

$26,410,837 NET ESTATE LEFT BY ROCKEFELLER, SR.

Granddaughter, Her Children and Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research Receive Major Share.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who died in Florida on May 23, 1937, left a net estate of $26,410,837, consisting principally of securities.

A transfer tax appraisal filed today listed the gross estate at $29,905,182, of which more than $17,000,000 was in United States treasury notes.

Virtually the entire estate was left in trust for a granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Strong DeCuevas, her two children, and the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

It was estimated the state would collect $4,616,467 in taxes. Attorneys said the federal tax would run to $12,240,000.

$33,678 To Son
The only other beneficiary was John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who received personal and household effects valued at $33,678.

The senior Rockefeller explained in a codicil to his will he already had made ample provision for his other heirs. In addition, he donated a total of $530,830,000 during his lifetime to philanthropic agencies throughout the world.

Mrs. DeCuevas, wife of a Spanish marquis, maintains a home at Lakemarquis, maintaining a home at Lakemuch time abroad.

The appraisal, filed by James J. Fleming, Westchester county estate tax appraiser, listed Mr. Rockefeller's chief asset as securities valued at $26,278,845. There were notes and cash totaling $451,394 and miscellaneous property amounting to $179,973. The latter included a stock exchange seat—which he never used—valued at $93,000.

Heavy Expenses
Deductions included $360,996 for funeral and administration expenses. Lawyers' fees were estimated at $200,000 and the three executors receive fees of $25,000 each. The executors are Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., Thomas M. DeBevoise, an attorney, and Bertram Cutler, a financial adviser to the Rockefeller family.

Debts amounted to $133,348, ranging from an item of 50 cents for cloth purchased prior to Mr. Rockefeller's death to $42,813 due as a federal gift tax for 1937.

In a statement accompanying the appraisal Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., listed $187,000 in gifts made by his father in the two years prior to his death. They included many donations to Republican state and national committees.

The list of assets included a solitary share of stock in the immense oil empire founded by Mr. Rockefeller.

TWO ASSESSED FINES ON TRAFFIC CHARGES
William Bruce Taylor, 17, of a Medford Star House, charged with violation of the basic traffic rule, was assessed $5 and costs in justice court Monday. Taylor was charged with driving at a reckless speed, in a thick fog, at an early morning hour.

Kimbra Estes, Phoenix, charged with operating an auto with no operator's license, was assessed $2.50 and costs.

Freedom's Promise Awaits Immigrants From Europe Seeking American Haven

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Across the sun-flooded waters of New York harbor, the old world looked at the new.

A shining city reared skyward in the bright November morning. . . . A dozen trans-Atlantic liners clasped like fingers around the waterfront robe of Manhattan.

"Look—the Statue of Liberty!" The young immigrant, wearing the gray-colored native dress of his European fatherland, spoke in a voice of awed exultance.

Eagerly, his eyes swept from the red-brick detention buildings of Ellis Island, the teeming portal to America, and gazed steadily at the green-tinted figure with torch flung aloft, rising from the middle of the bay.

Freedom!
"It means freedom," the young immigrant said. He repeated it softly, as though the word had a strange savor on his tongue. "Freedom!"

At his side, proudly erect, a white-haired old man stared moodily. He looked at the young peasant's toll-hardened hands, and at his own well-groomed fingers.

In his pockets, he jingled a few silver coins—all that was left and thinking of the big home and tidy fortune he had possessed until a few short weeks ago, he recalled bitterly that on the visa application describing the purpose of his visit to the United States he had written: "Pleasure."

He shrugged. Homeless, broke, a man without a country, and yet—"Freedom," the young man had said. "You are right," he told the youth gently. "And it is something to be happy about."

Typical Scene
The scene was typical of scores enacted daily on Ellis Island as thousands who had fled troubled conditions in Europe arrive for a new start in America—an endless stream of refugees from Germany, Austria, Poland, Italy, Czechoslovakia and other centers of strife.

German refugees have already overflowed the 1938-39 quota restrictions, with the tremendous surplus gaining admission on visitors' visas and biding their time—in some cases for years—to leave and re-enter with permanent permits.

Legally forbidden to employ themselves gainfully, the hapless outcasts seeking temporary haven must describe their visits as "pleasure," however destitute after being forced to leave their savings and property behind.

Relatives and friends, in a majority of cases, bond them against becoming public charges since department store workers and others have protested to immigration authorities against the hiring of immigrants and the firing of citizens.

One-Fourth May Work
Only those arriving on permanent visas—and they are only one-fourth of the total—are allowed to seek employment.

More than 200 immigrants are held every day at Ellis Island while authorities investigate their application to enter. In the big detention quarters, far more comfortably furnished than the usual institution, refugees of many nationalities sit silently awaiting their hearings.

Soul-tilling peasants and once well-to-do merchants, artists and businessmen rub shoulders, filled with a common hope—and fear. Little boys and girls squirm restlessly on chairs and benches. Infants cry plaintively in a little cubicle curtailed off from the rest of the great hall in which they spend their days . . . reading, playing cards, talking.

COURT TO PONDER LENIENCY PLEAS FOR FOUR YOUTHS

Judge Norton Defers Sentence On Guilty Pleas Until Monday—Good Previous Records Are Cited

James D. Bailey, 19, and Harold W. Wigen, 21, both of Portland, William Tyler, 19, of Kerby, Southern Oregon Normal school at Ashland students, and Clifford U. McLean, 25, Ashland, former Normal student, entered pleas of guilty in circuit court to the theft of clothing from a Yreka, Cal., laundry wagon last Thursday night. Through counsel, they asked for leniency, and it was recommended by District Attorney Frank J. Newman.

Dr. O. R. Chambers, professor of psychology at Oregon State college, will be speaker at a meeting for men and women of Jackson county Friday, November 25 at 8 p. m. at the First Christian church.

Subject of Dr. Chambers' discussion will be "The Emotional Development of the Child." Dr. Chambers is a leader in the field of psychology and has been a popular lecturer at adult meetings throughout the state. This is the first time he has appeared on a Jackson county program on adult education. Dr. Chambers' lectures are familiar to southern Oregon adults because they were included in the parent education broadcasts in 1936-1937. Much interest is being shown in this meeting and a large attendance is expected.

This is the first of a series of four evening meetings for adults which are being arranged each month by Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent. All adults are invited to attend any of these meetings.

MURDER VICTIM FOUND IN BRUSH
THE DALLES, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A clump of sagebrush 30 feet from the Columbia River highway near Biggs yielded the brutally beaten body of a man police identified today as Dewey Burrell, formerly of Marysville, Idaho.

The skull was crushed by blows from a blunt instrument, Dr. Thompson Coberth, who performed an autopsy, reported. State Police Sergeant Frank Grimm and Sheriff C. C. Wilson believed the body might be that of a motorist slain by a hitch-hiker. No valuables were found on the body.

Grimm said automobile tracks led off the road near the spot where the body had been dragged to the sagebrush. It was found yesterday by Joe Brady, state highway maintenance man, and Dr. Coberth said the man had been dead "at least 48 hours."

FACULTY FROWNS UPON KAPPA SIGMA CUSTOM
EUGENE, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A brother of Kappa Sigma fraternity was dropped in a mattress and delivered to the sorority house of his fiancée last Saturday night, after the traditional University of Oregon custom.
