LOCH LEVIN TROUT WILL BE PLANTED IN ROGUE WATERS

Game Commissioner Wire Reports 150,000 to Be Liberated — To Enlarge Butte Falls Hatchery

GRANTS PASS, Nov. 23.—(Sp.)—State Game Commissioner B. F. Wire reported 150,000 Loch Levin trout to stock Rogue river reported the Butte Falls hatchery would be enlarged and discussed mutual problems with about 20 members of the chamber of commerce wild life committee and interested persons on his recent visit to Grants Pass, Chairman A. J. Burbee reported.

Loch Levin trout are especially adaptable for the purpose here, being the species refuses to bite until about a year and a half old and are not of a roving type, Burbee said. The Loch Levin remain in the same waters and grow sometimes as large as eight pounds. They rise to the fly easily and are good fighters even in warm water.

Wire discussed the need of more drastic regulation to protect the spawning grounds in Rogue river. He advocated a shorter season, delaying the opening from April 15 to about May 1 and closing the season December 1, to give better protection during the spawning period of steelhead, which is from December 1 to May 1.

Suggested elimination of all boat fishing above the Savage Rapids dam to conform with regulations on other Oregon rivers in protecting the spawning grounds was approved by Wire, also proper screening of ditches. As soon as the E. W. Kubli test case is decided screening of the ditches will receive further consideration, Mr. Wire stated. The commission is willing to cooperate in every way to maintain the screens and assist in their installation, he added.

It has been the belief among many that steelhead eggs, taken from Rogue river, have been planted in other streams, but that is definitely not true, Mr. Wire said. All steelhead spawn taken from Rogue river is returned to Rogue river and its tributaries.

Oregon Upsets Washington 3 to 0

A rejuvenated University of Oregon football machine defeated the University of Washington's Huskies, 3 to 0, in an upset victory at Portland, Ore. A field goal from placement spelled victory for the Ducks. Twenty thousand silvering persons sat in semi-fog to witness the inter-state battle. BELCASTRO, LYONS REMATCH SOUGHT ON MONDAY CARD

Promoter Mack Lillard said today he would try to arrange a re-match between Pete Belcastro and Red Lyons for next Monday night's wrestling card at the Medford armory.

The promoter stated that both grapplers were dissatisfied with the way their match ended in a fluke Monday night. The match went to Lyons after Belcastro had been tapped on the shoulder by Referee Earl Yorkley as the victor. Then Yorkley decided Pete hadn't won the final fall because Lyons had a leg wrapped around a rope.

Unaware of the referee's reversal, Belcastro was soaked over the head by Lyons from behind. The clout enabled Lyons to flop on Pete and take the fall and match.

The fans, as well as the matmen, were dissatisfied with the ending. So Lillard thinks everyone would be pleased with a re-match.

The promoter said that Floyd Britt younger brother of the famous Alvin, would be back in Medford for a match Monday night. Floyd, always popular here, has not performed in Medford for several months.

Ladies' Night will be in order next Monday. So anyone who buys a ticket may bring a woman to the matches without additional charge.

STEELHEAD BITE WELL ON BAIT AND FLIES IN GRANTS PASS REGION

Steelhead fishing has been good along the Grants Pass sector of the Rogue river, best catches being taken between the old upper ferry landing and the steel bridge below Hell Gate, according to a bulletin prepared by Joe Wharton for the Grants Pass Chamber of Commerce.

The fishing has been fairly good down through the Galice section, the bulletin stated. Most of the fish have been taken using flies exclusively but fishermen using flies exclusively have had their share of luck, the bulletin said. Most successful method has been to fish from a boat, covering 10 or 12 miles of river to a day's angling, the bulletin related.

Many non-resident anglers have been coming to the Rogue for late fishing and guides and boatmen have been kept busy, Mr. Wharton said in his bulletin.

TIGERS IN FORM FOR TURKEY DAY TILT IN ASHLAND

Both teams were poised today for the annual conference football game between Ashland and Medford high schools in Ashland at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Bill Bowerman, Black Tornado mentor, said his regulars were in good condition with the exception of Bill Clute, powerful right tackle who was still out of school with a cold. Whether Clute would see any action in the Ashland game was problematical, Bowerman said.

Pullback Louie Thurman was back in school, recovered from a cold and will be in the starting line-up. Reserves Bob Newland, left half, and Al Brewer, guard, were still on the injured list.

In Ashland the Tidings quoted Coach Skeet O'Connell as saying that his Grizzlies were in good shape for the annual fray. The Tidings itself gave Ashland a better than even chance to score an upset victory over Medford with its aerial attack. O'Connell has been drilling the Grizzlies on the passing attack, the Tidings indicated.

Tickets for the game may be obtained at Medford high school. Additional stands have been erected on the Ashland field and all grandstand seats will be reserved.

PITTSBURGH ROW STIRRED ANEW BY REBEL FRESHMEN

22 Football Players Balk at Paying $150 Fee for Tuition — Chancellor for Strict Amateur Basis

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—(P)—The football ruck at the University of Pittsburgh was a wide open, free-for-all contest today with the university's chancellor, the letter club, the alumni and the city's chamber of commerce carrying the ball.

The revolt of 22 freshmen football players a week ago set off anew the campus controversy that first boiled over two years ago after the Rose Bowl game and has been simmering off and on since then.

The freshmen admitted they signed notes for $150 tuition for a semester but contended they understood this was mere formality. Then, they charged, they were being "dunned" for the money.

Controversy in Open
Chancellor John O. Bowman brought the controversy squarely into the open yesterday when, in his annual address to the students, he pledged continuance of the Bowman "code" which placed athletics on a "strictly amateur basis" a year ago. He told "unofficial football managers" to keep out of the university's athletic affairs.

This was only an hour after he had rejected a proposal by Pitt's varsity letter club, comprising 900 former athletes, for an "impartial" investigation of athletic affairs, the club announced.

Then the alumni council, governing body of the General Alumni association, announced it would appoint an "impartial" committee to investigate "the entire athletic problem, including the freshmen tuition case."

Finally, the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, Bowman disclosed, sent a committee headed by President Frank L. Duggan to him Monday to urge Pitt continue to have winning football teams "for the good of Pittsburgh."

To the freshmen players, Bowman said: "The university never has and never will stoop to sharp practice. In the event there is reasonable doubt, I will accept your word and play fair."

Advising the players not to do anything "these unofficial managers ask you to do," Bowman said by playing fair he meant a settlement "satisfactory to both sides" would be made. Bowman reiterated his admiration for Head Coach John Bain Sutherland and said "a report current" he was indifferent to football and did not appreciate Sutherland was "deliberate misrepresentation."

TOM LIEB QUILTS AS LOYOLA COACH

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Head Coach Tom Lieb of Loyola university will guide the Lions for the last time next Sunday when they play Gonzaga here.

Lieb today had a letter of resignation in the hands of Rev. Fr. Charles A. McQuillan, president of Loyola, severing his connections as football and ice hockey coach, effective March 1, 1939, when his present contract expires.

On the receiving end of mounting complaints voiced over the poor showing of Loyola teams for the past two seasons, Lieb advised the school he was negotiating with "other institutions," but did not say where he hoped to land.

The tops of all wheels travel faster than the bottoms.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—It begins to look very much as if Jimmy Braddock is thinking of fighting again—either exhibitions or regular bouts . . . all your old pals wish you wouldn't, Jim . . . Ace Parker, an old Duke Blue, is about hooking the family look to back the Blue Devils against Pitt . . . Buck Shaw's nomination for one of the sweeter football players Santa Clara has seen this year is Johnny Pingle, Michigan State's ball of fire . . . Massillon (O.) high is giving every college in the state, except Ohio State, a battle for attendance honors, packed 87,000 fans in eight games . . . Clemson Coach Jess Neely, who's plotting a high class outfit this year, doesn't monkey with his boys about fundamentals . . . for instance, when a lineman fails to protect the passer, Jess puts the offender in the passing spot and turns the opposing linemen loose on him . . . P. S.—The boys learn awful fast.

City College (N. Y.) heads are stumped over this one: Ludyne Mantell, the only gal student in the technology school, has been knocking off the varsity tennis-ers regularly, and now wants to go out for the team, but there's never been a gal on a varsity squad at city, and the college doesn't even have locker facilities for the fair sex . . . what to do? . . . Down at the Barium Springs (N. C.) orphan home, there's a 125-pound "B" team with a winning streak of 70 straight, stretching back to 1930 . . . Tie that one, boys . . .

Are the Dodgers looking for Tony Lauerer, as well as the Indians? Not as a coach (says the grapevine) but as player . . . And will Gabe Paul, the Cincinnati Bowler, please tip us off about the rumor that has the Reds angling for Tony Cucinello from the Bees? . . . Tom Stidham won't even dream about "bowling" until his high class Oklahoma outfit winds up the season . . . This department's turkey day menu (bicarbonate treated in free) is Cornell to pound Penn. CALIFORNIA RECOGNIZES APOSTOLI CHAMPIONSHIP
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Fred Apostoli of San Francisco is the recognized middleweight champion of the world—at least he is in two states.

The California boxing commission yesterday followed the New York commission's suit in recognizing the former bellhop who stopped Young Corbett, 3rd, in New York last Friday night.

The National Boxing association recognizes Solly Kriger of Brooklyn as middleweight top man by virtue of his victory over Al Hostak in Seattle recently.

OREGON CIVIL WAR WILL BE TEST OF AERIAL STRENGTH

Beavers Drill to Capitalize On Webfoots' Poor Pass Defense — Two Changes Loom in Oregon Lineup

PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Please pass the football!

That was an order, not a term of politeness, laid down by Coaches Tex Oliver of Oregon and Lon Stiner of Oregon State college today as they fired their football teams for Saturday's civil war on Multnomah field.

The Beavers set themselves to reap touchdowns on the weakness that made the Webfoot goal a comparatively simple target for Southern California, California, Stanford and Fordham.

"We're spending every available minute this week on passing, even if we have to forsake other things, until I'm sure our passing attack is functioning as I expect it to," Stiner said at his Corvallis camp.

The problem is double-edged at Oregon. Oliver had to force his eleven into defensive drill to maintain the high efficiency reached against passes in the Washington contest without sacrificing offensive attention. Oregon State, however, was able to neglect its pass defense because it has been effective there all season.

Jim Kisselburgh, Vic and Morris Kohler, Hal Higgins and Bob Olson shared the passing duties in the Beaver practice last night.

In a scrimmage against the yearlings, the Webfoots displayed consistent ability to stop aerial bombardments.

Two changes loomed in the Oregon lineup. Despite signs of recovery from injuries in the Washington contest, Nello Giromanni, varsity guard, might be forced to give way to Ernie Robertson. There is still some question whether Roy Jensen, tackle who was hurt two weeks ago, would be ready. Jim Stuart, 212-pound sophomore, may get the assignment.
