Brilliant Ballet Program Is Treat for Dance Lovers

By Clara Mary Davis

Appearing before a near-capacity house, the San Francisco Opera ballet opened the southern Oregon concert series last night with one of the most brilliant performances ever seen here.

Georgiously costumed and gracefully staged, the four ballets which made up the program were a real treat to dance lovers here. To William Christensen, ballet master and choreographer, goes major credit for the success of the affair. Many ballet companies employ artists who are individually capable, but few perform as a group with the sweep and grace which characterized last night's performance.

Of particular interest here was the appearance of Janet Reed, prima ballerina with the company and an ex-Medford girl. The audience, which included many of her old friends, was prepared to be generous in their criticism, but was unanimous in acclaiming her one of the truly great personages of the modern dance world. A youngster of 23, Janet seems destined for great heights, and she took command of the stage each time she made an appearance.

Zoe Del Lantis, another ex-Medford girl, danced a lovely role in the Strauss ballet, "In Vienna" and proved that she is a graceful ballet artist as well as an outstanding personality in other dance forms.

Seldom has a more beautifully programmed ballet been seen on the coast. From the Bach "Impromptu" ballet, which opened the evening, to the concluding "Sketches" there was never a let-down. The Bach was light and graceful, the "Vienna" danced to the music of Johann Strauss, was rhythmic and beautiful, and the Romeo and Juliet ballet, set to Tchaikovsky's Romeo and Juliet Fantasy overture, gripped the audience with its fine drama.

To the Southern Oregon Concert Association goes credit for a well-planned concert evening, and all who attended last night will look forward impatiently to the evening of opera planned for January 17 with stars of the San Francisco opera company, directed by Armando Agnini, presenting two intimate one-act operas.

The ballet company departed this morning for Seattle, where it appears Saturday evening. The ballets will be staged in Victoria, B. C., November 21, and in Portland, November 26.

ing the contributions, members may call Mrs. Daily at 572-R-3.

Mrs. Daily asked also that donations be made as soon as possible as it is urgent that the boxes be prepared in the very near future.

ROGUE VALLEY TURKS FLOWING TO MARKET

Movement of Rogue River valley turkeys to market is now underway and scheduled to reach the peak by the first of the week. Carload shipments to the east and Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland markets have been made this week.

The price per pound is 20c to 21c, with some buyers predicting the price of hens is due for a raise, with some remaining at the present figure. A slight shortage of hens is reported in the California markets.

STOCKBUYER CITED ON ALLEGED BAD CHECK

C. L. Gibson, stock buyer, charged in a complaint signed by Mrs. A. C. Fernland of Lake Creek, with "drawing a check with insufficient funds."

The complaint alleges Gibson drew a check on the Ashland branch of the First National Bank of Portland to the complainant, in the sum of $30 for a cow purchase.

Orville L. VanDorff, Ashland R. F. D. No. 1, charged with driving an overloaded truck filled with hay and grain on the Diamond Lake road, was fined $5 and costs.

Churches of the city, according to the statement, contributed $36.50 to the campaign.

M. T. Burns, successful candidate for justice of the peace in the Ashland district, spent $24.00. W. H. Coleman, Medford district, justice of the peace expended $33.20 in his campaign for re-election.

Nick Young, constable Medford district, John R. Pittenger, constable, Ashland, and Paul R. Rynning, county surveyor, spent nothing, statements filed by them attest.

Closing time for Too Late to Classify Ads is 1:30 p. m.

LOOSE CATTLE CAUSE PLAINTS TO SHERIFF

The sheriff's office reported today it had received complaints from rural residents of stock getting loose and causing damage. A herd of cows going down a road were frightened by a barking dog, broke down a fence and trampled a strawberry patch. Another report said a band of hogs had raided a garden and rooted it extensively.

In every 100 American families, 27 have two members, 45 have three or four, 19 have five or six, and nine have seven or more members.
