

WALNUT INDUSTRY OPERATING UNDER MARKET PROGRAM

80 Per Cent of Coast Production in Domestic Sale Quota — 20 Per Cent Kept Out of Competition

The walnut industry of the Pacific coast is for the sixth successive season operating under a federal marketing program, according to A. E. Wright of Portland, Ore., representative of the walnut control board.

From the 1938 crop of merchantable unshelled walnuts produced in California, Oregon and Washington, 80 per cent has been established as the domestic shipping quota and 20 per cent will be withheld from the domestic market and disposed of by the control board in non-competitive channels.

Wright summarized the walnut program by stating that on basis of estimates made early in the season, the coast supply of merchantable walnuts was expected to be approximately 750,000 100-pound bags. Under the surplus control deal at least 600,000 bags were made available to the domestic market. Approximately 150,000 bags were to be used to maintain the position of American walnuts in foreign markets and to fully supply the domestic trade with shelled walnuts, thus curbing imports of shelled walnuts. Proceeds from the sale of surplus will again be augmented by federal export and diversion payments.

In connection with the 600,000-bag allotment to the domestic market, Wright pointed out that under the surplus control program, domestic shipments of unshelled walnuts have steadily increased. He directed attention to the fact that during the first year of the control board's operation, back in 1933-34, the domestic trade absorbed only 450,000 bags of unshelled walnuts. In 1937-38 the domestic trade absorbed approximately 600,000 bags. The industry program has stabilized the domestic market, and in addition, it assures orderly and profitable diversion of surplus out of competition with the domestic shipping quota.

In discussing the crop estimates, Wright stated that while a comparatively light crop is being harvested in some of the large producing counties in southern California, that northern and central California districts and Oregon are harvesting the largest crop in their history. It now seems probable that the production will exceed the early season estimate.

A Study in Contrast

It was a contrast, too, that attendant at the San Mateo County (Calif.) Community Hospital saw when Mrs. Reubelle Spoor, 48, 387-pound mother, held her five-day-old, Shirley, who tipped the scales at five pounds, 15 ounces. Both were reported doing well. (GP Photo.)

LONG TRAINING IS NEEDED FOR FILM BALLET ON SKATES

By Alexander Kahn
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—(UP)—A trained chorus girl requires from two to 10 weeks to learn the routines for a film musical, but a skilled skater needs at least three months practice before she is ready to appear in an ice ballet, and a year of work before she really is proficient in ice ensembles.

These comparative figures were provided by Val Rasat, film dance director, and Frances Mary Claudet, Canadian skating champion, now coaching the "Ice Follies" ballet of 24 girls for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture of that title.

Miss Claudet, recognized as professional Canadian figure-skating champion, also appears in a solo number on the "Ice Follies" program.

"Most of the girls who are with us were amateur champions before they turned professional, and have been skating most of their lives," said Miss Claudet, "but even they must be put through the same rigid course of instruction."

"We don't assume they know any figure perfectly. They practice their left and right outer and inside forward edges and their other movements until they reach the proprietress scratch steps and so on."

Every ice ballet girl must learn to skate in tempo to the piano and must count, just as a dancer does, Rasat pointed out.

If one mistake is made during a public performance or before the camera, in any of the ensemble numbers, the entire ballet is called back for additional rehearsals. Strict discipline is the rule, with the girls weighed regularly every week to see if they are gaining or losing weight.

Just as many a chorus girl has risen to solo billing, so many of the ice ballet girls have risen from the "line" to star billing.

Bess Ehrhardt, the Superior, Wis. girl who now headlines the troupe, was almost unknown when she first joined it. LeVerne Busher joined the company three years ago and also was elevated to a place of her own.

Olives

Date Pudding Assorted Sauce
Coffee

Chicken Loaf
(makes two loaves)
4 cups chopped cooked chicken
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt

1-3 teaspoon paprika
1-3 teaspoon celery salt
1 tablespoon minced parsley
4 tablespoons chicken fat, melted
4 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups hot milk
Mix ingredients. Fill two small loaf pans two-thirds full. Bake for 20 minutes in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven. Remove from water and finish baking for 20 minutes in a moderately slow oven. Unmold carefully and serve whole or cut into slices. Garnish with cream.

Stuffed Apple Salads
12 cored, peeled apples
8 cups boiling water
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
2 lemon slices
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt

Boil apples carefully in water until they are tender. Remove to a shallow pan and sprinkle with the rest of the ingredients. Add two cups of apple stock—water in which the apples are cooked. Bake ten minutes, basting several times. Cool. Chill and serve stuffed.

Green or red fruit coloring may be added to the boiling water.

Stuffing
2-3 cup white cream cheese
1/4 cup nuts
1/2 cup diced celery
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup sliced onion
1/4 cup grated lemon peel
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup mayonnaise

Mix two tablespoons the mayonnaise with rest of the ingredients. Stuff apples and chill. Serve on lettuce. Top with remaining mayonnaise.

SPECULATORS PLAYED IN GRANGE ADDRESS

PORTLAND, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Smith W. Brookhart, ex-U. S. senator from Iowa and champion of much farm legislation, flayed grain and cotton speculators here yesterday. He attended the closing sessions of the National Grange convention.

"The American farmer doesn't get cost of production for his products because his prices are fixed by a bunch of gamblers in the speculative market and he has no voice in the control of those markets," Brookhart said.

Burns To Death
ASTORIA, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Burns suffered when a heating stove ignited her clothing resulted in the death of Mrs. Sophia E. Utzinger, 88, Clatsop county pioneer, yesterday. Mrs. J. W. Carlson attempted to save the aged woman by smothering the flames with a rug.

The Grange

Live Oak Grange
Live Oak Grange met in regular session November 21. In the absence of Worthy Master Otto Fuhrman, Overseer George Hutchins presided.

It was decided to have the annual Christmas party at our second meeting in December.

Lecture hour was spent in relating the enjoyable experiences of the attending national grange in Portland. Four more of our members were able to take the seventh degree work. They were: Rollin Stiehl, Phyllis Miller and Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchins.

500 COUPLES AT FIREMAN'S BALL

A throng of about 500 couples attended the annual firemen's charity ball at Oriental Gardens last night.

The ball was the climax of a Thanksgiving holiday program of social activities and attracted couples from all parts of the county. The dancers were in holiday spirits and an atmosphere of wholesome gaiety prevailed. Many attended the ball to watch the dancers and hear Steve Whipple's orchestra.

Chief Roy Elliott today expressed the department's appreciation of the public's patronage. He said the firemen were grateful for the public's assistance in their Yuletide charity project.

Proceeds from the ball will be used by the firemen in buying materials to recondition old and discarded toys which will be given to underprivileged children at Christmas.
