Zontas Enjoy Recent Meet

The regular business meeting of the Medford Zonta club was held last week at the home of Mrs. Effie H. Kurtz on North Ivy street.

It was announced that the name of the Junior Symphony orchestra has been changed to Southern Oregon symphony orchestra to enable more experienced musicians to participate. The orchestra is a major project of the Zonta club here. The first concert of the season will be presented in the Medford high school auditorium on December 14. Tickets may be obtained from Ethelwyn Hoffman's store, Pruitt's Music and Radio center and Lawrence jewelry store.

A very interesting program followed the business session. A "guess who" contest was given by the following members who gave a brief biographical sketch of the various well known historical characters:

Thora Lawrence, John Huss, Ethelwyn Hoffman, Emperor Franz Joseph; Margaret Fabrick, Masatryk; Janie Smith, Edward Benes; Effie Kurtz, Adolph Hitler and Lura Lynch, Neville Chamberlain.

The Garden Club

The Medford Garden club held another of its very interesting meetings Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. M. Wilson. The door prizes donated by Mrs. C. L. Goff and Mrs. E. E. Wilson were won by Mrs. Roland Beach and Mrs. Carl Fichtner. Mrs. Wilson was able to get KOAC on her radio and for the first half hour members enjoyed Mrs. Nichol's broadcast under the sponsorship of the State Federation of Garden clubs. Mr. Nichols is a nursery man and florist in Corvallis and his timely talk was on the use of Oregon greens and berries as Christmas decorations in the home and as gifts.

After a short business meeting Mrs. E. E. Wilson talked on berry bearing shrubs for Medford gardens. Mr. N. S. Bennett had collected a large number of specimens for Mrs. Wilson to use as illustrations, adding greatly to the interest of club members in Mrs. Wilson's practical and authoritative talk.

Many beautiful arrangements were exhibited by different members. These arrangements were for holiday tables and entrance doors. The club has taken charge of the Christmas lighting contest sponsored annually by the chamber of commerce and all members of the club are urged to take an active part not only in decorating their own homes but in seeing that neighbors and friends register in this contest by calling the chamber of commerce, giving class of decoration, name and address. Prizes will again be given in each classification.

Jane Snedicor was to have spoken on Christmas decorations but after Mr. Nichol's broadcast on that subject she read extracts from an interesting article on the history of Christmas customs in the United States and other lands. The Puritans forbade their people to celebrate the day but in 1677 the general court in New England passed an act which stated that "no one should be hindered from celebrating the day."

In the Dutch colony of New Amsterdam stockings were hung and parties given on Christmas day. In Virginia and the Carolinas the Yule log and feasting marked the day. The Christmas tree and decorating of homes were later introduced as was the old country custom of a lighted candle in the window.

All members present were interested in Mrs. L. G. Gentner's explanation of the use of "Rootone," for rooting plants and she treated cuttings brought by those present.

Tea was served by Mrs. E. M. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Woodford and Mrs. Milton Ottoman.

Many of Medford's leading musicians are lending their efforts toward making this "Oratorio" program one of much interest.

Tips Given On Yule Books Interesting For Children

Many persons find that in doing their Christmas shopping they are undecided and rather at a loss when it comes to purchasing suitable gifts for little children and the older boys and girls, especially if they have in mind some favorite relative for whom a particularly appealing present is desired.

Most children are delighted and genuinely pleased with books but here again is a problem. Just what kind of book would Johnny or little Mary be interested in?

Here is a survey by Mary Graham Bonner of books to give children for Christmas. She is the author of "Sundown Stories."

For little children the book "Stories From A Magic World" by Elizabeth Woodruff is suggested. Gustav Tangren has illustrated this volume.

Boys with an engineering turn of mind would be interested in "All About Subways" by Groff Conklin. This book gives advance planning and, following labor interestingly, describes in detail and photograph.

Children who are animal lovers will like the book "The Golden Ram" by Lee Willenborg. In this novel the ram's viewpoint is told with understanding and dignity.

For young boat enthusiasts "Captain Binnacle" by Howard Pease, will certainly please. A happy combination of imagination and adventure is presented in this book.

Older girls will adore "Adventure For A Song" by Alice Ross Colver. This book portrays an American girl who studies in an English college and makes various trips.

"Wapiti Pete" by Hal Borland will fascinate children in early 'teens. This is the story of an elk. It is absorbing and beautifully written.

Helen Dore Boylston's book "Sue Barton" is the experience of a nurse. It is suggested for older girls.

For both older boys and girls "The Secret of Silver Peak" by Sarah Lindsay Schmidt is suggested. Ranch life, mystery and a romance compose the novel.

Active boys who like plenty of excitement will find it in "The 7th Scout" by Edward P. Hendrick.

A delightful little story of an otter is "Otter" by David M. Stearns. Little children will be more than pleased with it.

Annual Festival of Girl Scouts Friday Evening

The annual Girl Scout International Festival will be presented at the Senior high school gymnasium Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

This festival is a community project and is free of charge. Everyone interested in Girl Scouting is invited to attend. The affair is not offered as a finished product but rather it is a means of bringing together every Girl Scout in the county in one big event.

Over 200 Girl Scouts will participate in this festival. Each will wear her Scout uniform with only accessories of caps and aprons to represent the chosen country.

Interest is keen among the troops to select the country they are most interested in. A different country for each troop has been tried but could not be arranged. However there are only two duplications.

Farm Home Project Plans Formulated At Thursday Meet

A very important meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Presbyterian church parlors. Special music and speakers will be heard during the session but the main object of the meeting is to formulate plans for the sending of gifts and contributions to the Children's Farm Home, a major project of the W.C.T.U. Members and friends are urged to attend this session Thursday and to bring donations for this worth while project.

The Children's Farm Home is a home on a farm for the care of dependent, neglected, abandoned or orphaned children of the state of Oregon. The home consists of cottages and each is operated as a distinct unit with its own kitchen and household duties under the guidance of two matrons, known to the children as "mother" and "auntie." The home is located three miles northeast of Corvallis on the Albany-Corvallis highway. The present child population numbers 170, of this number there are several from Medford and many from Jackson county.

The educational facilities of the home are had chiefly through an elementary school, embracing the highest standards. This school is a unit of the Benton county school system, known as district No. 42, located on the property of the home. Six teachers are employed and special attention is being given to manual training for boys and home economics for girls. All of the children attend a well organized Sunday school which is held each Sabbath morning in "Hinson Hall", as the assembly room of the school is known. The services are undenominational in nature.

The farm consists of 285 acres, 175 of which are under cultivation. The farm is a cooperative project in which the boys and girls have a distinct part and interest. Visitors frequently remark upon the fact that the children speak of "our farm."

The Medford W.C.T.U. asks of citizens here, "what part will you have in giving these boys and girls a chance to become good citizens?"

It is asked that all contributions be sent or brought to the meeting Thursday, either gifts or financial aid will be appreciated.

Large Card Party Near Future Event

St. Ann's Altar society is sponsoring a large card party Tuesday evening, December 13 at 7:30 o'clock.

Dessert dinner will be served after which cards will be enjoyed as well as several other features during the evening.

The affair will be held in the Parish hall on South Oakdale avenue.

M. E. Church Group To Meet Tuesday

The Women's Missionary society of the M. E. church will hold its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church parlor. Mrs. W. W. Walker and committee will have charge of the program and Mrs. A. B. Evans will lead the devotionals. Mrs. W. F. Campbell will again give one of her interesting book reviews. All members are asked to be present.

Child Prodigy Will Be Guest Artist at Symphony Concert

The many valley friends of little Miss Paulena Carter have received invitations to attend her presentation in Stockton, Cal., tomorrow evening.

Paulena, eight-year old pianist, will be the guest artist of the Stockton Symphony Orchestra conducted by Manlio Silva. The Concertstuck, Op. 79 by von Weber will be played.

The child prodigy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carter, well known in southern Oregon. The family now resides in California but is formerly of Ashland.

Paulena visited in Ashland this summer with her parents during the Shakespearean Festival. She is regarded by music critics who have heard her play as one of the most outstanding child pianists in the world. The fact that she often is sought after to be guest artist with symphony orchestras shows clearly the importance of her work.

Past Noble Grands Will Meet Thursday

The regular December meeting of the Past Noble Grands club of the Olive Rebekah lodge will be held at the I.O.O.F. hall Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The annual turkey dinner and Christmas tree will be the main features of the evening's entertainment. Members are reminded to bring their gifts for the Christmas tree.
