

Pigskin Warriors of City to Parade Before Game Friday Night

EIGHT TEAMS IN FULL UNIFORM TO CAVORT ON TURF

Tigers in Good Shape for Roseburg Tilt—Two Have Hurts.

As a colorful prelude to the Medford Black Tornado-Roseburg high school football clash at the stadium Friday night, over 200 pigskin warriors representing every team in the city will cavort on the green turf. It was announced today. Starting at 7:30, the teams will parade onto the field and stage signal drills in full uniform, with the exception of the four grade school aggregations, which will run signals in their street clothes.

The teams to appear are Jackson, Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt grade schools, junior high middles, junior high varsity, Medford high future varsity and the Black Tornado varsity.

Coach Bill Bowerman of the Tigers said today that his players came through the Hood River 6 to 6 tie in excellent physical condition, with only two men receiving slight injuries. Barrow, the big tackle, suffered a bruise on his hip, and Louie Thurman, fullback, sustained a bruised back. Except for those two and Miller, end, who has a bad cold, and Monteith, end, suffering from a couple of boils, the Tornado is in fine shape for its first home clash of the 1938 season.

While little is known regarding the strength of Coach Jimmy Watts' Roseburg Indians, the Medford mentor expects a pretty tough ball game. The Indians employ a short punt formation from which is developed a wide open offense featuring passes of all varieties and descriptions. Roseburg is reputed to boast a fairly heavy aggregation.

In the Hood River game, Medford gathered 14 first downs to their opponents' three, two of which were on penalties, and gained 305 yards from running plays and passes, compared to a 40-yard total advance by Hood River from ground and aerial attack.

LONG VIGIL ENDS FOR BLEACHERITE

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (P)—The bleacherites are the hardest of all baseball fans and the peer of them all at the moment is Arthur "Happy" Felisch of Milwaukee.

He made plans to attend the world series at Wrigley field while a lot of people were looking over the seating arrangements at Forbes field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

At dawn today, on the first day of the Cubs-Yankees argument, the 81-year-old Felisch was first in line for a $1.10 bleacher seat. No one challenged his right to that place. A fellow who camps in front of a ticket booth for seven days and nights is entitled to some consideration.

The next four in line behind Felisch were Charles Hamilton, 31, a typesetter who took his position Thursday night, Edward Lawson, 40, Fred Lixin, 31, an accountant, and Walter Smith, 38, who deserted his barber chair.

Shortly after midnight today more than 2,000 others were bivouacked along the red brick walls of Cubs' park each intent on getting the choicer of the 8,000 hardwood seats in center field.

Chicago Gives Conquering Cubs Big Welcome

The pennant-winning Chicago Cubs had the keys to the city when they returned from St. Louis after capturing the National League flag in the tightest race the circuit has seen in 30 years. Thousands turned out to honor them during a triumphal march down LaSalle street. Manager Gabby Hartnett, who leads the team against the Yanks in the world series, is the fellow with arm outstretched in the front car.

Billy Hulen says:
Wrestling Fans Click Turnstile Merrily Again

The wrestling crowd got a chance to cheer Monday night, what with the armory being pretty well filled with customers. . . . It was a good program, too, but all - impo rtant was the fact that several hundred citizens decided to leave the warmth of their fireplaces and become mat fans again. . . . The increase in attendance over the previous two weeks is probably attributable to Mr. Pete Belcastro of Weed, Cal., a box office draw in anybody's grappling circuit.

Things were really coming to a sad state of affairs, with fewer and fewer fans entering the armory portals of a Monday eve . . . It wasn't that the bone-benders weren't doing their stuff satisfactorily, it was because the present crop were rather colorless workmen. . . . Pete is back again, so everything should be rosy from now on, and especially with ladies' night coming up next Monday. . . . Maestro Mack Lillard also has that Soxkey's Jack McDonald, another big drawing card, is due for another shot at the local arena soon. . . . With Belcastro and McDonald both here at the same time, nobody need worry about attendance. . . . The boys and gals both flock to see those two mat gladiators.

Five members of Southern Oregon conference grid teams last year are this season doing their blocking and tackling for Bill McKalp and his Oregon State college Rook outfit. . . . Bob Ettinger of Medford is vying for a halfback berth, Jack Weaver of Ashland is listed as a prospective center, Kenneth Pruitt of Grants Pass is trying for the fullback position, Hollis Conner of Grants Pass is a potential center and Don Bradley of Klamath Falls is still another center.

Others attempting to catch the eye of McKalp are Don Durden, the flashy halfback who performed for Bureka, Cal., high last year; Pesh Andrew, last season's best halfback; Fred McLain, who played half for Eugene against the Black Tornado last year; and Clarence Martin, tackle and Arlo Ordway, halfback, both from Hood River and who both saw action here last season against the Tigers.

Fred Zimmerman, Salem Cap-Hal-Journal sports editor, certainly takes a nasty crack at Prink Callison, former University of Oregon football mentor, in his Monday column of "Shits and Scratches." . . . Fred writes, "They (or probably "he" would be more correct), said he couldn't pass, he couldn't kick, he couldn't block, or for that matter he couldn't do anything a football player is supposed to do on the field. But Jimmy Nicholson did everything Saturday against UCLA."

Fred then goes on to describe the activities of Salem's pride and joy in the UCLA game, and winds up with, "If any person ever vindicated himself in the eyes of a football gathering, it was Jimmy Nicholson." And that, we hope, will be the final outburst from Salem regarding Jimmy Nicholson and his trials and tribulations at the University of Oregon while Callison was there. . . . whether Callison failed to give Jimmy a "square shake" we do not know, nor care, but there must have been something decidedly amiss between the two because the boy is plenty OK as a football player now, and he really didn't see much action in his soph and junior years. . . . Anyway, Prink is gone now and Jimmy is in the fold with Oliver, so Salem should be able to forget any actual or fancied slight toward their hero, and let it go at that.

MEMPHIS DOCTOR PHILLY MANAGER

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (P)—A dentist turned baseball manager will try to drill the lowly Phillies into pennant contenders during the next two years. He is Dr. James Thompson (Doc) Prothro of Memphis. He was signed to a two-year contract yesterday by Gerald Nugent, president of the Philadelphia National league team.

Prothro, former manager of Little Rock of the Southern Association, succeeds Jimmy Wilson, who resigned last Saturday after being at the Phillies' helm since 1934 when he replaced Bert Shotton.

Prothro practiced dentistry in 1921 and 1922 after a trial in the majors with the Washington Senators, then returned to baseball and has been associated with it ever since.

"O" Registration Gains
EUGENE, Oct. 3. (AP)—Monday registration brought the University of Oregon enrollment to 3283 students, an all-time high. Earl M. Pallett, registrar, said the figures were 197 more than the 1937 record, or a 6 1/2 per cent increase.

Shipping Mystery
ST. HELENS, Ore., Oct. 3. (AP)—Shipping officials pondered the mystery of the twin-screw, Italian freighter Lema's listing for a sandbar near the entrance to St. Helens channel in the Columbia river last night, after the ship grounded at the same spot for the second time in less than five months.

PIPPIEN, SACS AGE PITCHER, DRAFTED BY CONNIE MACK

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (P)—The "new deal" that Philadelphia's futile Phillies hope to swing under their new manager, Dr. James T. (Doc) Prothro, was off to a fine start today with the acquisition of Merrill May, Newark third baseman and generally declared the "prize" of the big league draft meeting.

May has been one of the standouts of the "wonder team" of Newark Bears that has moved down the test of the International league for the past two seasons. Since the Cubs bought Jimmy Gleason from the Bears some years ago, May has been the most talked of player, from a big league standpoint, in the International loop.

And the Phillies, notably President Gerry Nugent, stepped right in and picked him first crack out of the box at the annual draft meetings last night. May being a neat 233 with the Bears during the regular 1938 season, and is still in the process of playing the little world series against Kansas City.

Altogether, 17 players were drafted from the minors by 10 of the 16 big league clubs. Hal Spindel, Seattle catcher, goes to the St. Louis Browns.

Two well-liked veterans of the big leagues were brought back when the Washington Senators selected gallant Charley Gelbert, ex-St. Louis Cardinal infielder, from Toledo, and the Philadelphia Athletics picked Roy (Tarzan) Parmelee, former New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, from Minneapolis.

Parmelee was one of five picked by Connie Mack for the A's. The others were Pitcher Bill Beckman, who won 20 games for Atlanta, Henry Phippen, 17-game winner for Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league; Joe Gantner, Toronto third-sacker, and Bill Nagel, infielder and outfielder from Baltimore.

BOWLING

Piche Sports, with Roy Pruitt rolling a high single game of 224 and a three-game total of 607, took three out of four points from Bauer Lumber company in a Commercial league bowling match at the Medford alleys last night, and Union Oil took all four points from Mobil Oil in a City league clash. OLIVER WELCOMES MRS. THOMPSON IS CRITICISM; TOUGH BATTLES COMING AGAIN WINNER OF LADY GOLF TITLE

PORTLAND, Oct. 3. (P)—It's all-ence, not criticism, that worries Tex Oliver, head football coach at the University of Oregon.

"I'm more afraid of indifference than of criticism," the coach told the Rotary club. "Those who criticize at least are interested."

Oliver said he hadn't allowed himself to become too optimistic about the Webfoots' chances in the Pacific coast conference.

"We have only hit the soft part of our schedule," he remarked. "The tough games are still to come."

EUGENE, Oct. 3. (P)—With only one man on the bench from injuries, the University of Oregon Webfoots continued today a rigorous schedule of workouts for a game against Stanford at Palo Alto, October 15.

Hank Nilson, veteran quarterback, injured a knee against UCLA last Saturday. Every other man was in uniform, despite bruises.

CORVALLIS, Oct. 3. (P)—A silk hat—or a football helmet—capable of yielding a capable fullback was sought today by Coach Lon Stiner and his Oregon State college coaching staff.

Stiner has only Kenny Dow and Jim Keselburgh, both converted halfbacks badly needed for the wing posts, since Allan Christensen was declared ineligible and Ben Ell went out with a shoulder injury.

MRS. THOMPSON IS AGAIN WINNER OF LADY GOLF TITLE

Mrs. Bell Thompson yesterday became the first three-time winner of the woman's championship of the Rogue Valley Golf club, by defeating Mrs. Rose Bunch, 8 and 1, in the 36-hole final match. By her victory, Mrs. Thompson won permanent possession of the beautiful title trophy donated by the club.

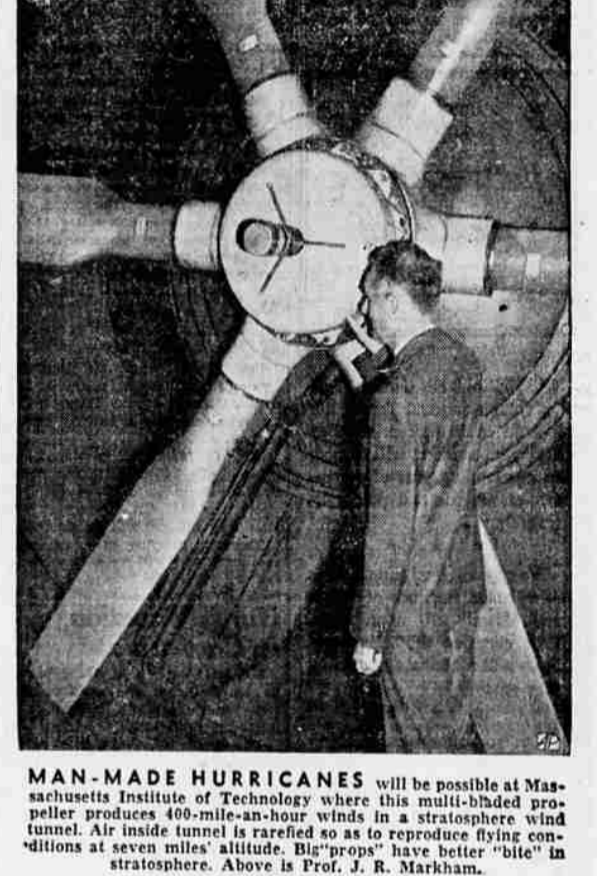

Although she was never behind throughout the three dozen holes, Mrs. Thompson was forced to play the game of her life to defeat her hard-fighting opponent. The winner had a four-up advantage at the end of the first nine holes, was one up at the end of the morning 18, increased her lead to four up at the turn of the afternoon round, and ended the match on the 35th hole.

Total medal scores of the two competitors reveal how evenly matched they were. Mrs. Thompson traveled the 35 holes in 177 strokes, while Mrs. Bunch negotiated the long route in 179 strokes.

In the 18-hole finals for the first flight championship, Mrs. Jerry Jerome defeated Mrs. Bob Watson, 2 up in a thrilling match.
