TRAILER BURNED, MOTHER OF FOUR IN NEED OF HELP

The family was living in a trailer-house on McAndrews road opposite Peppy street. While the mother and her brood were at a neighbor's home Friday afternoon the trailer-house caught fire. The fire department's chemical crew raced to the blaze but the trailer was too far gone to be saved. Everything the family possessed was destroyed excepting what was on their backs. Origin of the fire was not determined.

Chief Roy Elliott notified relief agencies and the relief committee arranged for accommodations at the auto camp. The chief conveyed the family to their temporary home.

Fechner said the new program provided for the opening of five new camps, the reestablishment of seven former camps, and the closing of 10 existing camps.

Of the 58 camps to be operated the next six months, 17 will be on national forest land, two on state and seven on private forest land, three on land under the jurisdiction of the biological survey, four on soil conservation projects, nine under reclamation projects, nine under the technical supervision of the division of grazing, three on public domain under the jurisdiction of the general land office, one at Oregon caves national monument, and five on state park land.

These conferences revivited the Palestine problem to partition the Holy Land between Arab and British mandated domains.

The Jew foreign minister, it was understood, yesterday proposed at a conference with MacMichael and Sir Harold MacMichael that would prohibit more Jews from entering Palestine.

The Jew agency for Palestine responded to reports of this proposal with the statement "the Jewish people reject any solution which would condemn them to a minority status in Palestine."
