

FIRE CREWS BUSY ON FOUR FRONTS OF ROGUE FOREST

Blaze, Flares Near Medford Water Source — All Are Reported Under Control — Danger Still Present

Fire-fighting crews were busy on four fronts of the Rogue River national forest today as a series of post-season fires centered attention on the hazards still existing in the timbered areas of southern Oregon and northern California. Lack of rain and strong winds have combined to extend the danger season late into the autumn.

Ten OCC men from Camp South Fork this afternoon were mopping up a two-acre fire that occurred yesterday afternoon within a quarter mile of Big Butte springs, source of Medford's water supply. The blaze was discovered by Ranger Paul Brinson when he scouted Rutler peak for a general survey.

Brinson quickly summoned the men from camp and hastened to the scene himself to take charge. The fire was in a bad place, a logged-off area that was dotted with snags. A light rain last night aided the fire-fighters. The blaze was brought under control and the men returned to camp late last night. They returned this morning to mop up.

Covers 20 Acres
The fire reported yesterday afternoon over the California line between Perk's pasture and Dutchman peak was brought under control last night but the crew was held on the fire lines all night and today to mop up. Twenty men from Camp Applegate were on the fire lines under Albert Young, protective assistant at the Star ranger station. Lee Port, Applegate district ranger, went to the scene last night and was remaining there today.

The fire covered 20 to 25 acres of brush and timber, headquarters here reported. Cause was undetermined. A strong wind that made the fire potentially dangerous yesterday afternoon subsided last night. There was still danger the fire would whip out of control should the wind blow up again this afternoon.

Public Counseled
Guards this afternoon were looking for a fire reported in the Hyatt lake country by hunters yesterday afternoon. A search yesterday failed to reveal the blaze but today it was ascertained that the hunters were confused in the directions they gave. The guards this afternoon were looking for the fire in the vicinity of Chinquapin mountain. After the report was received yesterday a lookout was posted on Old Baldy. Lookouts had been recalled from all districts excepting the Applegate.

Fire-fighters today were still mopping up the fire that occurred last Saturday near Dead Indian Soda Springs.

Forest fires so late in the year are unusual, though in the past they have occurred occasionally as late as November. The public was counseled

Coming With Ballet Troup

Merle Williams, above, is one of many lovely girls who will appear with the San Francisco Opera Ballet when it comes to Medford November 10 under the sponsorship of the Southern Oregon Concert Association. The ballet will be first of a series of three concerts to be staged in the Holly theatre under the concert association sponsorship.

MRS. BURCH DIES AT MIDWAY HOME

Mrs. Emma Burch, southern Oregon pioneer, died this morning in her farm home off the Midway road north of Medford. She was 95 years old.

Mrs. Burch was born in Virginia on March 10, 1843. She came to southern Oregon in the fall of 1888. Her husband, Daniel F. Burch, died in 1914.

Mrs. Burch is survived by two sons, William F. and Charles C., both of Lakeview, ten grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were being made this afternoon by the Peril funeral home.

FAREWELL DINNER FOR ALENDERFER

A farewell dinner for O. O. Alenderfer will be given by the Crater club in the Hotel Medford basement dining room at 6:30 Monday. Mr. Alenderfer, Big Eruption or chief executive of the club, plans to leave Tuesday morning for Brookings where he will enter business.

It will be a typical Crater club party, officers said in asking all members to keep Monday evening open for the event. Mr. Alenderfer has been identified with the club since its inception. He is a former mayor of Medford and has been active in civic and fraternal affairs during his long residence here.

SPRAGUE AGAINST RUM LAW CHANGE

ASTORIA, Oct. 27.—(P)—Charles A. Sprague, Republican nominee for governor, told party workers here last night he was not in favor of amending the Knox liquor control act.

Pair but firm enforcement of the existing law suits me," he asserted. The candidate complimented Clatsop county for efforts to convert logged-off land into grazing areas to support the dairy industry, adding that the state needed "long-range" programs to restore logged-off land to the tax rolls.

BENJ. M. COLLINS HERE TO ATTEND PERNOLL FUNERAL

Among the many old time friends of the late John W. Pernoll of Applegate, here to attend his funeral today, is Benjamin M. Collins of Salem, former Medford city recorder and police judge from 1906 to 1916, and a civic and business leader of this city during its earlier days. Here with Mr. Collins are his wife and daughter, Grace Collins Bradshaw of Corvallis. They plan to leave for home tomorrow morning.

Mr. Collins, who still thinks "Medford is the finest city in which to live," was reminiscent today of how he taught school in the Applegate district for eight months 23 years ago, when county school teachers were not accorded the respect and dignity they are nowadays. It was shortly after that experience that he was appointed city recorder and police judge, and in 1910 he moved from Medford to Jacksonville, where for five and one-half years he was manager of that branch of the Farmers and Fruitgrowers bank.

Mr. Collins, with his family, has lived in Salem for the past 12 years, where he is general manager of the W. W. Rosebraugh company, makers of Warmair furnaces. He has many old friends here who have been delighted to see him, although the circumstances of his visit are sorrowful. He has made several visits here in the past, but this is the longest. Friends here of Mr. Collins' son, Fred, will be glad to learn that he is company representative of the Texaco Oil company for Idaho, northeastern Washington and northern Oregon.

Mr. Collins was one of Mr. Pernoll's closest and warmest friends. Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Pernoll are first cousins, having been reared together in Illinois.

RECORD DELIVERY OF CHICAGO EGGS

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(P)—Deliveries against Chicago mercantile exchange egg futures contracts set a new single day record today as 3,360,000 dozens, 280 carlots, were tendered on October refrigerator contracts.

Based on Wednesday's close the supply delivered had a monetary value exceeding $810,000. The previous record egg delivery day was in November, 1927, when 2,604,000 dozens were traded.

The record tenders, observers said, were influenced by the present slack movement of reserve supplies and hedgers' inability to shift their positions due to the persistency of October on a premium basis.

Fishermen Safe
SEATTLE, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The San Juan Fishing and Packing company, Seattle, was advised today three of its purse seiners, unreported at Ketchikan, Alaska, had weathered a Gulf of Alaska storm and were proceeding to Seattle.

PASSERBY FOILS ESCAPE ATTEMPT

McMINNVILLE, Oct. 27.—(P)—A passerby who heard a scraping on the bars of a cell window halted Mel Dolron's half-finished attempt to saw his way out of the Yamhill county jail early today.

When Sheriff G. W. Manning entered the cell only the shred of a single bar separated the prisoner from freedom. He had fashioned a crude knife with a file, razor blade and stick of wood.

Dolron, awaiting sentence of a larceny charge, was placed in solitary confinement.

Stated Communication of Reames Chapter, Thursday evening, October 27th at 8 o'clock. Dinner will be served for all Eastern Star members at 6:30 by Oct. and Nov. Social committees. Past Matrons and Past Patrons will be honor guests.

EX-PREMIER OF RUTHENIA HELD

PRAGUE, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Andrew

Brody, who resigned yesterday as premier of the autonomous government of Ruthenia, tonight was arrested on a charge of treason. Police said he had been charged by the central parliamentary committee of the national government of negotiating with Hungary for the secession of Ruthenia from the Czechoslovak republic. Brody, first head of the newly formed Ruthenian regime, stepped down because of disension with other members of that government and was replaced by Monsignor Augustin Valostin. Closing time for Too Late to Classify Ads is 1:30 p. m.

Its low price is welcome of course — but that's not why we stick to Airway

Satisfying flavor... glorious freshness! Those are the things that keep Airway's loyal friends coming back day after day, year after year.

They prefer Airway's smooth, aristocratic flavor because it comes from choice, mellow-mild coffees... skillfully blended... correctly roasted. And they're sure of Airway's freshness because the rich brown beans are rushed straight from roasting oven to the grocer's counter... and ground only when the coffee is bought!

And thanks to daily roasting, fast delivery, and thrifty packaging Airway can keep its price amazingly low! Join the thousands who say there's no coffee like it! Give this popular blend a trial in your own kitchen. We'd like to prove that Airway's a smart buy for three reasons: economy, flavor, and freshness! Your money back... if you don't agree!

It's Time To TALK TURKEY

The Turkeys produced in the state of Oregon are recognized in all American markets as among the very finest in the land. The grower, of course, does his full share in producing a fine product. Commission men and buyers who do not take proper care of the dressed turkeys are no asset to the industry, and anyone who packs turkeys without first thoroughly pre-cooling them is really a detriment to the producers, consumers, the legitimate dealers and the turkey industry generally.

It is a matter of record and common knowledge that practically every year large quantities of Oregon turkeys turn green and spoil right in their containers causing heavy losses and injuring the reputation of Oregon turkeys. And now, we will tell you the reasons why: You cannot dress turkeys today; pack them tomorrow, and expect them to keep many days, unless they are properly cooled—and such cooling cannot be done by just hanging them up overnight, unless the weather is cold enough to bring the turkeys down to an internal temperature of 36 to 40 degrees, depending on how long these turkeys have to be kept in fresh condition.

Anyone who packs these turkeys without sufficient and proper cooling should not be permitted by the producers themselves to handle a single turkey.

We ask you to realize that turkeys packed, let us say, between the fifth and fifteenth of November must be handled so carefully and cooled so thoroughly that, first, they will never be frozen, and second, that they will be sound and sweet and in fine condition on somebody's table on Thanksgiving Day; this is all the way from ten to twenty days after they are dressed. You cannot do that by just hanging them up overnight, hoping that they will cool out.

This concern has now provided proper facilities for dressing and for immediate cooling after dressing. We have one of the finest and largest outlets in the United States, through Bennett & Layton, Inc., of San Francisco. We shall do our best to pay you top cash prices under prevailing market conditions. We feel that we deserve the handling of your turkeys, both in your interests, in the interest of the community where these turkeys are produced, in the interest of the turkey industry generally, and in the interest of the consumer who is entitled to turkeys in sound condition. We ask that you call, phone, or write to us.
