LEAGUE OF CITIES REITERATES PLEA TO SHARE GAS TAX

Pro Rata Division Among Cities Would Bring Medford About $18,000 Annually; Many Attend Meet

Return of a small part of the state gasoline tax revenues to the cities for street financing was approved unanimously again at yesterday's district meeting of the League of Oregon Cities here.

For years the league has been advocating a division of the gasoline and motor vehicle revenues so that cities would be enabled to maintain, repair and reconstruct their streets without becoming submerged in debt.

The league proposes to go before the state legislature in January and seek legislation authorizing the return to the cities of a small share of the revenues of the highway commission.

The league will seek to recover for the cities about $800,000 of the highway commissioner's estimated revenue of $14,000,000 for the current year. The funds would be divided pro rata among the cities.

Medford about $18,000 annually. The funds would be allocated for street work only. It is the league's contention that since the cities pay the bulk of the gasoline and motor vehicle taxes, they are entitled to at least a small share of the revenue.

Yesterday's district meeting also approved and referred to the league's legislative committee:

1. Some change in the basic speed law to aid enforcement in cities.

2. Some change in the budget law to allow cities to lay aside money to buy equipment on a cash basis.

3. Revision of the 6 percent budget limitations to permit certain cities to take a tax base.

Meetings Planned
A series of district league meetings was planned to follow the opening session here yesterday afternoon in the Hotel Medford. After a meeting in Klamath Falls last night, sessions were to follow in Burns this afternoon, North Bend tomorrow night, Pendleton Thursday night, the Dalles Friday afternoon and Redmond Friday night.

The district meetings will continue next week in North Bend, Roseburg, Eugene, McMinnville, Seaside, Tillamook, Astoria and Portland.

Mayor Charles H. Huggins of Marshfield, president of the league, presided at the session here. He was assisted by Mayor C. O. Furnas, a director of the league.

Others attending the meeting here were: Charles Kell, councilman, Gold Hill; Ormond R. Bean, city commissioner, Portland; L. S. Wipperfurth, city commissioner, Astoria; J. W. Wipperfurth, city commissioner, Astoria; J. W. Wipperfurth, city commissioner, Astoria; J. W. Wipperfurth, city commissioner, Astoria.
