

KLAMATH INDIANS IN JAIL HERE ON MURDER CHARGES

Charged with second degree murder, Marie Baker, 28, and her husband, Burton Baker, 30, Klamath Indians, were lodged in the county jail here today pending action by the federal grand jury scheduled to meet in Portland Monday.

Also in the county jail, held as material witnesses, were James Hill, 21, Klamath Indian, and Thomas Regan, 26, of Beatty. The prisoners were brought from Klamath Falls last night by Paul Hanlin, United States deputy marshal.

The two murder defendants are held responsible for the death of Beatrice Dickens, 30, Klamath Indian, whose body was found last week in Sprague river. The government contends the woman was murdered after a quarrel at a drinking party. The two held as material witnesses were supposed to have been at the party.

The defendants were bound over to the grand jury after a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Bert C. Thomas in Klamath Falls. The defendants were represented by Roberts & McAllister, Medford law firm.

Another prisoner brought to the jail here last night was Harry Coville, 42, of Moscow, Idaho, who is charged with parole violation. He had served part of a term for selling liquor to Indians.

GALES BATTER AT BRITAIN'S SHORES

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Wild November gales battered shipping today and smashed at the shores of Great Britain.

While lifeboats went to the aid of small craft, the liner, Queen Mary, which left New York November 18, was unable to land 200 passengers and 1500 bags of mail at Plymouth and was forced to proceed to Southampton.

The gale caused postponement of the battleship Royal Oak's departure from Portsmouth for Norway to carry home the body of Queen Maud. Three persons were killed by falling walls at Taunton and Stroud.

Sixty-foot waves broke down a new sea wall at Aberystwyth, Wales, and a small coastal steamer with five aboard was driven ashore at Stranraer, Scotland.

Dust Bowl Farmer Balks At Flight to New Scene

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 23.—(AP)—C. L. Dietz, a farmer who felt the bite of drought but preferred to carry on at home, today voiced the feeling of the dust bowler who refused to become a refugee.

Dietz, a delegate from central Nebraska to the national grange convention here, said the farmers in his country had suffered a succession of scourges—dust, grasshoppers, hot winds, hail, and prices that fell as fast as the hail stones when they managed to get a crop.

"Most of us stayed on our own land in our own country because we had a pride and confidence in it," he said. "I look at it this way: every district has its advantages and disadvantages and when you list them as good as another.

"It would be simple if a farmer could pull up stakes, go to another district and immediately settle down on a top-notch farm—but he can't do that. The good ones are taken. The refugee has to settle on the borderline where he probably isn't any better off than he was back home.

"I don't want to go to Washington or Oregon or one of those 'lands of plenty' we hear about and settle on left-over land. I'd have to learn all over again—learn new crops, new pest control, new weed control, new methods and stumble around trying to compete in an unfamiliar market when I get a good crop."

Dietz farm is near a Lincoln highway signpost that points in two directions. The arm pointing west reads "San Francisco 1733 miles." The arm pointing east reads "Boston 1733 miles."

The central Nebraska farmer is still having a struggle but he's slowly staging a comeback, Dietz said.

FOREIGN FILMS FACE FURTHER CURB IN ITALY

ROME—(UP)—The Italian government has a new monopoly. Henceforth it will act as the only importer and distributor of foreign films in Italy because it wants to curtail the amount of gold Italy spends on non-Italian films.

By a recent decree, Fascist authorities established a state monopoly which will deal with all films for Italian consumption not produced in national studios. The government controlled ENIC (Ente Nazionale delle Industrie Cinematografiche), has been selected exercise this monopoly.

Film circles say that Felice Guarneri, minister of foreign trade and exchange, categorically ruled that non-Italian films are no different from any imported merchandise. He concluded that under the old contingent system too much Italian currency was permitted to leave the country.

The monopoly, which would arbitrarily fix the price payable for foreign films, is said to be Guarneri's brain child. Foreign films will be obliged to accept the prices fixed by
