Over Million Cash Customers So Far This Season and Seven Games to Go—Amateurs Also Prosper

By GALE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Among those who will join in the spirit of Thanksgiving this week are the owners of the 10 clubs in the national professional football league. They are a singularly well-fed set of gentlemen, with a business that is flourishing beyond their wildest dreams of a few years ago.

Already this season they have enticed 1,016,283 cash customers to their games, and still there are seven league contests to be played, not counting the big play-off between the eastern and western divisions of the league. Last year's total attendance was only slightly over 1,000,000, and that was a record.

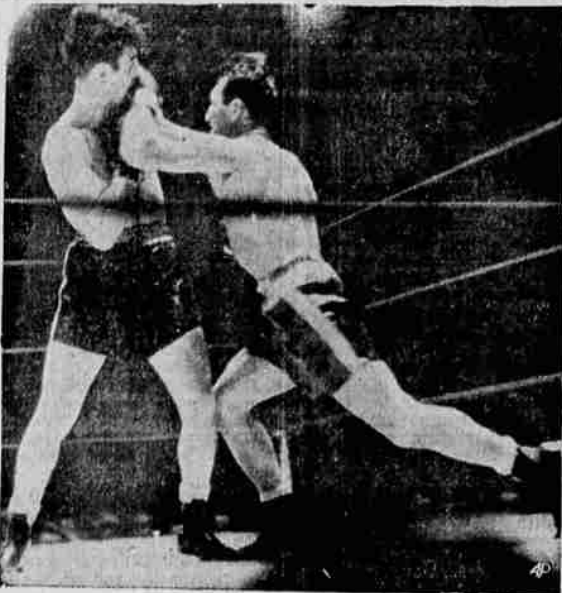

Amateurs Also
The money game is booming everywhere. At least five clubs already have set new individual crowd marks. They are Detroit, Green Bay, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia. On one day this fall 129,000 persons paid their way into the professional stadiums.

The two games that have created the most excitement here this season were those between army and Notre Dame, which drew some 70,000 to Yankee Stadium, and between the Giants and Green Bay, which was seen by 48,000 at the Polo Grounds. In other words, it took one of the greatest of the college "traditional" rivalries to out-draw the pros.

Get It Back Fast
The men who bankrolled the professional sport through the lean years are getting it back fast. One of the beauties of their position is the small original investment. Only Green Bay owns and operates its own park, as a community enterprise. All the others are happy to hire the big baseball plants and let somebody else pay the taxes.

The professionals still are pretty secretive about the salaries they pay, except in such a case where Pittsburgh signed Whitner White for $15,000 for the season. That was good publicity. The minimum wage, on the word of one owner, is about $125 per game for a reserve guard. The average for linemen is at least twice that, he estimated, and the galloping backs average close to $5000 a season. Practically all teams carry the limit of 30 players.

WEBFOOT'S POINT FOR 'CIVIL WAR'
EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The University of Oregon football team, in what Coach Tom Oliver said was top physical condition after beating Washington, 3 to 0, went through a light workout today in preparation for a "civil war" game with Oregon State at Portland.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—After taking life easy last week, Oregon state footballists worked today for the traditional game with Oregon at Portland Saturday.

Coach Lon Stoner worked his men principally on pass defense and offense, insisting he would try passes against Oregon despite the Webfoots' strong defense against Washington passes last week.

NOTRE DAME RETURNS FOOTBALL POLL PEAK; T. C. U. FAVORED NEXT
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Notre Dame, unchecked in eight major starts this season, holds its place at the top of the Associated Press football ranking poll for the second straight week. Close behind is Texas Christian with Duke, Tennessee and Pittsburgh within striking distance.

The writers gave Notre Dame 48 votes for first place and 807 points while T.C.U. had 28 first place ballots and 746 points. Duke was third with 553 points and Tennessee and Pitt tied for fourth with 523 points.

Each of the leaders has terrific opposition ahead. Texas Christian playing Southern Methodist, Duke underdog the act test against Pitt and Tennessee meeting Kentucky, an old rival, next Saturday, while Notre Dame faces Southern California December 3.

Promoter Mack Lillard announced today that Ladies' Night would be observed again next Monday. This means that anyone who buys a ticket, man or woman, may take in a woman guest free of charge.

Dartmouth Arrives For Stanford Tilt
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Dartmouth, 38 of them from Hanover, N. H., get into town today and are expected to start right out to get the travel kinks out of their systems in preparation for their football argument with the Stanfords at Palo Alto next Saturday.

Other mentioned: Boston college 2, Iowa State, Alabama and Harvard 1 each.

After a few weeks of cream-puff wrestling, McDonald turned tough again last night and kept Schroll at a safe distance with hefty punches. The Sockeye had a clever way of rolling himself into a ball to keep out of Frankie's paralyzing crocodile clutch.

LYONS PINS PETE FOR PAY-OFF ON REFEREE'S FLUKE

Red Lyons took two out of three falls from Pete Belcastro in the main event of the weekly wrestling card in the Medford armory last night.

It was news to Pete, however, that he had lost and the ending was equally unsatisfactory for the fans. Before the deciding fall, Pete and Red held a tumble spree. After 12 minutes of general mauling around for the third and deciding fall, Pete bounced Red's chin off the ropes a couple of times and then clamped on a body press.

Referee Earl Yoakley counted off three seconds and patted Belcastro on the back as a signal he had won the tumble. Then Yoakley noticed that Lyons had a leg dangling over a rope and he motioned that the match wasn't over after all.

Not having eyes in the back of his head Belcastro didn't see that Yoakley had crossed the fall. Pete let loose of the Joplin Ghost and started walking away. Lyons hopped up, elbowed Pete on the back of the head, knocked him down and jumped on him for the fall.

Lyons took the first fall in 16 minutes of rough grappling. He set Pete up with a series of punches and then clamped on a Japanese leg strap. Belcastro quickly gave up.

Belcastro opened up after the rest period and kept Red on the defensive with slobbering and bobby punches. After wearing the hefty Lyons down with these maneuvers, Pete took the fall with a shoulder stand. He won the tumble in 11 minutes.

In the middle event Eckey Jack McDonald took two out of three falls from Frankie Schroll. McDonald won the first fall in the second round with a back breaker into which he maneuvered from a side stripper. Schroll took the second fall in the fourth round with a rolling leg split and Sockeye won the deciding fall in the fifth canto with a Boston crab.

WHAT BECAME OF WILD TURKEYS IN OREGON FORESTS?

PORTLAND, Nov. 22.—(Sp.)—Unlike the deer, in its too-often fatal assumption that a man is a stump, the wild turkey, without pause, concludes "that stump is a man." As it turkeys quietly from the scene. Despite their wariness, however, death has overtaken the several hundred wild turkeys which the WPA historical records survey reveals as having been introduced into Oregon some 12 years ago.

In 1926, 68 turkeys, of Virginia wild stock, were set free in Curry county, at which time a smaller number of the same variety was released in Jackson, Jefferson, and Polk counties. Later the birds were set free in Josephine, Coos, and Marion counties. In the last named county they are said to have thrived particularly well.

Between October 1, 1928, and September 30, 1929, as many as 339 wild turkeys were liberated by the State Game commission in Oregon's woods. At that time sportsmen looked forward optimistically to good turkey-shooting within three or four years. Although no open season was ever declared, the birds are now reported to be extinct.

Sid Feder on SPORTS

By Sid Feder
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—If Mr. Diogenes will stop in at Florida U. with his lamp, he'll find that honest man he was looking for. . . . The lad is Ed (Fats) Wazek, a freshman lineman from Chicago. . . . Like others on the frosh varsity, Fats was getting room and board assistance for playing football. . . . but he decided—without criticism from the coaches—that he just didn't have it.

So he voluntarily went to Coach Josh Cody and said he was giving up his scholarship held because he couldn't give enough in return. . . . Needless to say, Josh is still speechless. . . . And brave Fats is trying to keep on in college without help. . . . Alice Marble, the tennis hero, makes her singing debut in the Waldorf-Astoria December 1.

That Eastern bowl outfit has given up on Texas Christian for the December 10 game. . . . Oklahoma, Texas Tech, Mississippi, Baylor, Duke and Clemson are still in the running. . . . Villanova and Carnegie Tech lead the eastern contenders. . . . And speaking of bowls, this corner would give up Thursday's turkey to see Notre Dame and Texas Christian tangle. . . . Oklahoma against Duke or Tennessee shapes up like another rip-snorter if some kind soul would arrange it. . . . Ex-middleweight Champ Teddy Yaros end Manager Ray Fouts have split after 10 years together. . . . and Ray is now carrying the torch for his young Ohio heavy, Jack Trammell.

That's a neat slogan the Oklahoma line has when the Sooners tangle with famous passing team. . . . "They can't pass a-tin' down." . . . The boys tell each other—and then proceed to rush in and at 'em. . . . Did you know the approximately $18,000 of PMA sanctioned tournaments this year is an all-time record? . . . There's no wolf at the door there.

G. P. FIELD LIGHTS FREE FROM DEBT

GRANTS PASS, Nov. 22.—(Sp.)—The last $380 worth of a $3,000 bond issue sold two and a half years ago were refunded Monday by checks sent through the mail by the Grants Pass high school student body. Principal L. B. Mayfield announced.

The money had been used to construct the school's athletic field grandstand and field lighting system for night games. Constructed under direction of City School Superintendent M. B. Winklow, and Mr. Mayfield said that the student body is very proud of having acquitted itself of the debt so easily. The final funding payment was not due until December 1.

Football games and student fees were the principal sources of revenue. The entire construction cost was $3,842.39, with student organizations supplying the extra $342.39. Purchasers of bonds received no interest payments.
