

Roughhouse Promised When Sockeye Grapples Red Lyons Tonight

FORMER LOGGER DUE TO REVERT TO OLD TACTICS

Belcastro and Schroll Will Tangle in Center Event—McGill and Wagner Pitted in Curtain Raiser

Tonight is the night that Sockeye Jack McDonald, in his main event armory wrestling match with big Red Lyons, is expected to revert to his old and highly effective roughhouse tactics.

The weekly Mack Lillard grappling program starts at 8:30, as usual, and opens with Cecil McGill and Bobby Wagner clashing in the first six-round match. Pete Belcastro and Frankie Schroll colliding in the center six-round, and Sockeye and Red winding things up in their one-hour top entanglement.

Lyons ough Assignment McDonald, facing the clean-wrestling Paul Murdoch in his last two local starts, has been one of the pure and fair-haired boys, probably because of the fact that Murdoch is a clean grappler. Tonight, however, the popular ex-Seattle logger will be practically forced to start his two-fisted, hammer-and-tongs attack, if he wants to keep pace with the villainous Lyons, sometimes called the Joplin Ghost but whose special brand of meanness would put any spiritual being to shame.

It will be Lyons' first Medford wrestling appearance in several months, the 205-pound red head having been in southern California and the southwest since last showing hereabouts. It is reported that he is more brutal than ever. He is one of the smartest matmen to ever appear here, and is expected to give McDonald a terrific battle.

Pete faces had hold It will be Pete Belcastro's turn to tackle Schroll and his devastating crocodile clutch, this evening, and if the Mad Italian is successful in winning, he will be the first to do so. In two starts, Frankie is still undefeated, and both his victories have been obtained by use of his crocodile hold, a maneuver he learned in South America and which leaves the recipient in no condition to continue wrestling.

Pete's plan of attack is to work on Schroll's eyes, hair and groin until Frankie is unable to apply the crocodile thing. Schroll claims that nobody yet has been able to keep him from whipping on the clutch, and that he doesn't believe Belcastro is any better than several hundred others who have tried.

Cecil McGill and Bobby Wagner, two old favorites who have been absent for many months, return to stage a clean and scientific exhibition in the opening. McGill, a Canadian, employs a spectacular dropkick attack while Wagner boasts a large variety of legitimate wrestling tricks and holds. Both are extremely popular and well-liked by southern Oregon grapplers fans.

Fred Haney Signs As Brown Manager

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Fred Haney, pilot of the Toledo Mudhens of the American Association the past two years and a former major league player, was named manager today of the St. Louis Browns for the 1939 season.

Haney, who played infield with the Detroit Tigers and was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1929, signed a one-year contract. He succeeds Charles (Gabby) Street, who was dismissed the last week of the 1938 season. The Browns finished the season in seventh place.

In spite of my admiration and respect for my opponent I feel that his age of 85 years disqualifies him.

Clashing with Red Lyons in the main wrestling match in the armory tonight will be Sockeye Jack McDonald, ex-Seattle logger who is pictured above in his lumberjacking outfit. He wrestles like he used to log, with vim and vigor.

PREP 'BIG FOUR' SURVIVES ANOTHER WEEK-END HURDLE

Jefferson-Franklin Clash This Week Due to Cut Ranks—Salem Impresses in Dropping Astorians

By Fred Hampson (Associated Press writer)

Oregon's big four of prep school ranks—Salem, Milton-Freewater and Jefferson and Franklin of Portland—emerged from another week of firing without loss of tie, and created Medford crowded farther into the state championship picture by beating Eugene.

The company of unbeaten-united preppers is certain to lose at least one member this week when Jefferson and Franklin play off their Portland interscholastic league lead tie.

Milton-Freewater advanced their claim by whitewashing The Dalles' giant-killers, 25-0.

Salem won its 15th consecutive game Friday and dropped Astoria from the state chase after a monumental tussle at Salem. Coach Hauk's club won, 19-14. Salem's next date is with Eugene.

Jeffs Win Easily In Portland, Jefferson had little difficulty whipping Lincoln, 20-0, but Franklin's margin over tall-end Commerce was only 14-6.

Medford and Eugene gave the customers palpitation before the southern Oregon team won, 25-19. They were tied 13-13 at half-time. Medford went ahead 19-13, but Eugene crossed the lead on a long march and forced Medford to get another one in the last quarter to win.

Klamath Falls' score-loving Peleians took 18 points out of the hide of Eureka, Calif. Eureka was unable to score. Klamath's season score now comes to 276.

Granta Pass, a southern Oregon neighbor that still stands in Medford's road, whipped Ashland, 13-0. Bend's Lava Bears, stung out of the state title chase by The Dalles and Medford, reminded the central Oregon country that they are still No. 1 team regionally by dumping Prineville, 25-13.

Three Drop Idahoans Three eastern Oregon teams tried their hands against Idaho opponents at all three last. Weiser beat Baker, 15-0; Payette shamed Ontario, 9-0; and Nampa edged La Grande, 12-6. Marshfield tuned up for North Bend by swamping Reedport, 26-0. Myrtle Point beat Bandon, 32-0. Sprague of Myrtle Point scored a touchdown on a kickoff.

Fendleton came back after last week's humiliation at Klamath Falls and beat Union, 7-0.

Roseburg, wobbly with injuries, dropped an encounter to Cottage Grove, 0-12. Lebanon, the leader of the Willamette valley league, visited Hood River and beat the Orchardists, 7-0. Woodburn, a strong Willamette valley team, trounced Dallas, 32-0.

Other scores: Roosevelt 26, Washington 6 (both Portland); Benson 6, Grant 6 (both Portland); Forest Grove 26, McMinnville 6; Molalla 7, Chemawa 6; Tillamook 13, Oregon City 7; Milwaukie 46, Corvallis 6.

BLADES WILL RUN GAS HOUSE GANG

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The job of putting the gas back into the gas-house gang rested today on the shoulders of one of baseball's gamiest work horses—41-year old Frankie Raymond Blades, a fighting star in his prime, remarkable manager as playing days waned.

Appointment of the former outfielder as the 1939 pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals was announced yesterday by President Sam Breadon.

Blades succeeds Frankie Frisch, the Fordham flash, under whom the gas-house gang became famous and then sprung serious leaks before his five-year tenure came to a sudden end last September.

"I believe I have picked the most capable man I could find," Breadon declared in pointing to Ray Blades' long service as a player and his record as a manager in the Cardinal system.

A member of the famous Cardinal teams of 1926, 1928, 1930 and 1931, Blades is the first "pure product" of the far-flung Redbird farm "chain" to take charge of the parent club.

Shovel Pass Helps Huskies

MacDowall (37), of Washington took a shovel pass over center and ran eight yards for a first down on Stanford's 15-yard line during the first quarter of the Husky-Indian game at Palo Alto, Calif. He was stopped by Pool and Clark of Stanford. Washington won, 10 to 7. (AP Photo.)

Billy Hulen says: Tigers Change Stripes Against Axmen to Score

For years to come, when gridiron fans get together to talk about the spectacular and dramatic games they have seen, the number one subject of conversation will undoubtedly be that almost unbelievable Medford-Eugene affair of Friday night. For hysterical, hair-raising action, it tops anything we have seen for the past several seasons, and it may be a long time before another one like it comes along. It's only once in a blue moon two football clubs go so score-crazy at the same time.

Aside from the actual spectacle of two teams unleashing practically unstoppable offenses, the most surprising thing about that game, to us, was Medford's change from a stiff defensive team to a shoot-the-guns, hell-for-leather attacking aggregation. Until Friday night the Black Tornado's success was almost entirely due to a rock-like forward wall that changed and tacked viciously, while the scoring ability of the team was decidedly spotty and inconsistent.

Against Eugene, however, the absolute reverse was apparent. The Tigers' tackling was a far cry from the savage stuff displayed against Klamath Falls, Bend and Eureka, and the Tornado line was rocked and blasted to a fare-thee-well by the sharp-hitting Axmen. But, wherefore Medford's attack has a sort of hit or miss proposition based on an occasional forward pass or a long touchdown shot by Jack Bowman, against the Axmen the Tigers revealed a brilliant, consistent and smooth-working offense. Those Medford touchdowns, with the possible exception of the "dead man" play, were far from fluky. They were scored by dirt of sound, fundamental football tactics—great blocking, passing and running.

Medford's amazing change from a defensive to an offensive eleven can be attributed, in part anyway, to the fact that, for the first time since the opening game of the season, practically all the backs were available for action. With Sausberg, Gillespie and McCurdy still on the injured list, the Tigers were not at their completely full backfield strength, but they were much more so than in the Klamath Falls, Eureka, Roseburg and Bend encounters. Campbell was able to play a half. Piche was in good shape. Thurman was whole and Caples' bad knee was much improved. With seven backs in excellent physical condition, the Tigers were able to develop a sustained attack for a change, and how they did!

As for that sharp decrease in defensive efficiency, there is apparently no good reason for it, except for the fact that Eugene showed a terrific ground attack. The Axmen's off tackle burst, with Cougill and Robertson carrying behind amazing interference, was devastating, and where all those blockers came from is still a mystery to Coach Bill Bowerman of the locals. However, the Medfords were way below par in their tackling, so effective Eugene would have been so effective on the ground had the Tigers been up to snuff in that line.

Shorty Campbell's great one-man offensive exhibition, acclaimed by everyone, drew high praise from Bill Morgan, ex-Medford, Webfoot and pro-gridder. Bill said he had never seen a better high school forward passer, and that Campbell's coolness under fire was positively beautiful to behold. The big fellow actually went into raptures over that lateral-pass play of Campbell's to Piche in the fourth quarter on Medford's game-winning scoring drive. It was a sweetheart of a maneuver, at that. Campbell, after running 19 yards, flipped a lateral to Piche in the fourth quarter on defensive halfback to enable Piche to run 10 more yards.

Campbell's feat in completing five out of seven forward passes in one quarter for a total of 101 yards ranks with the finest pitching exhibitions ever seen in Medford. Of course, he probably isn't the pass-singer George Sanders of Roseburg is, but you won't often see a better average hung up, on completions out of attempts and length per pass. Campbell probably can't fire them for 40 yards like Sanders, but he'll do until somebody else better comes along.

Well, I. Picken wasn't alone to fall over the week-end, anyway. Look at Pittsburgh, Northwestern and California. And, you don't have to look at the betting average now, if you don't want to. It's $62, from 51 correct picks in 77 attempts, with four ties.

Correctly named were these games: Medford-Eugene, 7 to 0 and it was 25 to 19 (right margin but wrong total score); Oregon-Idaho, 14 to 13 and it was 19 to 6; USC-California, 13 to 7 and it was 13 to 7; Fordham-St. Mary's, 7 to 0 and it was 3 to 0; Notre Dame-Navy, 20 to 0 and it was 15 to 0; Harvard-Chicago and Texas Christian-Tulsa, 13 to 8 and it was 21 to 0.

Picken missed on Montana-Gonzaga, UCLA-Washington State (another one of those upsets which didn't upset), Stanford-Washington, Pitt-Carnegie (who didn't?) and North-western-Wisconsin (also, who didn't?).

BOWLING

The Spoonbills and Mallards each with eight wins and four losses, were tied for the Elks club bowling league leadership at completion of last week's play. High individual scorer for the week was Piche, with 541 plus handicap of 78 for a 619 total. In Friday night's game, the Wood Ducks took three of the four points from the Butterballs. Tonight, the Spoonbills roll the Butterballs. Statistics follow:
