Parents Anticipate "Back to School" Occasion Tuesday

"Parents Back to School Night" will be an occasion which no parent who is interested in his child and his school is going to want to miss. Next Tuesday night, beginning at 8 p. m., the teachers of Junior High school, cooperating with the P-T-A, are throwing the school wide open and parents are going to shed a few years and be "school kids" once more.

"School" will operate on its regular schedule with the exception that the periods will be shorter and parents are to take the places of their children. They will meet their child's teachers. They may sit in their child's seat, see how his rooms look and where they are located.

Teachers will call their regular rolls and parents will answer "present" for his child's name. Parents will definitely not be asked to recite, but may ask the teacher as many questions as he likes.

There will be seven 10-minute periods. Half of the period will belong to the teacher when they will explain briefly the content, aims and methods of the course. The second half will belong to the parents for discussions and questions.

Following classes every one will return to the auditorium to join in a routing pep-assembly with Ray Henderson as pep leader. Then "lunches" will be served.

The teachers and committees are working hard to make this a big night for parents who can still remember (when talking to their children) how good they used to be in school.

Already several fathers have been appointed Bull Dog Guards and will be there, strutting Bull Dogs on their chests, to show the "parent-kids" the ropes.

About 600 families are represented in Junior HI, which in turn represents between 1000 and 1200 parents. Surely most of these parents will appreciate the efforts of a staff of hard-working teachers in staying on for an entire evening, so that parents may know what is being done for their boys and girls in their respective classes.

Every parent who is properly interested in his child and his school is going to save, if possible, next Tuesday night for "Parents Back to School Night" at Junior HI school.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the Canton P. M. will convene tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall.

All members are asked to attend the session as plans for the district convention, which will meet in Medford November 12, will be formulated.
