

BOY FARMER WHO MAKES IT PAY IS NATIONAL CHAMP

Virginian Operates Place Once Owned by George Washington — Showed $3200 Profit Last Year

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Hunter Roy Greenlaw, 21, Falmouth, Va., who operates a 435-acre farm once owned by George Washington, was proclaimed star farmer of America for 1938 today at the American Royal Livestock and Horse show.

Announcement of the award was made from the floor of the show. With the title goes a $500 cash prize and designation as peer of the 171,000 Future Farmers of America, whose national convention is held in conjunction with the stock show.

Five Years at Helm. Young Greenlaw took over management of the bottomlands farm, near the spot where tradition says Washington threw a silver dollar across the Rappahannock river, at the death of his father five years ago.

Cash income from the 435 acres, owned by his uncle, the year before young Greenlaw took charge was but $115. Last year, his first out of high school, he had a profit of $3200.

Greenlaw's records show he has a net investment of $5000 and that he started in 1934 with an inheritance of farm machinery and livestock valued at $1000.

In 10 months recently he reported net earnings of $1855 on sales of milk, grain and hay with approximately $900 of grain still unsold. He raises feed for 600 chickens owned by his mother.

Rotates Crops. Greenlaw practices crop rotation in five-year cycles and raises pigs, dairy cows, horses and mules.

For the past two years he had devoted himself to the farm's management and to the livestock, hiring men to do the work of planting and harvesting the corn, wheat, barley, rye, soybeans and clover.

Although his farm and PWA work took much of his time in high school he was an all-round athlete and honor student.

The three judges who determined Greenlaw's superiority were: Dr. George F. Zook, president of the American council on education; Sherman E. Johnson, of the department of agriculture in Washington and S. G. McAllister, president of the International Harvester company.

Letter From New Citizen Made Exhibit at C. of C.

Each time a class of candidates is given the vows of American citizenship in U. S. district court here, the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce sends to each new naturalized citizen a letter expressing congratulations and compliments upon completing the requirements for passing the examinations.

That the chamber's letters are appreciated and strike a sympathetic note is evidenced by the expressions of thankfulness received in reply from one of the candidates in the class recently naturalized here that by order of Eugene Thorndike chamber president, it has been framed and hung on a wall at the chamber of commerce.

The letter was received from Jordan P. Theodoroff of Grants Pass. The penmanship is so nearly perfect that it appears to have been done by mechanical means. Done in the style of printing, it is considered a splendid example of the fine art of penmanship.

The letter, addressed to Mr. Thorndike, follows: "Dear Sir: "It was very kind of you indeed to send me that letter of Oct. 5 and congratulate my becoming a naturalized citizen of the United States and I wish to express my sincere appreciation. It reflects so nicely on your Chamber of Commerce, whose president you are and on the City of Medford as well. It displays the encouraging attitude of the people of this community holds toward a foreign-born. It was my long dream to become a citizen of this great country and now, when that dream came true, I feel more than happy.

"I wish to extend my thanks to all good people in the court house as well as any other place, who helped with direction, cooperation and advice and made me able to fit for the tests and requirements I had to meet. On my part I will strive more than ever before to work for the good of this country and be worthy of the citizenship bestowed on me."
