

Roseburg Squad, Like Tigers, Green but Tricky-Big Crowd to See

VISITORS PLAN TO DECEIVE TIGERS FIRST HOME GAME

Football Parade to Precede Game Friday Night at Senior High Field.

Power and deception, with accent on the latter, will be brought to Medford tomorrow night by Coach Jimmy Watts and his Roseburg high football machine.

The Indians clash with Bill Bowerman's Black Tornado at the stadium in the grand opening of the 1938 prep league season here with the initial kickoff slated for 8:10 sharp. All football teams in Medford, from the grade schools on up, will parade and run signal practice under the lights, starting at 7:30.

Like the Black Tornado, Roseburg this season is a green and inexperienced aggregation, but it showed flashes of real ability last week in its opening game with Reedsport, a 7 to 7 tie. Reports from the northern city indicate the Indians are ready now to bust loose with a dazzling exhibition of fancy ball handling and aerial tactics.

Big gun of the Roseburg outfit is George Sanders, triple threat left halfback. A hard runner and fine passer, Sanders sparked the Indians' 79-yard drive to a touchdown against Reedsport, bursting through the line for gains of 26, 15, 8 and 3 yards before lugging the ball into the end zone for the touchdown. He is expected to worry the Tigers plenty.

The Black Tornado, held to a 6 to 6 tie by Hood River last Friday, will race through its final practice session of the week today. Mentor Bowerman is tentatively planning only two lineup changes—John Saulsbury at full in place of Louie Thurman, who is suffering from a bruised back, and Alden Hibbert at tailback in place of Al Barrow, also bruised up considerably. However, the injured pair may be sufficiently recovered to open the game in their positions.

STATERS WORK ON AERIAL DEFENSE

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Pace defense against Portland University's dangerous hurler, Frank Maloney, occupied the Oregon State college football team today. The Beavers will play Portland Saturday.

Coach Lon Atner hoped for plenty of passes by Portland "because that is the only way our backs can learn pass defense."

ADMIRAL TO RACE SEABISCUIT, NOV. 1

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Seabiscuit and War Admiral will finally match strides November 1 at Pimlico—and a $5,000 forfeit says they will. Fifteen negotiations were concluded last night with Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt. They had gone on since Charles S. Howard decided his "Biscuit" was in no condition for the cancelled $100,000 Decoration Day match at Belmont.

Samuel D. Biddle, owner of War Admiral, signed the pact in New York for the mile and three-sixteenths race which will be worth $15,000 to the winner. Each horse will carry 120 pounds.

The Maryland Jockey club, of which Vanderbilt is vice-president, agreed to post $10,000 and each owner immediately put up $5,000. If either decides his horse is unfit the other will go on the track for a walk-over and collect $10,000—half from the forfeit and half from the club. Pimlico faithfuls thereby are assured of a look at a horse, if nothing more.

Closing time for Too Late to Classify Ads is 1:30 p. m.

Hack Out Trying to Steal Second in First

Stan Hack, third baseman of the Cubs, singled in the first inning of the opening series game at Wrigley field in Chicago, but he was out at second trying to steal, Dickey making a nice throw. Here he is going into the base, with Crossett taking the peg. The umpire is Sears.

Billy Hulen says:

Klamathites Get Important Test In Caveman Tilt

It won't be long now until we all know whether Snowy Gustafson's Klamath high Pelicans are actually the "wonder" team they have led us to believe after three overwhelming victories against not-so-hot opponents, or just another one of those football machines which look like world beaters against mediocre opposition but are brought down to earth when faced with tough going. . . . The big test for Snowy's current creation occurs tomorrow night, when Loren Tuttle shags his Grants Pass Cavemen over the Green Springs for a Southern Oregon conference clash with the Klamathites. If the Pelicans are a super-team, they will swamp Grants Pass under an avalanche of touchdowns. If the Pelicans are just another good club, they will win all right, but by not more than three touchdowns.

Klamath Falls has certainly proved that it has a certain offensive punch, but whether the Pelicans have locked grips with a good defense is a question that hasn't been answered. It is possible that Hill Military, Lakeview, and The Dalles all boasted good defensive teams, but it seems doubtful. If those teams did have strong defenses, then every prep football outfit in the state better forget about their title aspirations, because nothing can stop the Klamathites. However, it is our opinion that Gustafson's gang has yet to face a hard-tackling, stiff-backed forward wall, and that when it does it will receive something of a surprise.

It is true that Grants Pass hasn't showed much of anything to date, what with losing to North Bend, 0 to 7 and deadlocking Ashland, 0 to 0, but we have been informed by several close observers of the Caveman situation that one thing Tuttle has developed this season is a rock 'em and sock 'em defense. If such is true, Klamath Falls will be tested to the fullest, and we shall see what we shall see.

While Klamath Falls and Grants Pass are swinging from the floor in a game that really counts, Medford's Black Tornado and Roseburg square off here tomorrow night in a non-conference encounter. The battle will give local bugs their first look at the Tigers this season, and several thousand of them are expected to take advantage of the opportunity. The locals, after pushing Hood River all over the field in their opening game last Friday night, were able to cross that payoff stripe only once, and intensive offensive drills have been the order of the day this week as Bill Bowerman has sent his squad through its paces. The Tigers are a green team, but it appears that if they ever find themselves and start clicking there will be goes of touchdowns hung up.

Thank you, Ron Gemmill of the Salem Statesman for explaining why in thunder the Oregon Webfoot quarterback called for a line smash against UCLA with the ball on UCLA's 35-yard line, fourth down and seven yards to go.

If, as you say, it was because the head linesman failed to have the box bearer turn the box to fourth down, the Oregon signal caller had a legitimate excuse for pulling the freakish play. If the box read third down, it certainly wasn't the players' fault. What a mess there would have been though, had that occurrence developed an important bearing on the final outcome of the ball game, which, fortunately, it didn't.

SANTO PLAYS END IN CHENEY GAME

LINCOLN COLLEGE, McMinnville, Oct. 3.—Hubert Santo, a Medford product, playing end for Lincoln college, made a name for himself in the tilt with Cheney State last Saturday. The Cheney ball-toters found it a difficult task to skirt his end position without being brought to the ground by Santo's reliable arms.

ELOPEMENT MADE JOE GORDON; BEEN STAR EVER SINCE

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Joe Gordon is without doubt baseball's greatest walking advertisement for married life.

Whether or not his "taking the step" had anything to do with his work on the ball field isn't definitely known, but there's no denying the fact that from the day he eloped with his campus sweetheart, he changed from just another disappointing rookie to the classiest second baseman to come down the pike since Charley Gehring.

In case you haven't heard the statistical details, he's handling the key-stone sack assignment for the New York Yankees, baseball's No. 1 ball club. He's 24, up from the Coast league by way of Newark, can hit in the accepted theory of the Yanks—which is that you can't field a home run—and can field anything and everything in his general direction.

His single yesterday prolonged the Yank's winning rally in the series opener. He also clouted a double and turned in the fielding gem of the game full of classy fielding—taking a shot from Ripper Collins' bat with his back to the plate to rob the Ripper of a sure hit.

Gordon started out this season as Tony Lazzeri's official successor on the Yankee varsity, which was no mean job. His start was strictly poor. His fielding was acceptable, but every pitcher in the league fooled him on a high inside pitch. So Manager Joe McCarthy, who can't stand for such goings on, benched him.

For a while it looked like curtains for our hero. So one day, to while away the time, he eloped to Elkton, Md., with his campus sweetheart in his days at the University of Oregon. Some few days later the Yanks, trailing 2-1 in a ball game, nominated Joe for a pinch-hitting job with a mate on first base in the ninth inning. The rival pitcher served up a high inside pitch, and Gordon parked it among the paying customers in the left field stand.

They put him back in the lineup next day, and from that day until he retires to tell the children about it, they won't get him out of there without an earthquake.

PRO GRID OWNER RAPS SERIES—THEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—George P. Marshall—owner of the professional football champions of the world, the Redskins—took a free kick today at baseball and its world series.

"We might as well be plain about it," he said, "and face the facts. Baseball has too long a season and, like last spring's drive, is out of style when fall comes around. They ought to close the season two weeks earlier."

Interest in baseball, he added, except in New York and Chicago, died out long ago.

So saying, Owner Marshall picked up the telephone and barked out an order.

"Find out," he said, "what the score is."

"Score of what?" asked an office operator.

"The world series."

TEXAS CHRISTIANS, N. CAROLINA, PITT LEAD GRID TEAM

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—(UP)—North Carolina, Pittsburgh and Texas Christian lead the nation's 169 major football teams in the first two weeks of the season in ratings revealed by Duke Houlgate, veteran Pacific coast statistician.

Houlgate placed the three, undefeated and untied, in a deadlock for first with 14 points each. California, Minnesota, Oregon and Tennessee were tied in the second bracket with 13. A point lower came Duke, Georgia and Navy.

Other outstanding teams were Idaho, 15th, 9 points; Alabama 14th, 8 points; Army, 21st, Columbia 23rd, Northwestern 29th, Notre Dame 30th, Ohio State 31st, and Santa Clara 34th, all with 7 points.

Under Houlgate's system each team is given points for a victory, the number being determined by the strength of the opponent. Thus, Santa Clara and Notre Dame are not on top because they have met only one team.

Other Pacific coast colleges were San Francisco 39th, UCLA 41st, San Francisco 42nd, USC 47th, Montana 49th, Washington 53th, Loyola of Los Angeles 51st, Arizona 88th, Stanford 100th, Washington State 108th, and Oregon State 109th.

LADIES NIGHT AT ARMORY MONDAY

It's ladies night at the Medford armory next Monday, and Promoter Mack Lillard has lined up a wrestling card expected to be one of the finest to be presented here in the past several months.

All ladies will be admitted free to the all-star mat festival, provided they are accompanied by one other person, either man or woman, who purchases a reserved seat or balcony ticket. In other words, for every paid admission, there will be a free lady ticket given.

Topping the card will be Pete Belcastro, Weed's Mad Italian, and Paul Murdock, the thunderbolting Alabaman. They clash in the one-hour main squabble, and Belcastro is expected to be hard put to defeat his clean wrestling opponent.

A clean-grappling newcomer to these parts—Leo Karlinko of Russia—will appear in the center attraction, tangling with the scientific minded Buddy Knox of Mississippi. Karlinko is considered one of the industry's better boys.

Tough little Charley Carr faces Monte LeDuc, the bald-headed Frenchman, in the opener, slated for six 10-minute rounds. LeDuc, no gentleman, will be returning after some time spent in other parts of the country.

Closing time for Too Late to Classify Ads is 1:30 p. m.

CANDID CAMERA "SHOOTS" SECRET WHISKEY SURVEY

Shows how 1,000 men made trial—and (average opinion) rated Old Quaker worth FAR MORE* than actual selling price

● Inquiring reporters went last month to 1,000 men—in all walks of life—living in various parts of the nation. The object was to get 1,000 men's opinions regarding Old Quaker, new 3 years old. RESULT: The average net opinion of these 1,000 men was this: 3-year Old Quaker rivals many fine whiskeys that are much more expensive! And specifically—3-year Old Quaker is worth 69.8% MORE per quart than its actual selling price.

We make the claim: Old Quaker at 3 years old has reached its Golden Age. Mature on every count—due to our special methods—aging under scientifically controlled summer temperature and 81-times checked from grain to glass.

If what 1,000 men have said is true, we predict every man who enjoys good whiskey will want to try Old Quaker 3-year old. For in these men's opinion it offers you a clear-cut saving on liquor bills. It's now on sale. Try it—then we'll be grateful to hear your frank opinion.

*Average price exactly 69.8% more a quart.
