The team was to be put through running plays this afternoon, Bowerman said. There will be no scrimmaging this week, he added.

The Thanksgiving Day game is to start at 1:30 p. m.

GARNER ENJOYS BIRTHDAY HUNT

UVALDE, Tex., Nov. 22—(AP)—John Nance Garner, vice president of the United States, was 70 years old today, but instead of observing the occasion with any formality, "Cactus Jack" commuted with nature.

Before daybreak he was away on his first deer hunt, a cold preventing him from going through the brakes and upland the opening day of the hunting season.

Scores of telegrams of congratulations poured into the Garner home.

The cold was the first illness the vice president has had in several years, but kept him indoors only a day or two.

Close Guess

GRANGERS FAVOR STRICT EMBARGO UPON MUNITIONS

Resolution Approves Adequate Armament for Defense—Opposes Aggressive War, Entanglements

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22—(AP)—Ignoring the possibility of lost markets, the National Grange urged in a resolution yesterday that the United States clamp an embargo on war materials to nations in conflict, or transportation of supplies in American ships.

In the first resolution passed by the Grange's 72nd national convention, it approved adequate armament for national defense, but stressed its unalterable opposition to aggressive wars and entangling alliances which might lead to war.

The resolution also proposed elimination of all profits from war and conscription of capital and industry as well as man power in event of invasion.

Would Preserve Marts
The resolution concluded: "We oppose the use of armed forces to protect investments in foreign lands, but advocate an armament program fully adequate to protect our country from invasion."

Another approved resolution reasserted the Grange's advocacy of "American markets for American farmers."

"The farmer is asking no special privileges for agriculture," the resolution said. "The protective tariff has protected industry and the immigration law has protected American labor. We now demand the American market for the American farmer at prices consistent with the American standard of living and we favor legislation requiring all trade agreements reciprocal or otherwise be ratified by the United States senate before they become effective."

Favor Higher Tolerance
"We oppose the importation of farm commodities if the net result adds to idle men or idle acreage or causes American products to be sold below the cost of production when efficiently produced."

The delegates endorsed the resolution of Ervin E. King, master of the Washington Grange, urging the secretary of agriculture to raise the tolerance of spray residue on apples. Experiments, he asserted, showed a higher tolerance would not be detrimental to health and would be of vast assistance to the industry.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22—(AP)—Canadian and English trade treaties are a little out of the line of southern Idaho farmers, but they don't like to buck foreign butter, eggs, meats and grains along with scanty markets and sagging prices.

V. A. Cox, Caldwell, Idaho, a Boise valley Granger and delegate to the National Grange convention from Middleton Grange No. 6, told about it at the convention yesterday.

"We try to keep abreast the treaties and farm programs and we approve of a lot of things they do, but we can't figure out some of them. Two and two don't make six," he told an interviewer.

For example, the Idahoan said the farmers of his region resented the 25 per cent allotment reduction in sugar beet acreage.

"We just got a fine sugar plant at Nyasa, Ore., on the Oregon-Idaho line," he said, "and now we have orders to whack the sugar acreage so severely the plant may not be able to operate next year. We're battling for a bigger allotment."

CO-ED DEAN PENS ETIQUETTE MANUAL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (UP)—Lena E. Misner, dean of women, tells Oklahoma City university students how to behave in her new treatise on etiquette, "White and Gold Book."

Among things frowned upon by the O. C. U. dean is public spooning. She writes that it is possible for a boy and girl to walk together without stringing their arms around each other's waists.

"It is poor taste to show marked affection for one another in public," says the book. "The world is not especially interested in such soulful drama."

Other don'ts: Don't dance while smoking. You may smudge the lady's hair or burn down the house.

Don't ignore the stimulus who has returned for a good time. Help him along.

Don't fail to express "audible thanks" for small favors.

Dean Misner avers that she believes everyone should "enjoy himself to the utmost" as long as he refrains from "undignified conduct."

In the preface to the book she reminds: "Do not disdain good manners, for in so doing you admit a weakness in your own self."
