BRITAIN'S RULER GLAD TO ACCEPT ROOSEVELT'S BID

George VI Tells Parliament He and Queen Will Visit U. S. Next Spring — To Take Good Will Message

Little Formality

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—If the British king and queen come to Washington and stay at the White House during their American visit next year, they will encounter a minimum of formality.

In the first place, there isn't room in the compact old mansion for a display of extreme ceremony. The entire building would fit into one wing of Buckingham palace.

The bedrooms are not even in suites, and there would be scant accommodations for the host of aides-de-camp and ladies-in-waiting who might be expected in a royal party.

In the second place, President and Mrs. Roosevelt are given to hospitality rather than rigid formality in entertaining their guests.

Most presidents have stood in the red or the blue room to greet distinguished visitors, but the Roosevelts are usually at the front door by the time the guests are alighting from a White House limousine.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—King George VI told parliament today he had "been happy to accept" as an "expression" of Anglo-American good feeling President Roosevelt's invitation to visit the United States during the royal Canadian tour next spring.

The announcement was made by the gorgeously appraised monarch from the throne in the house of lords in an address opening the fourth session of the current parliament and the second of his reign.

The soft light of the dimly gleamed on thousands of multi-colored jeweled decorations as the king declared:

"I have been happy to accept the invitation extended to the queen and myself by the president to visit the United States of America before the conclusion of my Canadian tour."

"I welcome this practical expression of the good feeling that prevails between our countries."

In subsequent debate in the house of commons Prime Minister Chamberlain drew cheers from all parties with a warm statement on the king's plan to visit the United States, which he said was of "outstanding importance."

Such a visit, the prime minister said, would be the first time a king and a queen of England had "set foot in the land of a great democracy which for the past 150 years has played so increasingly important a role in the history of the world and has contributed so much to politics and in economics and commercial enterprise and in culture to the progress of the human race."

Good Will Message Their majesties, he added, would take "a warm message of good will from the people of these islands to the great republic of the new world."

King George did not disclose how the North American trip would be made. There has been speculation on the possibility the Hood, called the world's largest battle cruiser, might take him and the queen. It will be the first time a British sovereign ever set foot in a former colony.

An invitation to President Albert Lebrun of France to come to London next spring to meet a royal visit to Paris last July also was disclosed by the monarch.

FIREMEN DRAFT PLANS FOR BALL

Plans for their annual Thanksgiving ball were made by regular and volunteer firemen at their monthly meeting in fire headquarters last night. Tickets for the dance will be placed on sale in a few days.

The ball will be held as usual on Thanksgiving night, November 24 at Oriental Gardens. Interest of the firemen in making this year's ball one of the most successful ever held here was indicated by the presence of 21 out of the department's 24 volunteers at last night's meeting.

Earl Youkley was named chairman of the dance committee, Edward Cannon, decorations, Fred York, check room, and Chief Roy Elliott, ticket sale at the hall. It was voted to engage Steve Whipple's orchestra.

Proceeds from the annual ball are used by the firemen in buying supplies to rebuild and refurbish old and discarded toys for distribution among poor children at Christmas. Chief Elliott said the firemen are now ready to receive old playthings as they want to get an early start.

voting a "return to the American way."

F.D.R. Sees Forecast The opening of the polls—at day-break in some states—put an end to campaign speechmaking. Many government officials and virtually all members of congress, their voices hoarse, were back in their home ballistics to vote.

President Roosevelt was in Hyde Park, N. Y., where he sealed in an envelope his own forecast of the outcome. Vice-President Garner, the silent man of the year's campaign, was at home in Uvalde, Texas, where he has been since congress adjourned.

In several states where contests have been especially grueling, tension was at a high point. In Pennsylvania hundreds of special guards were on duty at the polls. Excitement ran high in Michigan and New York because of the hot gubernatorial races. The old age pension issue was a focal point of interest in California.

In contrast to these were the southern states, where election of Democratic tickets was in most instances a mere formality.

Party Heads Confident The national chairmen of both major parties were optimistic in their final comments last night.

James A. Farley, the Democratic leader, predicted in a radio speech "President Roosevelt will be endorsed again" through the election of candidates he favors.

"The minority party hopes to make tomorrow's events a curtain-raiser to the 1940 election," Farley said. "Take my word for it: that it will be the kind of curtain-raiser not at all to their liking."

Republican Chairman John Hamilton, reiterating claims of party gains, announced he had telegraphed Republican state chairmen to have "all party workers and candidates keep close watch for evidence of coercion of relief beneficiaries, preserving all available evidence for submission to the congressional investigating committee and possible grand jury action."

In a national broadcast last night, Hamilton introduced as the closing Republican speaker the one-time "big train" of baseball, Walter Johnson, who is a candidate for county commissioner in Maryland, Johnson, extolling the "American way of life," still have that many today and no signs of any permanent break on the horizon yet. I am mighty sure that's not American."
