

20,000 KILLED IN JAPANESE ATTACK IN CHANGSHA AREA

Each Side Loses Ten Thousand In Bitter Fight For South Central China Key-point—Japs Are Near

SHANGHAI, Sept. 25.—(Tuesday)—Chinese and Japanese reports today estimated 20,000 soldiers had been killed in the current Japanese drive on Changsha, in south central China.

Japanese said their forces had advanced to within 25 miles of Changsha. Earlier Chinese reports said the Japanese had been repulsed 60 miles from the city which had been partly destroyed last October because a Japanese drive was expected then.

Each side asserted it had killed 10,000 soldiers.

Advices from Poochow, on the coast at the same time said that at least 1,000 persons were killed or wounded last week during Japanese bombings of northern Fukien province.

While Europe was occupied with its war, Japan apparently sought to strike a major blow in her 26-month-old conflict with China.

Chinese authorities, however, declared their forces had prevented coordinated air, land and naval attacks from developing into a major drive from the Yangtze river southward toward Changsha, objective of a Japanese drive since Tokyo reached a truce with Russia regarding the Manchoukuo frontier.

Steady Fighting
A westward attack aimed at Changsha from Nanking, in Kiangsi province, reportedly brought steady fighting on fronts extending 300 miles from east to west and 100 miles from north to south.

The Chinese were said to have destroyed many bridges and dug numerous tank traps in the area.

(A Japanese report in Hongkong said Japanese raiding planes had dropped mixed loads of bombs and propaganda leaflets to the west and north of Changsha.

(Chinese in Hongkong reported 2,000 Japanese casualties in an unsuccessful attempt to advance toward Changsha from footholds in the south bank of the Sinsiang river and Lake Tungting.)

Roguedale Cafe On Rogue River Opens With Sunday Dinner

The new Roguedale Cafe made its debut to southern Oregon people Sunday and a steady flow of people visited this new Shady Cove resort and enjoyed home cooked chicken dinners, prepared personally by Mrs. F. K. Barnes.

The new cafe, located just north of the Shady Cove bridge on Rogue River, is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Barnes. The new dining room is finished in knotty pine with a cheerful fireplace at one end. Dinners are served family style, following the pattern of the old Sunnyside Hotel at Eagle Point which was once a widely known dining spot in southern Oregon.

The Roguedale Cafe is located on the attractive Roguedale property of D. E. Millard. Extensive plans for beautifying this area and establishing a recreation center are now being worked out.

ATTORNEY MOODY OPENING PRIVATE OFFICE IN SALEM

SALEM, Sept. 25.—(Sp)—Ralph E. Moody, until recently special coordinator in the prosecution of the labor terrorism cases and for five years prior to that time assistant attorney general of Oregon, will open private law offices in the Guardian building here on October 1. He will confine his practice to the field of consulting counsel and to brief work in the supreme court.

Except for one or two cases yet to be finally disposed of, in which he will continue to assist by special arrangement with the state, Mr. Moody wound up his duties as coordinator on the "noon" cases on August 1.

Besides his service to the state, which included prosecution as special assistant attorney general of the Jackson county ballot theft and the Banks murder case in the early 1930s, Mr. Moody served as special assistant of the United States attorney general from 1922 to 1926 with headquarters in Washington, D. C., although his special duties took him into almost every state in the nation.

His first public service after graduation from Willamette university and the Albany, N. Y., law school was as district attorney of the old third district, comprising five counties in Washington. After that he entered private practice in Portland and acted as consulting attorney for the Union Pacific railroad there until 1908. He served as general counsel for the Southern Pacific in Oregon from 1908 to 1916.

Returning to private practice in 1926 he was affiliated in Chicago as associate counsel with the firm of Sims, Godman & Strinsky for four years before returning to Oregon, where he located in Medford. He came to Salem as assistant attorney general in 1933. In 1935-36 he conducted the special grand jury gambling investigations in Marion county at the direction of Governor Martin.

$25 FINE LEVIED FOR VENISON POSSESSION BEFORE SEASON OPEN

Charles Comodore Carpenter, route 1, Rogue River, charged with possession of deer meat during a closed season, was fined $25 and costs in justice court last Saturday.

Carpenter was arrested by a state police game warden, the day before the season opened and claimed the deer meat, which he had canned for winter use, was killed two weeks earlier, by another person.

Nellie E. Chamberlain of Shady Cove, charged with non-possession of a driver's license, and Walter Dennis Clark of Eagle Point, charged with the same offense, were each fined $2.50 and costs.

John W. Bigham, route 3, Medford, charged with operating a trailer without a red light, was given a suspended sentence upon recommendation of the district attorney.

GRANTS PASS V. F. W. FAVOR 'CASH, CARRY'

A poll of the Grants Pass Veterans of Foreign Wars post last week showed 17 in favor of the United States adopting neutrality with a "cash and carry" plan in sale of munitions to belligerents while six favored strict neutrality. Two were for entrance in the war to the extent of providing the allies supplies on credit.

The poll was on the basis of the Mail Tribune's questionnaire which has been placed before a number of veterans' organizations of this area recently.

SHELL HEATING OILS The Heat That Never Fails

Famous Yachtsman calls Camels "The best cigarette buy" "THEY BURN LONGER, COOLER, AND THAT'S IMPORTANT"

SAYS JOHN S. DICKERSON, JR.

Whatever price you pay per pack, it's important to remember this fact: By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to

5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK

Cigarettes were compared recently... sixteen of the largest-selling brands... under the searching tests of impartial laboratory scientists. Findings were announced as follows:

- 1 CAMELS were found to contain more tobacco by weight than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.
- 2 Camels burned slower than any other brand tested—25% slower than the average time of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!
- 3 In the same tests, Camels held their ash for longer than the average time for all the other brands.

MORE PLEASURE PER PUFF... MORE PUFFS PER PACK! PERRY FOR PENNY YOUR BEST CIGARETTE BUY

NATURALLY, a cigarette noted for its generous content of better tobacco gives you better cigarette value, doesn't it? Especially when that same brand smokes longer, slower—gives more smoking—than the average of all the other 15 brands compared in laboratory tests! Yes, there is such a cigarette. Its name is Camel. Full details are told at right—the results of recent searching tests by impartial scientists. These tests confirm what many smokers have long observed for themselves. For instance, "Jack" Dickerson (above, left), prominent in yachting circles of the Eastern seaboard, says: "Yacht racing is one hobby of mine and you might call Camel cigarettes another. I turned to Camels because they burn longer, smoke milder. They go further—give extra smoking and always have a fresh, appealing flavor." You get real cigarette contentment with Camels. They are mellow and fragrant with the aroma of choice tobaccos in a matchless blend. Turn to Camels, the cigarette of costlier tobaccos that burns longer, giving more pleasure and more smoking.
