Christmas Feast for 1000 Is Job Facing Mrs. McRae

How are you getting along with plans for your Christmas dinner, Mrs. Housewife? Do you feel a trifle weary this week Mrs. McRae, chef of the Gates & Lydiard Groceries store, right now is preparing a Christmas banquet for about a thousand children. And is that a task!

Then, Mrs. Housewife, you can understand how Mrs. McRae, chef of the Gates & Lydiard Groceries store, right now is preparing a Christmas banquet for about a thousand children. And is that a task!

charge of the banquet preparations. Under Ole's supervision, cooking of the turkeys will be completed by 8 a.m.

Carving of the birds will begin at 8 a.m. The carved turkeys will be returned to the warming ovens to be kept tender, tasty and succulent under scientific heat control. At noon they will be taken to the steam tables and warming ovens at the Elks temple.

Meantime the cooking of other food will be under way. At 8 a.m. Friday, 300 pounds of potatoes will be cooked, to be followed two hours later by 25 gallons of green peas. Between times 12 gallons of gribet gravy will be made.

Earlier in the day, about 3 a.m., cooks will begin work on 75 chocolate layer cakes. During the morning 2000 banquet rolls will be cooked. 1200 Christmas cookies having been made the day before. Forty gallons of ice cream will be made Thursday afternoon.

All of this special banquet work must be done along with the regular Groceria kitchen tasks. Everything is planned to split minutes. To prepare the banquet on time and to a king's taste, all the Groceria staff and assisting workers must function on a rigid schedule. In fact, a careful time schedule is made out in advance and everything must stick to the minute. It is an expert job of timing. But the staff members love it, for they realize they are really creating Christmas joy for the poor kids of Jackson county.

It gives us all real Christmas happiness," Ole says. "The best Christmas joy comes from making the holiday merry for children."
