

Roosevelt Calls on Congress to Repeal Arms Embargo

President Roosevelt, shown speaking, told the senators and representatives repeal of the arms embargo was necessary because it was "most vitally dangerous to American neutrality, security and peace." He said he could offer no hope that the "shadow over the world might swiftly pass." The house chamber was crowded as the chief executive spoke. (A. P. photo by airmail to Mail Tribune).

Duce's Newspaper Advises Acceptance Hitler's Offer

By Richard G. Massock
 ROME, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia today urged Adolf Hitler's overtures to accept what it called his offer of a limit on Germany's expansion and end the European war. Many observers believed Il Duce himself had written the two-column article giving this advice.

If the fight continued, Il Popolo warned, other statesmen might find themselves refugees of war, such as Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Premier Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, Premier Juan Negrin of Republican Spain, and Foreign Minister Josef Beck of Poland.

Meanwhile, Italy continued her military preparations, Mussolini conferred with Gen. Luigi Negri, commander of the Alpine troops, on defenses of the frontier.

Il Popolo's editorial recalled an "imaginary dialogue on the Thames" between Haile Selassie and Benes written by Mussolini last December in which both bemoaned their failure to yield to Italy and Germany.

The editorial reviewed "the shades of the conquered" and continued: "Last of the series is Beck, a man who found an honorable way of salvation and refused it, considering himself guaranteed, very guaranteed, absolutely armored with guarantees."

Il Popolo then referred ominously to "conversations on the Vistula, the Pruth, the Danube" (rivers through or bounding Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia) and said conversations might come tomorrow on the Seine or again on the foggy Thames.
