JAPANESE SHIP LINES IN UNFAIR PRACTICES COMPETITORS ALLEGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Maritime commission announced today it had subpoenaed books, records and correspondence of two large Japanese shipping companies in an investigation of a reported shipping rate war.

The subpoenas were served, the commission said, on the Osaka Syosen Kabuiki Kaisya in New York City and upon Williams, Dimond and Co., agents for the line in San Francisco, and in Seattle upon the Yamashita Kisen Kabushiki Kaisha and its agents Swayne and Hoyt in San Francisco. The rate war was alleged to have been started by these operators, the commission said.

They were summoned to appear at a hearing here December 21.

The commission said its investigation was directed primarily into Japanese shipping activities in ocean trade between South America and Pacific coast ports of the United States.

Numerous protests, a commission spokesman said, have been received from shippers and shipping companies alleging that the Japanese are employing unfair trade practices. The commission said it had been estimated that the alleged practices might result in a loss of at least $25,000 a month to one American flag operator.

The commission said the protest followed "sudden, drastic and allegedly unwarranted reduction in rates, particularly for transporting coffee from South America to United States ports."

HOLMAN REPORTS CAMPAIGN FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Senator-elect Holman (R.-Ore.) reported to the secretary of the senate today he had spent $5556 in his election campaign. He said he had received contributions of $12,801.

In his final report he listed among his contributions Willard P. Hawley, Portland, $500; Thomas Autzen, Portland, $250; A. N. Bush, Salem, $200; C. E. Dent, Portland, $100; Republican Central committee, $100; and Dr. E. H. Utter, Portland, $100.

Robert A. Miller, Democrat defeated for short term U.S. Senator, listed only $3 of contributions since a previous report. His expenses he listed as $228.

PEAR AND APPLE STORAGE LISTED

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Pacific coast and mountain states had 14,548,000 boxes of apples and 2,015,000 boxes of pears in cold storage December 1, the federal bureau of agricultural economics said today.

Holdings in Washington amounted to 11,062,000 boxes of apples and in Oregon 1,150,000. These were 6,000 boxes of packed Bartletts. The remaining 2,009,000 boxes of pears were classified as "other varieties."

OREGON WILD LIFE BRINGS HUGE SUM FROM SPORTSMEN

(Editor's note: This is the second of a series of articles presenting facts and figures on the wild life resources of Oregon, taken from reports issued by the Oregon state planning board on this important resource. The next article will follow in an early issue.)

The social and economic importance of Oregon's wild life resource has never been accurately determined. But studies by the state planning board show that it continues in an important economic role by attracting sportsmen and tourists to Oregon. Scenic attractions, abundant wild life, providing a large revenue to the state, place recreation among the major industries. The benefits of the money spent in pursuit of recreation are distributed to practically every business in Oregon.

Aside from sums expended by the federal government, the only financial support of wild life comes from the sale of licenses, yet the amount spent for licenses is but a small fraction of the outlays made in pursuing the sports of hunting and fishing. Those who gain the greatest benefits from an abundance of wild life contribute nothing to its support except as individual purchasers of licenses. With a great potential habitat for increasing wild life, it would seem good business judgment to support such a valuable resource by providing funds to assist in the restocking and management programs.

However great the economic value of wild life may be, the recreational, esthetic, and educational values should not be overlooked. The state cannot afford to lose a single species of our native game animals, birds and fish.

A thorough scientific study of all phases of wild life problems, the survey shows, is required before complete programs for conservation and management can be formulated. The scientific management of wild life should be in harmony with the other uses for land and water. Fortunately, a vast amount of Oregon is in forests, and the propagation of wild life is an important primary use of the forest areas.

CALIFORNIA CIO ASKS THOROUGH PROBE OF FARMER VIGILANTES

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—(AP)—A thorough investigation of "vigilante activities of the Associated Farmers of California" was asked yesterday at the opening session of the 4-day international convention of the United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers of America, a CIO affiliate.

Paul Callahan, president of the California district of the union, introduced the resolution, which called upon Governor-Elect Culbert L. Olson to prohibit the state highway patrol or other state agencies from "abetting illegal activities of this group," and upon the LaFollette senate civil liberties committee to make the investigation asked.

PROTEST BEATING AMERICAN SCRIBE

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The United States protested today against the reported beating of Robert Sellmer, an American free lance newspaper man, Sunday, before the Memel diet elections.

An official of the American consulate made a special trip to investigate the case of Sellmer, a native of Milwaukee and resident of New York who said he was beaten by three uniformed guards for not replying to the Hitler salute as he was crossing a Memel street.

As a result of the investigation, United States Minister Owen Norem lodged the protest.

Sellmer, in a statement to the Lithuanian bureau of public activities, said two policemen intervened and he was taken to the police station where one policeman held his arms while another beat him in the face with his fists.

THREE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

GRAND COULEE, Wash., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Investigating officers blamed a faulty flue today for the log cabin fire which snuffed out the lives of three children about five miles north of this Grand Coulee dam site last night.

The victims were: Bernice Norton, 12; her brother, Glenn, 6, and Geneva Picard, 5. They were children of Mrs. Lydia Norton, a widow, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Picard of Nespelem.

Their charred bodies were found together in a corner after subsiding of the flames which flared up while their mothers were at a neighbor's for the evening. State Patrolman William Kellogg said the youngsters apparently had tried vainly to reach a window.

Italy Puts Lid on Writer for Times

ROME, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Italian government today notified Arnaldo Cortesi, veteran correspondent of the New York Times, that he must cease serving that newspaper by January 1.

The Ministry of Popular Culture ruled that Cortesi, as an Italian citizen, came within the provisions of an order issued December 3 forbidding Italian newspapermen to correspond for foreign newspapers or agencies.
