Smallest Dealing Since
August 31—Mild Rallies
Dips Feature Session—
Bulls Expect New Flurry

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The stock market's war buying temperature fell to something less than normal today and price trends shifted over a narrowly irregular route. After a fairly lively opening, dealings dwindled appreciably and, in the afternoon, the ticker tape occasionally came to a full stop. Transfers of approximately 1,500,000 shares were the smallest for a 5-hour session since August 31.

The list got off to a hesitant start in the matter of prices, with steels and other recent climbers taking a step or two backward. There were several interests acquiring either through the remainder of the day. Scattered merchandising, rail, rail equipment and specialty stocks commanded the principal purchasing attention.

Many sold-out bulls, while looking for a resumption of the forward sprint eventually, were believed to have remained as on-lookers in view of their theory the lengthy upsurge of the past two weeks would be followed by a good technical reaction in which they could get back in at much more attractive levels than at present.

The British pound took another bad tumble in terms of the dollar, falling to a new six-year low before recovering, and this tended to chill trading sentiment to a considerable extent.

Steels steadied after the initial slip-up when forecasts were heard of a big rebound in mill operations in the coming week.

Today's closing prices for 32 selected stocks follow:

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE SLIGHTLY DOWN AFTER NERVOUS FLUCTUATION
Chicago, Sept. 15.—(AP)—After fluctuating nervously within a range of more than two cents a bushel, wheat prices closed slightly lower today.
The market was depressed by hedging sales on the part of comparatively mild rallies and dips wheat or flour as well as some profit taking. On the other hand, buying that lifted prices a cent or more above yesterday's close at times was encouraged by reports of unfavorable moisture conditions in the winter wheat belt.

WEEK'S RETAIL TRADE 8 TO 12 PER CENT OVER SAME TIME LAST YEAR
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Expanding in line with seasonal expectations the week's retail trade throughout the nation ran from 8 to 12 per cent ahead of the corresponding period last year, the Dun & Bradstreet weekly review said today.
"Retailers as a rule," asserted this review, "made every effort to maintain normal trading conditions; established retail price brackets were held unchanged and reference to war-time factors was avoided in advertising copy."
"After last week's sudden rush of buying wholesale markets presented a more normal appearance. Orders continued heavy over a wide range of goods but buyers were taking time to appraise the situation carefully before expanding commitments beyond current and ordinary needs."
"Where changes in prices were necessitated by the sharp advances in primary markets, increases were being put into effect gradually."

GRID OFFICIALS TALK OVER RULES
Coaches and officials of the Southern Oregon football conference met in Ashland last night with Jean Eberhart, Southern Oregon College of Education athletic coach and "czar" of the prep gridiron loop, to discuss rules, rule-changes and their interpretation.
Medford officials attending the meeting were Bernie Hughes, Virgil Swanson, Riney Cook, George Harrington and George Robertson. From Klamath Falls were Dwight French and Fred Plock. Parker Hess, Clyde Young and Leonard Warren attended from Ashland, and Erickson attended from Grants Pass.
Head coaches of the four conference schools were present. They were Bill Bowerman of Medford, Skeet O'Connell of Ashland, Snowy Gustafson of Klamath Falls and Loren Tuttle of Grants Pass.

Wool Prices Soar In Portland Sales
PORTLAND, Sept. 15.—(P)—Wool prices ranged from 25 1/2 to 37 cents yesterday when 443,000 pounds were sold in 15 clips to Boston, Philadelphia and Portland buyers at a Portland auction.
They were the highest in several years. The last previous auction, August 10, brought prices ranging from 22 1/2 to 28 1/2 cents.
Slight Shock
LEXINGTON, Ky.—(P)—George Wilson, 26-year-old tinner, hardly let 2,500 volts of electricity throw him off his stride. While working on a roof he touched a high tension wire with his head and was shocked unconscious. Taken to a hospital, Wilson was released the next day and said he felt no serious effects.
Boys Create Have
PHILADELPHIA.—(UP)—A group of boys turned a control rod on a broken fire plug. A five-foot geyser flooded the intersection, marooned a gasoline station, cut water supply from nearby homes overnight and caused an ice cream plant employing 20 persons to suspend operations for nearly a day.
Ukraine Manganese
MOSCOW.—(UP)—The mining of manganese ore by water has been started as an experiment in one pit of the Nikopol manganese mines of the Ukraine. The water ejected under a pressure of 14 atmospheres from hydraulic guns installed in the mine, crushes the ore, converting it into a mass.

'Please Don't Run Over My Boy'
Dear Medford Driver:
Today my boy, who is just 11, started to school again. He has his hair combed, for a change, and wore his new cords, and while he griped about starting the old grind again, just as I used to, I could tell that he really didn't mind. He'll come home tonight with a long tale about his new teacher, how it feels to be "a big sixth-grader," and how he's going to make the softball team.
That is, I hope he will. You see, when he's home and his mother and I can sort of look after him, keep him off busy streets, we feel reasonably secure. If he cuts his finger or barks his shin, we can fix him up, kid him along, and everything's swell.
But when we send him off to school, as we did today, when he walks across the busy streets between our house and school, he's in your hands.
He's a nice kid, and he can run like a deer, and ride a bike and kick a football, and ask more questions than any six kids I know. But I can't be with him all the time, nor can his mother. I have to work to provide a home for him and buy shoes and pay taxes so he can go to school. You know how it is.
So, please help me look out for him when he goes to school. Please drive carefully at intersections, and remember that kids dart out from behind parked cars, and don't always obey the traffic patrols at safety lanes.
I'll do as much for your little boy or girl.
Please don't run over my boy. He's all I have.
His Father.
