Tyler Promoted—Capt. Grover Tyler, veteran west coast United Air Lines pilot, today assumed new duties as assistant superintendent of flight operations on the company's western division. He will be stationed in Seattle, Wash. He will have supervision over pilots, dispatchers and meteorologists in this area. Starting his long career in west coast airline service in 1926, Capt. Tyler has almost 2,000,000 miles of flying to his credit. He is well known here, having been a pilot until last week on the Seattle-Medford-Oakland run. In the early days of the service he resided here, Medford then being the "breaking" point in the schedules between Oakland and Seattle, pilots from the south being relieved here by new crews which took the planes northward. In his span of service he has seen the industry develop from the small mail planes of 1926 to the giant luxury transports of today. Capt. Tyler will continue to call at Medford as in his new position he will make periodic flights over the line in checking pilots.

John Barrymore as Politician

Shades of the Texas primaries in spite of the unorthodox methods of the recent democratic nominee, he could still learn a lot from the voting methods of John Barrymore, the co-ed kissing governor of "Hold That Co-Ed," opening a three-day run Sunday at the Craterian theater. With George Murphy and Marjorie Weaver supplying the romance and Joan (Lumber-Logs) Davis, Jack Haley, George Barbier, Ruth Terry and Johnny Downs supplying much of the fun.
Hilarity is mixed with five new song hits in what has become known as the screwiest football story ever screened.

Mrs. Wiley Post Leaves for Home

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Wiley Post sailed on the Northland today for Seattle after a summer in which she visited a memorial raised near Barrow for her husband and Will Rogers, air crash victims three years ago. She said she was going directly to Lubbock, Tex. She flew several thousand miles during the summer.
Joe Croason, noted Alaska pilot and friend, also sailed.

Green-Yolks Eggs
TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Walter Laundon can make his hens lay yellow, red or green yolks in their eggs. Shorting a hen on her grain ration and feeding her green vegetables makes the yolks green. An abundance of carrots in the diet makes yolks more yellow than they should be. Red yolks come from diets of chemically treated grains.
