

The shooting was plainly accidental and there would be no further action, District Attorney Newman informed Judge Coleman.

Edsall was released on the possession charge pending pronouncement of sentence.

"We have seen the cause of demoralization, civilization and humanity receive a terrible defeat," said Atlee Duff-Cooper Assails.

The 69-year-old prime minister, whose untiring will brought about peace at a price which satisfied Hitler, after listening to Duff-Cooper's scathing attack, hammered home again and again his conviction that he had given the world's millions what they wanted more than anything else—escape from the stark horrors of war.

Before he finally set for himself this task: "Gradual removal of hostility between nations until they feel they can safely discard their weapons one by one."

To this he believed to put his hand and brain "before I hand my office to a younger man."

With angry words and gestures Chamberlain refused to let his critics brand him with shame for his deal with Hitler.

He admitted that the four men at Munich had laid "only the foundation of peace." But he envisaged a superstructure in the making.

Praise for Hitler

As for Hitler, Chamberlain told the house he believed there was sincerity and good will on both sides at Munich and challenged anyone to deny friendship between Britain and Germany is vital to Europe.
