

WIFE OF DOCTOR ONLY 15 MINUTES IN BAKER'S AUTO

Rebuttal Witnesses Cast Doubt On Story of Rape - Former Office Nurse Tells of Family Quarrels

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The state introduced testimony in the Dr. Kent W. Berry torture-kidnaping trial today that Irving Baker, accused of assaulting Mrs. Berry, spent only about 15 minutes driving several miles here from a Mud bay party last July 4, during which time she had testified he raped her.

Stanley Cornier, middle-aged caretaker at Underwood beach, on Mud Bay, said he heard an automobile having difficulty in soft ground shortly after 5 a. m. that day. He aided Baker in getting the car out, he testified, and on entering his home noticed the time was 5:45 a. m.

"Between 10 and 15 minutes later," he said, "I heard the car drive away."

Called on Baker Eugene Prins, service boy at Baker's automobile shop, testified he opened the place for business at 6 a. m. and was "positive," he said, that Baker was there by 6:15 a. m.

The youth also testified Mrs. Berry had been at Baker's shop twice prior to the party and that on one occasion he heard her urge the former court guard officer to attend it, telling him she would see he had a good time. He also heard Baker reply, he said, that he could not let her know then and that on one day that week-end he planned to go to Seattle.

Baker has denied he committed an assault. The testimony was in the state's rebuttal after the final defendant, Robert Smith, completed his defense yesterday. The others on trial are William K. McAlone and James Redick.

Nurse Testifies
Miss Roberta Davis, former office nurse and second cousin of Dr. Berry's, completed her testimony as the session resumed, saying she had seen Dr. Berry leave the office "in a rage" on July 7 and that she had seen no bruises on his wife prior to that date. Mrs. Berry had testified of fighting off Baker's purported advances.

On or about July 11, when Dr. Berry and his wife returned from a trip, she said, she noticed a slight swelling under one of Mrs. Berry's eyes. She said she finally left his employ on July 31.

"I quit because I had listened and listened day after day to something I couldn't listen to any more—his troubles with his wife," she said.

Mrs. Chris Baaken, Centralia, secretary of a southwest Washington women's golf tournament, testified Mrs. Berry played in it on July 7.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR JALLS WHEN CAR IS FORCED FROM ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Jall of 225 North Holly street narrowly escaped serious injury when their car skidded 75 feet on a highway shoulder, rolled down a 15-foot bank and turned over twice, landing upside down.

The Jalls were returning from Portland Monday afternoon when about 3:30 o'clock near Aurora, which is 20 miles north of Salem, a car going in the opposite direction passed a trailer-truck on a slight curve and crowded the Jall car off the road.

The couple were pinned in the car, unable to get out for about three minutes until passing motorists came to their aid.
With the exception of a number of minor bruises received by Mrs. Jall, they were unhurt. Their clothes were badly damaged however and their car was wrecked considerably. They were unable to secure the identity of the car or driver which forced them off the road.

Mr. Jall is manager of the Gilmore Oil company here. He pointed out the accident that immediately following the wreck the first three people to come to his assistance were friends of his, one a Medford man, whom he had not seen for some time and all of them had recently been in severe automobile wrecks from which they had just recovered.

OREGON ELECTION COST 75 CTS. FOR EACH VOTE CAST

Total Estimated Near $300,000—Largest Campaign Expenditure by Friends, Foes of Picket Bill

SALEM, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The cost of Oregon's recent general election was estimated today at almost $300,000, or about 75 cents for each vote cast. The total includes $100,000 spent by the state and counties to run the election machinery, and $200,000 spent by and for candidates and to support and fight initiative measures.

Today was the last day on which candidates could file expense statements.
$40,404 for Picket Bill
The largest amount, $40,404, was spent to support the successful initiative to regulate picketing and boycotting while $10,000 was the amount in the fund to oppose it.

The gubernatorial campaign of Charles A. Sprague cost $19,835, compared with $14,163 for Henry L. Hess. The Rufus C. Holman senatorial campaign cost $15,144, while that for his opponent, Willis Mahoney, cost $8,894.

The amounts spent for candidates, however, are only approximate, since a few contributors, who report their contributions direct to the secretary of state, might have them included also in reports of the candidates' campaign committees.

Angell spent $4,754
Homer Angell, representative-elect from the third congressional district spent and received a total of $4,754, while the incumbent Nan Wood Honeyman spent $1,494.

Representative James W. Mott's campaign cost $2,482, while that of Representative Walter M. Pierce cost $764. Andrew Burk, Mott's opponent, spent $1,605.

Republican organizations spent $23,004 in behalf of all G. O. P. candidates, while expenditures of Democratic organizations totaled $5,389.

Chief Justice Henry J. Bean's reelection campaign cost $745, one-fourth the amount of the campaign of Henry J. Zimmerman.

A total of $9,647 was spent to oppose the initiative to regulate liquor sale, while the fund to support the measure amounted to $687. The amount spent to oppose the citizens retirement annuity bill was $3,558, while $508 was contributed to support it.

G. O. P. Spends Most
Republican and Democratic candidates for state representatives spent $2,865 and $2,770, respectively, while Republican and Democratic candidates for state senators spent $2,195 and $925.

Republican candidates for district attorney spent $2,863, compared with $1,341 for their Democratic opponents.

Secretary of State Earl Snell's campaign cost $3,116, while Emily F. Edson, his opponent, spent $182.

The race for labor commissioner cost $1,344. C. H. Gram spending $777 of the total, Rex Putnam's reelection campaign cost $336, while Charles A. Rice spent $1,262.

Alex Barry's campaign for U. S. senator, short term, cost $517, compared with $55 for Robert A. Miller.

JENKINS ELECTED ON DIRECTORATE OF WONDERLAND

KLAMATH FALLS, Nov. 23.—(WNS)—Frank Jenkins, publisher of the Klamath Evening Herald, was elected a member of the board of directors of the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association at an organization meeting of the Klamath county council here last night.

W. J. Dinamore, of Klamath Falls, was elected council chairman and Fred E. Fleet was named council secretary. Chairman Dinamore appointed a nominating committee to expand council membership to include representatives from all districts of the county.

The committee consists of E. B. Hall, past director, as chairman; Mitchell Tillotson and Fred Fleet. The committee will meet Friday and complete appointments and report to the chairman.

"Jerry" Jerome, association field executive, and Treffis R. La Senay, director of publicity and advertising, met with the group and reported on the organization's program of Wonderland development and the publicity and advertising planned for 1939 to supplement the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland exhibit at the World Fair on Treasure Island.

The fair exhibit, the Klamath county project for early action by the association, and county-wide community activities during exposition year, but deferred final adoption of a definite program until the completed council meets in the near future. It was declared that through its fair activities the Wonderland can be presented in its most favorable light to a possible 20 million people at the exposition, and that the program of the Klamath county council will be designed to obtain for its affiliation with and participation in the activities of the association and the Treasure Island exhibit building and outdoor court.

Others of the elective group whose responsibility is to expand the council to county-wide membership and develop a beneficial program are E. B. Hall, past director; Marshall Corbett, past council chairman; Elmer Balminger, S. W. Perry, Henry Semog and H. P. Bosworth. The completed council will have a membership of fifteen.

BUSY CHRISTMAS SHOPPING SEASON SEEN FOR NATION

Best Business in Decade Predicted by Retail Dry Goods Association Head - Prices Are Lower

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—A busy Christmas shopping season, with a huge flow of dollars going into circulation over the nation's trade centers, was forecast today by the National Retail Dry Goods association.

"Both business and the public may reasonably look forward to one of the best, if not the best, gift-giving seasons in almost a decade," said Lew Hahn, general manager of the association, which represents the department store and specialty shop field.

An analysis by its accounting experts, the association reported, indicated dollar sales in department and apparel specialty stores of the nation in the four weeks preceding Christmas may approximate $1,200,000,000, about the same as in comparable 1937 period.

Actually the number of items traded across store counters, it was pointed out, may exceed last year's Christmas trade because department store prices this year are about 7 per cent lower on the average.

Granted a favorable weather break and barring big national or international disturbances, the association said, another $40,000,000 or so might be added to minimum estimate of $1,200,000,000 in Christmas trade for department and specialty stores.
