SAULSBERRY OUT OF FRIDAY GAME WITH LEG INJURY

More Trouble Befalls Crippled Tigers On Eve of Crucial Clash—Additional Bleacher Seats Are Set

Pelican Star Out

KLAMATH FALLS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A hip injury to Bob Anacker, suffered in scrimmaging with the junior varsity probably will keep the fleet Pelican left half-back from Friday night's Klamath Falls-Medford game for the southern Oregon football conference championship, Klamath Coach Snowy Gustafson reported today.

Another blow was dealt Medford high's Black Tornado football team yesterday when John Saulsberry, second-string fullback, was declared definitely out of the Klamath Falls game here tomorrow night, increasing the hospital list to four.

Saulsberry, transfer from Jacksonville high and a hard-running back, was ordered by his physician to sit on the sidelines when it was discovered that a leg injury, sustained two weeks ago in practice, was more serious than at first diagnosed.

The coach also revealed that John Childers, 160-pound senior who saw some action last season, would start at the right guard position.

While no definite starting lineup has been received from Klamath Falls, it was expected that the following would open for the Pelicans: River and Haron, ends; Saulsberry and Mayfield, tackles; Hibbard and Webber, guards; Sarver, center; Angus, quarterback; Anderson and Ancker, halfbacks; and Mayhew, fullback.

Arrange More Seats. As it became apparent yesterday that probably the largest crowd in Medford high history would witness the game, nearly 6,000 fans are expected. Principal C. O. Smith contacted the Southern Oregon Normal school in Ashland and arranged to borrow that school's temporary bleachers.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—A sinus condition which forced a week's postponement of his bout with Champion John Henry Lewis added today to the woes of Al Gainer, dusky New Haven challenger for the light heavyweight title.

HUTCHENS NAMED BEAVER CAPTAIN

CORVALLIS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Pre-coach Hutchens, veteran right guard, was named acting captain of the Oregon State college football team today as the Beavers went through intensive passing practice for Saturday's game with Washington State at Portland.

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Overtime sessions were in vogue on the Washington State college football field this week as Coach Orin (Babe) Hollibaugh drove his claret Cougars in an effort to produce a winning spark.

Billy Hulen says:
No Pressure for Klamath to Date; Lots for Tigers

There are so many angles to this Medford-Klamath Falls football "gigantic" here Friday night that a guy could very easily go nuts trying to figure out a sound and sensible theory upon which to base any predictions he might wish to make.

For instance, the high-power Pelicans are not tabbed as a forward passing outfit, but strictly a terra firma aggregation. But, who knows but what Snowy Gustafson has ordered his club to lay off the aerials until the Medford game? It is possible that Klamath Falls actually boasts a fine air attack, which it hasn't revealed in swamping five opponents.

It is also the general opinion that the Pelicans haven't yet been tested, that they have accumulated their 195 points against anaemic opponents who couldn't halt an end run with a machine gun. However, it is possible that Ashland, Grants Pass, Hill Military and The Dalles are far stronger than their scores against Klamath Falls would indicate.

One thing is certain regarding that Klamath team—it can score touchdowns. Whether they have been talked against weak or strong opponents doesn't alter the fact that the Pelicans possess a distinct offensive threat. When a grid machine can manufacture points like Klamath has been doing, it has more than a prayer, regardless of the opposition strength.

One of this writer's favorite angles on the coming game, an angle that has plagued him even in his dreams, is his supposition, whether right or wrong, that Klamath Falls really hasn't yet been under pressure, while the Tigers haven't been under anything else but. We are convinced that the Pelicans have been riding roughshod over pitifully outclassed opponents, and that the Tigers have had to battle tooth and nail for every yard they've gained, with the possible exception of the Roseburg tilt.

Klamath Falls. In our opinion, doesn't know what it feels like to be smacked until it hurts. The Pelicans haven't come up to this game the hard way, through rock 'em and sock 'em opposition that smashes for keeps. They have had an easy time of it, whereas the Black Tornado has been tested before the fires of competition of the toughest variety. Medford's 6 to 6 tie with Hood River wasn't a pink tea party, and the 6 to 14 defeat at Eureka was, in Coach Bowerman's own words, the most savagely-fought prep game he ever saw.

Assuming that such is the case, that Klamath Falls has been winging along dizzily through mediocre opposition while Medford has been forced to literally give its all in at least two ball games, what, then will be the general effect when the two clubs collide in a game that can't be anything else but downright vicious?

At the risk of seeming to delve too deeply into the psychological aspects of the encounter, which is always dangerous business and which job we will leave to the football-brain-trusters, the answer would seem to be that Klamath Falls, being really blasted for the first time this season, might become slightly bewildered as the heat began to scorch, while Medford, used to that sort of thing because of past experiences, would know what its all about and not be tossed out of stride.

So much for this pet angle, or theory, of ours. What the final answer is, only the game, itself, can tell. As before stated, Klamath Falls may be every bit as good as the scores would seem to indicate. Perhaps the Pelicans' five opponents to date have not been the weak sisters we believe they are. In that case, there is apparently little hope for the Medfords.

RETURN OF SOCKEYE RELEGATES PETE TO LOWER SPOT ON CARD

It has been a long time since Pete Belcastro wrestled in Medford under the top spot, but such will be the case next Monday night on another ladies' night all-star program in the armory. The Mad Italian, because of his defeat at the hands of Paul McDook last Monday, must be content to face Buddy Knox in the middle bout, while McDook is clashing in the main event with Sockeye Jack McDonald, returning here after a month's absence.

Rounding out the card, expected to draw a capacity crowd, will be Monte LaDue, villainous Frenchman, and Frankie Schroll, 198-pound cleanie who has been working in the east since appearing here about four years ago.

McDonald's homecoming figures to be far from a pleasant party for the popular ex-Seaside logger. McDook has yet to lose a wrestling match in Medford, and his two straight wins over Belcastro have been extremely convincing. He is strictly a cleanie, employing legitimate grappling holds to do his stuff, while Sockeye is prone to rely on a certain amount of rough tactics.

DiMaggio Will Quit Role As Baseball Holdout Kid

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, one of Colonel Jake Ruppert's wayward Yankees at the first of the 1938 season, confided in the home folks today—"I'm through being the holdout kid."

Back in San Francisco at picturesque Fishermen's Wharf, Joe talked with the humble fishermen who were his companions before he deserted the nets for baseball and who, next to Mamma and Papa DiMaggio, are his greatest boosters.

"Yeh," said Joe, "that's right. I'm through being the holdout kid. I expect to be among the first in camp next spring and I'm gonna get myself in shape so that I can't miss having a good season." Joe thought he didn't have a very good season. But he didn't blame his holdout act and lack of spring training. It was rain, he said, not his demand for $40,000 and final signing for $25,000 after the start of the season.

"To begin with I was going good," Joe explained. "But then we ran into a lot of rain. After that I couldn't get going again for a couple of months."

But when he did get going, Joe did all right. He batted at a .324 clip for the season, drove in 139 runs and whacked out 32 homers, not counting the ball he put out of the park in the world series.

"That homer I hit in the series off Dizzy Dean was the hardest ball I ever hit," said Joe.

STANFORD ON SHORT END AGAINST TROJAN

PALO ALTO, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Their ranks riddled by injuries, the Stanford Indians learned today they were on the short end of the betting odds for their game with the University of Southern California Saturday.

Coach Tiny Thornhill, when told the Trojans were favored 2½ to 1, merely smiled: "That's fine. Now the boys will be in there battling."
