

The Weather

Forecast: Fair tonight and Saturday but with fog. Little change in temperature. Temperature Highest yesterday 43 Lowest this morning 26

MEDFORD

TRIBUNE

Don't Forget When Friday rolls round that means the preparation of a Classified Ad. for the Sunday morning edition. Ads. in before 3:30 will be properly classified. Ads accepted till 8 p. m. Don't forget.

Thirty-Third Year

MEDFORD, OREGON, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1938.

No. 200.

GERMANS ARREST UPPER CLASS JEWS

The Capital Parade

By Joseph Alsop and Robert Kintner Copyright, 1937, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.

GAINS OF G.O.P. MODERATES SEEN SUCCESS OF SOME OLD GUARDS A COMPLICATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The election returns have revived the Republican party from a long catalepsy. All the gains obviously necessary to bring the party back to life—new house seats, new governorships, new places in the senate—have been handsomely achieved.

Had Herbert Lehman failed to note out Thomas E. Dewey in New York, the Republican future would have been easily predictable. Then control of the party would have passed wholly into the hands of men like Dewey, Cabot Lodge and Lev Saltonstall in Massachusetts, Payne Rafter and Clyde Reed in Kansas, and the others who stand for a realistic liberal-conservative and shrewd political compromise.

But, unhappily for those who think that the Republicans' white hopes, the party's two most conspicuous successes were in Pennsylvania and Michigan. In these two great industrial states, over the violent opposition of labor and the whole new deal front, the governorships were captured by Judge Arthur H. James and Frank D. Fitzgerald. It would be hard to deny the title of reactionary to either man. Both were openly backed by the die-hard element of big business.

While James undoubtedly owes his election to reaction against the disfiguring brand of government offered by Pennsylvania Democrats, neither James nor Fitzgerald can be laughed off. Indeed, if it were not for certain drawbacks, both men would be in commanding positions with respect to 1940.

DIES WANTS MORE COIN FOR COMMITTEE'S USE CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Rep. Martin Dies, (D., Tex.) chairman of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities in the United States, announced today he would seek an additional appropriation of between $200,000 and $300,000 to extend the inquiry for another two years.

Here for an Armistice day address Dies said if given the additional appropriation, "we can show from 1000 to 1500 communists in the employ of the federal government."

SIDE GLANCES by TRIBUNE REPORTERS

The cold weather, or something, making the Hotel Grand's illuminated sign spell "Hot . . . D."

Doc Warren Bishop receiving congratulations over the arrival of another son, he now having only one to go for a six-man football team, there being no girls in the household.

Ed Holland and Bob Gilstrap spending five days on the coast trying to make up their minds whether to fish or hunt ducks, they returning home with none of either.

RESTORATION OF GHETTO BELIEVED GOVERNMENT AIM

Thousands Seized Following Wave of Anti-Jewish Violence — Goebbels Warns Semites of World

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Secret police arrested an undetermined number of Jews of the upper classes today as well-informed Nazis predicted restoration of the Ghetto would follow yesterday's wave of anti-Jewish violence in Germany.

Jews estimated between 700 and 1,000 members of their race had been seized in Berlin since yesterday. Additional arrests in Munich brought the total there to an estimated 1,400 while several thousand more Jews were reported in custody in various parts of the nation.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels said new restrictions for Jews would be issued shortly and warned the conduct of Jews outside Germany as well as that of those inside the country would influence Germany's future racial policy.

Three American Jews, whose names were withheld, were among a number of foreign Jews who protested to their consulates against the destruction of their stores in yesterday's demonstrations. Four Netherlands Jews and an unlisted number of British Jews likewise asked the assistance of their respective consulates.

Speaking for 45 minutes to the foreign press, Goebbels said yesterday's anti-Jewish outburst, which vented itself in the burning and dynamiting of synagogues and destruction of Jewish shops, was spontaneous.

Whenever any unsavory elements even made a move to seize goods there were always reasonable people about to prevent it," Goebbels said. He insisted there was no looting.

Trustworthy eyewitnesses yesterday said they had seen shops in the Arcade between Friedrichstrasse and Unter den Linden and in other parts of the city looted.

Not Organized Goebbels, referring to such accounts, said he did not doubt the good faith of the eyewitnesses, but said that in law courts it is often established three different eyewitnesses, all honorable characters, report the same event differently.

Goebbels argued the very fact that the demonstrations occurred in different cities and took the same form showed that they were not organized but represented the primitive reactions of the common people.

"When the Jews of von Rath occurred (the slaying of Ernst von Rath, a secretary of the German embassy, in Paris by a Polish Jew) everybody with a knowledge of the nation's psychology knew something would happen," Goebbels asserted.

"Whether you agree with my proposals or not the fact is that the entire German people have become anti-Semitic."

Medford Woman Is Injured in Freak Smashup

Former Teamster Head Changes Jails

Al Rosser, (center), former secretary of the Oregon council of AFL teamsters, being turned over to Sheriff Martin Pratt, right, by state police sergeant Mogan, left. Rosser, convicted of arson in Polk county, has posted bond on charges in Polk, Multnomah and Washington counties. An indictment in Skamania county, Wash., where a fugitive warrant was issued for his arrest has prevented his release pending appeal of a 12-year prison sentence before the supreme court. (AP Photo.)

ORGANIZED LABOR TO TEST LEGALITY NEW ANTI-PICKETING LAW

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Organized labor stirred into action yesterday against an anti-picketing bill passed by Oregon voters in the general election which fused liberal Republican and conservative Democratic forces.

Labor leaders met here to consider action against the law, which would limit picketing, strikes and collection of union dues. They said national backing in a court fight to test the constitutionality of the measure had been virtually promised in a telegram from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

PROSPECTOR DIES OF INJURIES FROM AUTO EUGENE, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Frank Hoffman, 58, died Friday morning at the Sacred Heart hospital from injuries received when he was struck by a car driven by Covell E. Smith, Eugene, near Creswell lake yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hoffman was walking along the Pacific highway two miles north of Creswell when the accident occurred. He had been prospecting near Grants Pass.

Football Scores

Boston College 21, Boston Univ. 14. Miami 0, Catholic 7. Brown 12, Holy Cross 14. Northwestern 13, Upsala 7. Navy "B" 12, Pennsylvania "B" 8. Scranton 14, St. Anselm 19. American International 0, Lowell Textile 25. Colby 21, Bates 13. Colgate 7, New York U. 13. Second: Gonzaga 0-0, Texas Tech. 0-0.

PRODUCTION OF APPLES IN WESTERN TERRITORY EXPECTED TO DECLINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics concluded this week that a peak had been reached in western apple production.

"Henceforth," it said, "the trend is expected to be downward." The bureau's conclusion was particularly significant to the Pacific northwest growers, because they produce the bulk of the western apple crop.

Officials said the downward trend might mean the beginning of the end of bothersome surpluses that have plagued apple growers for many years, as more and more area was brought into production.

The bureau noted the falling off in production in the western states after several years of fairly stable yield amounting to about 50,000,000 bushels.

The decline in total yield in the western states will be accompanied, the bureau said, by a similar falling off of production in other regions. A nation-wide survey, it said, had indicated light plantings of new trees and a smaller number of replacements of old ones.

"If plantings and replacements continue as light as the last several years, apple production 10 to 15 years hence may be lower than the average of recent years," the bureau said.

LARGEST PARADE IN RECENT YEARS MARKS ARMISTICE

Chill Fails to Cut Attendance for Annual March—Colorful Units Reviewed by Thousands On Curbs

One of the largest parades in recent years marked the start of the American Legion's Armistice Day celebration here this morning. As skies cleared and the sun peered down on a frigid city, thousands of spectators lined the streets to see the colorful procession. The public turned out from all parts of southern Oregon to observe the signing of the armistice that 20 years ago today terminated the most savage war the world has ever witnessed, a war that cost at least seven and a half million lives and close to two hundred billion dollars.

It was one of the coldest Armistice days on record here, but the frosty air only served to add zest to the celebration. Practically every organization in Medford and several in the county took part in the parade to pay homage to World War veterans and to commemorate the armistice that brought peace to a war-weary world.

Many Veterans March The World War veterans themselves participated in larger numbers than in any Armistice Day procession of recent years. The roll of veterans, many of them former soldiers, marched along with stiff and aging strides though with the same gay spirit generated by the signing of the armistice two decades ago. Just 20 short years ago the men were youths fighting to make the world safe for democracy; today they are middle-aged men fighting to undo the world safe for peace.

Spectators could not help but note the contrast between the veterans and the men of Medford's two national guard companies. The national guardsmen were about the same age as the veterans when they were fighting for democracy 20 years ago. Unlike the veterans, the guardsmen marched along with snappy, military precision, their figures slender and erect, their tread sure and firm.

The horror and anxiety of war also were reflected in the Gold Star Mothers whose sons did not come home. But today all signs of anxiety were gone, for this was a festive occasion celebrating the end of war. The parade was gay and colorful and the spirit of joy prevailed.

Colorful units in the procession were the bands and drum corps of the senior and junior high schools and lodges in their bright regalia. A notable addition to the parade this year was the Jacksonville high school band, attired in new brilliant uniforms of scarlet and white, and led by beautiful white-clad majorettes.

Col. Fletcher Marshal Grand marshal was Col. Harvey H. Fletcher, regular army officer commanding the Medford COC district. Behind him marched his staff of COC officers.

All the United States war veteran organizations and their affiliates were represented. Clubs, lodges, granges, religious and other organizations participated.

Business was at a practical standstill, governmental offices, stores and banks being closed for the day in observance of the national holiday.

After the parade the Dugout was opened in Dreamland hall on East Main street, where free luncheon was served until 1 o'clock to all ex-service men.

At 1 o'clock the Dugout was opened to the general public for a stag entertainment and get-together. It was to remain open to all men until this evening.

World War Vets Find Father Time Worst Foe of All

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The doughboys who crashed through the Hindenburg line and ended the World War 20 years ago today are finding Father Time a more relentless foe.

The veterans' administration estimates 545,139 former soldiers have died since the first Armistice day, or 10 times as many as fell in action.

The roster of 4,088,784 living veterans is dwindling fast. An average of 86 a day is joining those buddies who were laid to rest two decades ago in Flanders fields. In addition, 66,267 veterans are receiving hospital care.

MEDFORD CHILLED WITH ARRIVAL OF FIRST SNOWFALL

Temperature here dropped to 26 degrees this morning, lowest for the season to date, after snow covered the city last night for the first time this fall. The mercury got no higher than 43 yesterday. At 2 p. m. today it was only 38.

The cold weather combined with the snow made motorcar travel extremely hazardous and travelers were warned by state police to use the utmost care. Motorists were advised to have tire chains in their cars.

Fog tonight and tomorrow morning was expected to add to the hazards of motor travel in some sections. Official forecast was for fair weather tonight and tomorrow but with fog, little change in temperature.

Snow storms in the higher elevations had abated today. It was clear in Crater Lake national park this morning, the recent storm having left a ground cover of 33 inches at park headquarters.

Roads through the park and the drive to the lake rim were open, rangers reported by radio.

The Associated Press reported that yesterday's general snowfall contributed to at least two traffic accidents. Glenn E. Davis, 18, Hill, Cal., bicyclist suffered two broken legs when a car driven by Perry O. Downing, San Fernando, Cal., struck him on the Siskiyou summit in a blinding snow storm. Robert Hopkins, Yakima, Wash., sustained two fractured ankles in an accident on The Jallies-California highway south of Maupin. His car skidded off the highway and turned over thrice.

Snow plows were working in most mountain passes of the state.

Doctors Discuss AIMEE'S ILLNESS LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A consultation of physicians was to be called today to discuss on treatment for Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple.

She collapsed October 25 while preaching at the temple. An acute attack of bronchitis followed by a threat of pneumonia forced her to bed.

Giles Knight, business manager of the temple said: "She just overworked herself getting pledges for $5,000 to wipe out the temple's mortgage."

Suicide Makes News WOODLAND, Wash., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Jaimar Maki, 37, took his life at his home near here early today by shooting himself twice in the chest with a .32 calibre revolver and once with a .22 calibre rifle. Deputy Sheriff Ray Schiewe reported.

Dance Tonight. Climactic event of the day was to be the annual American Legion Armistice ball in Oriental Gardens tonight. It is at the ball that the festive spirit of the original Armistice Day 20 years ago is recreated and a gala time was anticipated for this evening. The public is invited to the dance.

Dancing will begin at 9:30 and continue until 2 a. m. Music will be furnished by Archie Legg and his famous northern California orchestra. Special entertainment features will be staged during the evening.

With clear weather prevailing, the American Legion post anticipated a record attendance.

Contractor Dies TACOMA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—George Milton Savage, 73, pioneer northwest contractor, died at his home here today. Born in Minnesota in 1865, Savage came to Tacoma in 1884.

MISS NINA BLAKE HURLED IN DITCH ON GREENSPRINGS

Auto Stops Across Highway — Eugene Car Crashes Into It—Miss Blake Suffers Triple Leg Break

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Two women, Nina Blake, 29, of Medford and Mrs. Mabel Fuller, traveling with a party of church workers from Eugene, were seriously injured in a freak double accident on the Greensprings highway west of here last night.

Miss Blake, driving alone toward Klamath Falls, skidded on an icy downhill stretch a mile west of Keno and was thrown from her car into a ditch. The machine, motor still running, spun 100 feet farther and came to a stop sideways across the highway, blocking the road.

Hit By Eugene Car. A few minutes later a second car, also traveling toward Klamath Falls and driven by the Rev. E. J. Fulton of Eugene, approached the scene of the original accident.

Fulton applied his brakes, and his machine slid, also sideways, into the Blake car, sending it into the ditch and taking over its position in the highway.

Occupants of the Fulton car, when they found the Blake car unoccupied, looked along the highway and discovered Miss Blake. She had a triple fracture of the left leg and a serious right ankle injury.

Eugene Woman Hurt. Returning to their own car, the Fulton party found Mrs. Fuller unconscious in the back seat. She had a bad cut on the right side of her head.

None of the other members of the ministerial group, Fulton, Rev. Hara Armstrong, Mrs. Joe Crenshaw, Edith Fleming and Marsha Payne, all of Eugene, was injured.

Nina Blake is employed here as bookkeeper of Beck's bakery, where she has worked for several years. She is a graduate of the local high school, and well-known in Medford and the valley. She resides in the Pindley apartments on South Holly street, and has a six-year-old son, Claron, who lives with her parents in Roseburg.

COUNCIL TO OPEN BIDS ON PAVING

Bids on the reconstruction of paved streets are to be opened and publicly read by the council at 10 a. m. tomorrow in city hall.

While possibly a resolution might be adopted expressing the council's intent to award the contract to the lowest bidder, there will be no actual awarding of a contract tomorrow, city officials said. The bids may first be turned over to the PWA regional office in Portland for review and recommendation, it was explained.

The reconstruction program is a PWA project, 45 per cent of the cost being a federal grant. Plans have been made to get the project underway in early spring, all preliminaries to be completed before then.

Several Oregon and California contractors have evinced an interest in bidding on the job.

Swiss Grill Heads Of Fascist Group

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Police grilled 14 fascist leaders today about what they considered a "plot hostile to the democratic regime."

The authorities declared they found organization headquarters they raided "surely" connected with a neo-fascist program.

Neutral in the last war and taking steps to maintain that neutrality, the country has a new defense rearmament program. The defense ministry announced an increase in the number of warplanes, tanks, anti-aircraft guns and heavy artillery. Military service is to be lengthened.

MERCURY NOSE DIVES IN KLAMATH SECTION

KLAMATH FALLS, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The thermometer dropped to an even 0 at Chemult, 2 above at Sand Creek and 8 above at Crescent lake last night as a heavy frost descended on the central Oregon plateau.

Unofficial minimum here was 28 degrees. A light, powdery snow accompanied the temperature decline.

Radio Highlights

By Associated Press (Time is Eastern Standard) Saturday football: 1:45 p. m. — Yale vs. Princeton, WJC-NBC; Columbia vs. Navy, WMAC-Intercity.

2:45 — Minnesota vs. Notre Dame, WFAF-NBC, WABC-CBS, MBS-Chain. 4:30 (approximately) — Tennessee vs. Vanderbilt, WJZ-NBC, Auburn vs. Louisiana State, WABC-CBS.

The University of Oregon-University of California football game at Berkeley Saturday afternoon will be broadcast by NBC, through its stations, including KMGD, Medford. Broadcast of the game will start at 1:45.

KMGD will also carry a portion of the Yale-Princeton game, starting at 1 o'clock.

Roosevelt Leads Nation In Homage to Soldiers Who Perished in Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt gave the nation's homage today to the unknown soldier who rests on a hillside in Arlington cemetery.

He motored from the White House through a bright autumn sun to the tomb of the soldier, symbol of America's war dead, and, with high dignitaries and just plain people looking on, presented a wreath of white chrysanthemums at the marble sarcophagus.

Mr. Roosevelt stood at solemn attention while his naval aide, Capt. Daniel J. Callaghan, stepped forward with the wreath. Then muffled drums rolled three times, and an army bugler sounded the echoing notes of "Taps." The slow music rolled out over Arlington's graves and across the Potomac to the majestic Lincoln memorial.

Directly after the president's departure, honor guards of the marine corps, navy and army silently saluted their unknown companion. The American Legion, with representatives from the 48 states and the District of Columbia, moved into position behind the tomb where national commander, Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, laid a wreath below that of the president's. State delegations followed to lay individual wreaths.

Reverent silence pervaded the ceremony. Twenty years ago at 11 o'clock in the morning there was another sort of quiet—an unbelievable silence which in sudden drama succeeded the roar of battle.

And in Washington on the same day the voice of Woodrow Wilson lifted to the congress. . . . "The war thus comes to an end. . . ."

Throughout the nation millions observed solemnly today the 20th anniversary of that hysterical end of the bloodiest war in history. For the first time it was a national holiday, so created at the last session of congress.

President Roosevelt, Col. Fulgenio Batista, head of the Cuban army, and Gen. John J. Pershing were among the dignitaries accepting invitations to memorial ceremonies at the tomb of the unknown soldier.

The occasion brought a rare statement on public affairs from Pershing, who led the American forces in France.

"The situation in the world today," he said, "is as menacing as at any critical time in history.

"It demands immediate and vigorous action on our part lest there be visited upon us the recent experience of England and France.

"Not only from beyond the Atlantic do these dangers threaten the Americas. Moreover, we are the natural protectors of the freedom of this hemisphere, and we cannot escape our obligation."

'BATHHOUSE' JOHN PNEUMONIA VICTIM

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—(AP)—John J. "Bathhouse" Coughlin, 78, colorful politician and alderman of the first ward for nearly half a century, died today of pneumonia.

He won the sobriquet of "Bathhouse John," or more familiarly "The Bath," because he began his career as a rubber in a Turkish bathhouse.

Coughlin, a staunch advocate of the black bow tie, liked to improve verse, and this won him the title of "poet laureate of the city council" in which he sat for 46 years.

He represented one of the richest wards in the world—the first ward, which includes the Chicago Loop district.

CHILD'S DREAM FORETELLS DEATH

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Parents of a six year old girl who was killed by a truck said they would tell a coroner's jury Monday of a strange death dream related by the child and would ask mercy for the negro driver.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee visited the driver, listed as Henry Mike, 19, in his jail cell and told him they believed the accident was an act of fate, that the child lived with an ever-present premonition of death.

Mrs. Lee said her daughter, Irene, had talked of dying since September and that she told of the dream last Sunday, the day before the accident.

"Mother, I dreamed a truck was bearing down on me," Mrs. Lee said of the girl told her, "it was killing me, killing me. A colored man was driving the truck."

MAJORITY SEEN FOR RELIEF QUIZ

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A "clear majority" of the new house of representatives was claimed today by U. S. Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.) to favor an investigation of relief activities by congress.

Departing for Washington last night, the Republican congressional campaign committee chairman said: "We are assured that the progressive members from the middle western states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and the two Dakotas will come into our caucus and collaborate with us. And we have the promise of 60 free Democrats that they will join with us in this undertaking."