

John Barrymore Has Political Comedy Role In, "Hold That Co-ed"

GRIDIRON ANTICS AID GOVERNOR IN HECTIC CAMPAIGN

The new American fashion in medicine-show electioneering methods comes in for some uproarious ribbing in the football comedy, "Hold That Co-ed," which opens today at the Craterian theater. With John Barrymore as a budget-bouncing, co-ed-kissing governor, who parks his bandwagon on the campus and proceeds to make things hum.

Half satire, half farce, and all fun, the picture proceeds merrily on the theory that if circus antics can win votes (as they seem to be doing nowadays), then a winning college football team could accomplish miracles at the polls for any political candidate clever enough to turn it to his own personal glory.

John Barrymore is cast as the demagogic governor.

For romance, George Murphy and Marjorie Weaver prove to be a personable pair. Joan Davis plays the world's only female fullback and she, too, has her romance, with none other than pop-eyed Jack Haley.

For those who take their football seriously, there are many exciting gridiron sequences in the sensational manner. But the serious grid fans are expected to join with everyone else in enjoying the hilarious humor in which Joan wins the big game.

Five new swing hits highlight the picture. These are "All American Swing," "Hold That Co-ed," "Here Am I Doing It," "Heads High" and "Limp Dimp."

Return Showing of Two Popular Films Opening at Rialto

Spencer Tracy, 1938 academy award winner, co-stars with Loretta Young, returns to the Rialto theater for today and tomorrow only in "Man's Castle," without doubt the most poignant and moving love story ever brought to the screen. "Man's Castle" unfolds a tale of love born in sombre, poverty-ridden surroundings and climbing above those surroundings to soul-stirring and eternal warmth.

The companion feature on today's returned-by-popular-demand program is "She Married Her Boss," the most flippant picture since the walls of Jericho fell in "It Happened One Night"—and starring the same glamorous girl, Claudette Colbert, also an academy award winner. Melvyn Douglas plays the boss, turned sour on a recent marriage, but possessed with a new love, that of his secretary, Miss Colbert. Other players include Michael Bartlett and Edith Fellows.

Spencer Tracy, whose recent triumphs include "Test Pilot," "Boys Town" and "Captains Courageous," for which he won the year's "best actor" trophy, appears as an irresponsible, gruff but kind vagrant who takes under his wing a hungry, homeless and helpless girl.

The two popular films of a few years back are being revived as a result of popular demand the country over.

Clark Gable In Newsreel Cameraman Role

With Clark Gable and Myrna Loy together again after their sensational success in "Test Pilot," their new picture, "Too Hot to Handle," is a rousing story of the newsreel cameramen, comes to the Craterian theater Wednesday for a four-day engagement. Walter Pidgeon, with Walter Connolly, Leo Carrillo, Johnny Hines and Virginia Welder is featured in an action-filled, adventure-laden story that takes in everything from the Chinese "Big Apple" to the filming of a blazing liner from a soaring plane.

4 BALLETS TO BE PRESENTED HERE BY OPERA CHORUS

A repertoire of four ballets, each entirely different from the others in subject and form, will be presented by the San Francisco Opera Ballet company when it comes to the Holly theatre Wednesday evening November 16, under the sponsorship of the Southern Oregon Concert association.

For the Medford appearance, William Christensen, choreographer, has chosen a wide range of ballet subjects that will appeal to every theatre-goer. The program opens with a "Bach Suite," a light and charming ballet in which the company of 30 dancers will weave a story to the music of the immortal Bach.

The second ballet will have Johann Strauss' "Fledermaus" and "Kaiserwaltz" for a musical setting of a humorous ballet in two scenes. Set and costumed in the period of Vienna's height of power and gaiety, the company catches the mood of the great Strauss waltzes. Janet Reed, former Medford girl and premiere danseuse of the San Francisco opera, will dance the role of a Viennese ballerina in this production.

High point of the evening will be "Romeo and Juliet," carefully following within choreographic limits the score of Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet Fantasy Overture," and with Miss Reed in the role of Juliet.

The closing ballet will be a dance divertissement, "Sketches," which will include numerous dances of light mood.

Early reports from the membership committee indicate that the Holly theatre will be sold out for the season when the ballet company opens with the first of the three attractions, and theatre goers are urged to make arrangements for memberships as early as possible to avoid disappointment. Memberships may be obtained from individual committee workers, or at Pruitt's music shop and Ethelwyn B. Hoffmann's ladies' shop.

Jungle Princess

Technicolor brings new splendor to the screen in "Her Jungle Love," playing today and tomorrow only at the Rialto theater with Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland in the starring roles. Savage rites, jungle thrills, the sacrifice of the princess to the sacred crocodile, a volcano erupting and thousands of warriors on the march are but a few of the many thrills to be seen in the all-color film. Lynne Overman and J. Carol Nash head the supporting cast.

Spencer Tracy, 1938 academy award winner, co-stars with Loretta Young, returns to the Rialto theater for today and tomorrow only in "Man's Castle," without doubt the most poignant and moving love story ever brought to the screen.
