STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HIX

Music Maestro

Easter morning in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, is greeted by the music of one of America's strangest bands—that directed by B. J. Pfohl.

The odd story of this organization began 175 years ago when a small handful of Moravian settlers hailed the Easter sun with German hymns brought from the old country.

Since then, the ceremony has become traditional; each year old and new members of the band greet Easter morn with music. A member of this organization for 59 years, B. J. Pfohl has for the past 49 years been its director and guiding light.

Pfohl has brought more than 4,000 persons into the band, now one of the largest such organizations in this country in point of membership. He divides the members into groups, which tour Winston-Salem by bus on Easter morn, playing as they go.

Most of the musicians, young and old, were trained by Pfohl himself.

Sure-Footed Chamois

"Standing room only" signs do not bother the graceful chamois of Europes' Alps. Strange as it seems, they can stand on space no larger than a silver dollar.

During feeding time, one chamois stands guard in some prominent place to warn the others of the approach of danger. Often they are seen poised strangely, with all four feet brought together as in the illustration above.

Jacksonville

BIG APPLEGATE, Oct. 21.—(Spl.) Miss Genevieve Herriott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Herriott, and George Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brown, both of lower Applegate, were united in marriage by Justice of the Peace Ray Coleman, at Jacksonville Saturday. The newly weds have returned from a brief honeymoon to coast points, and will make their home here. Both have many friends who wish them success.

Miss Frances Dawson, sixth grade pupil of the Watkins school, received a fractured arm Monday, when she fell as she was going home from school.

Miss Austie Barron, well known stock owner of Ashland, purchased 107 head of steers from local cattle men, including Lance and Leon Offenbacher, Clarence Buck, Cliff Smith and Edward Kubli. The cattle were delivered Wednesday, and put on pasture at Phoenix.

Mrs. Lester Balderstone and Mrs. Audrey Crenshaw were enrolled as new members of the Applegate extension unit at the regular meeting Wednesday, when local leaders presented a project on simple desserts. Mrs. Fred Offenbacher, vice chairman presided during the day. Mrs. Sarah (Ma) Wilcox attended as a guest. The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 2nd, when local leaders will give the project, "Cook Goes Out." Mrs. Tom Mee and Mrs. Audrey Crenshaw have been appointed as leaders for this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Tex Reardon, residents of Middle Fork, are the parents of an eight and one-half pound girl born Sunday, October 16, at Sacred Heart hospital.

Ed Pease of this community, is having some difficulty in convincing his friends here that it is not he who gets nostalgia, goes trap shooting and hails from the sticks, as was stated on the front page of this paper a few days ago. The subject of that write-up was Ed W. Pease of Medford, and it is not the first time the two gentlemen have caused conflicts. When they have each other's bills to pay, and get their suitcases confused, that is worse than getting in the paper, the local Mr. Pease thinks.

Upper Applegate grange, noted for its varied accomplishments in three years of existence, will celebrate its third anniversary Saturday, Oct. 22. The evening will open with a pot luck dinner, followed with a program by pupils of Miss Dorris Work of Beaver creek school.

Among local hunters reporting luck during the last week were Gene Hansen, Tom Mee, Hugh Brown, and Lee Port Jr., of Medford.

Edward Kubli left by train Wednesday evening on a short business trip to Portland.

An interesting glimpse of school activities is contained in the October issue of "The Applegater," newspaper issued every month by the Applegate school. The editorial staff includes Beulah Balderstone, editor-in-chief; Jeanne Brown, news editor; Wallace Crenshaw, feature editor; Carolyn Benedict, art editor; Robert Wallis and Beverly Mee, assistant editors. Business staff: Silas Davis, circulation manager; Norman Kubli, advertising manager. Printing staff: Dorothy Wilcoxen, Silas Davis, Georgia Benedict, Bobby Wallis. Advisors: Mrs. Leora Pease, Mrs. Bertha Haskins. Student body officers for the upper grade room include James Rose, president; Donald O'Brien, vice president; Stella Franzen, secretary; Beverly Mee, treasurer; Jeanne Brown, librarian; Carolyn Benedict, pianist; Norman Kubli and Wallace Crenshaw, patrol boys. "The Applegater" carried a bit of community news, as well as school news, and includes biographical sketches of the students, and a serial adventure story by Donald O'Brien.

Harold Reed is employed at the Jacksonville meat market for a few days during the absence of Tom Dunnington, the proprietor, who is on a hunting trip to eastern Oregon.

Upper Applegate residents have expressed their appreciation of the work of the county grader on the roads in this section during the last week.

Chester Lind, junior in the Medford high school, transferred to Jacksonville school this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Narlin are the proud parents of a blue-eyed baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Ullery Todd and son Donald were among those at Derby last Friday night.

George Snow and Larry Chambers have been early callers at the teacherage this week. They are becoming experts on watch repairing.

Eunice Johnson was on the sick list October 17. Glad she is back in school.

Mrs. Wm. Burg called on Mrs. Gustin Monday morning, October 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hill of California motored in last night to visit Mr. Hill's parents, Carrie and Frank.

A new club is being organized in our school. To belong to this club one has to have an untidy desk. The name of the club has been suggested as "The Indifferent Skookums."

The ladies are planning a ghost story contest for the next meeting.

Derby school paper, "The Ranger's Lines," is being printed this week. The staff has been very busy but hopes to have included the real school spirit and enthusiasm. Continued stories and baseball scores are not in this number but will be a feature after the holidays.

Thompson Creek

THOMPSON CREEK, Oct. 20.—(Spl.)—Charles Elmore left October will find dirretaoshrdluet shrdlua for turkey grading. Turkey raisers will find different rules this year, it is reported.

Joe Mason, Sr., has sold his place to Mr. Milburn of Klamath Falls. Mr. Mason and family will visit this winter with their daughters in California. They will be greatly missed in the neighborhood.
