WINDOW GLASS—We sell window glass and will replace your broken windows reasonably. Trowbridge Cabinet Works.

TASTY—A native straw hat and a native drink, led cocoanut milk, combine for Col. Edward S. Bres whom Puerto Ricans elected an honorary "Jibaro," or native mountain man. The cologne, formerly of New Orleans, was named head of the National Reserve officers in Puerto Rico.

Miss Gertrude Adamson of Tacoma, Wash., was married recently to Francis Putman of Medford and the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Curtis, on South Sheridan avenue in Tacoma.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Ned Adamson, wore a white net redingote over blue crepe. Her flowers were yellow roses. Miss Minnie Putman was her maid of honor. She was gowned in flowered crepe and carried pink Talliman roses.

The Rev. Ernest Goulder of St. Paul's Methodist church united the couple in marriage in a room decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums and dahlias.

Mrs. Curtis, who wore a gown of forest green and a corsage of Cecil Brunner roses, received the guests.

For a going-away ensemble, the bride wore a teal blue suit with cerise and black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Putman will be at home to their friends after October 5 in this city.

Among guests at the wedding were James, Barbara, Arise and Glenda Curtis, Mrs. W. B. Mills and Richard Milne, the bride's sisters, Mrs. Theron Taylor and Mrs. John Carnes of Eagle Point and Peggy and Shirley Carnes and Miss Minnie Putman, sister of the bridegroom. Lloyd Adamson came from Kelso, Wash.

Necklaces bright as a maharajah's gleam from the necklines of sober black frocks, which may be worn without another vestige of color in hat, bag or gloves. A platoon of turquoise beads and gold filigree moons falls over a snuff brown crepe, while a "bib" of gold globes swings from a green bead rope gleams at the neckline of a sage-green dress.

Again, the bright fashion badge appears in some other jewel. A coppery gold rose gleams on a beaver puff, a big gold lizard set with pink and black pearls rests near the tailored lapel of a black wool suit or a blazing rhinestone bouquet flashes from the neckline of an afternoon frock.

Some fashion banners consist of accents of fur—a Chamberlain's umbrella handle, a muff and hat all of the same pelt, worn with a wool frock or suit. Comes a leopard fella, umbrella handle and muff with a snuff brown suit. Goes a beaver-trimmed muff-bag, gloves and toque with an olive green frock.

The little fur jackets of beaver, Persian lamb and marten which top so many frocks, sometimes are worn with jeweled clips gleaming against a lapel.

Again fashion's bright banner flies alone in the hat. Broochs, which are legion, are sometimes accented with twin flag-red velvet bows. Cascades of feathers fall from the backs of sober felt hats.

Or the bright badge may be seen in the belt. A snuff brown wool fastened with gold buttons has a flaming scarlet belt six inches wide centered and held in place with a two-inch belt of polished brown calf. A gold chateleine chain belts a demure gray wool.

Hands make noteworthy fashion accents too. Grayed, medium-green gloves are sometimes worn with all black costumes or bright Robin Hood red ones with suits of forest green (one of the smartest and most talked of color combinations of the season). Bags, on the other hand, are likely to reflect the more sober color of the costume.

Medford Man Wed Recently In Tacoma Wash.

Miss Gertrude Adamson of Tacoma, Wash., was married recently to Francis Putman of Medford and the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Curtis, on South Sheridan avenue in Tacoma.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Ned Adamson, wore a white net redingote over blue crepe. Her flowers were yellow roses. Miss Minnie Putman was her maid of honor. She was gowned in flowered crepe and carried pink Talliman roses.

Doris Houston Will Wed Later Resident Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Houston of Trail announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Doris Houston of Medford to Frank M. Boothby of Prospect, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Boothby.

The wedding will be an event of November 17 at the home of the bride-to-be at 518 North Bartlett street. Miss Houston chose the 24th wedding anniversary of her parents for her marriage date.

She is a graduate of the Eagle Point high school and Mr. Boothby attended the Prospect schools. They have made their homes in the Rogue River valley for many years and are well known.

Mrs. Warner to Address Club

Medford Garden club will gather Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. G. Thayer, 2525 Lyman avenue.

Mrs. Olen Anspiger and Mrs. Gipsy Driver will be the assistant hostesses.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. W. J. Warner will tell about her recent interesting trip and the gladioli shows in the east which she and Mr. Warner attended.

D.U.V. Enjoys Recent Meeting

Etta Duell Hubbs, tent No. 11, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war, met in regular session Friday evening at the armory. After the business meeting the social committee consisting of Mabel Klum, Maude Holmes and Grace Guyer, entertained the members and visitors with a program. Mrs. William Uhrine, a granddaughter of the organization, presented in a charming manner three vocal numbers accompanied on the piano by Kenneth Raymond.

Miss Ora Cox, national officer, gave a very interesting report of the national convention held in Pittsburgh in August.

Ten guests from Grants Pass, members of Julia Dent Grant tent, were present at the meeting.

Refreshments were served later on a table attractively appointed with silver and crystal, fall flowers and pink tapers.

John Reisacher Home from East

John Reisacher, Medford piano instructor, returned Thursday to his Pruitt apartment from the east where he enjoyed a month and a half sojourn.

Mr. Reisacher made the trip east with his sister, Mrs. J. A. Plak, of Portland who joined her husband in New York to reside. The local man attended the world's fair and visited friends in Chicago and Cheyenne, Wyo. He stopped in Condon to visit his parents before returning to Medford.

Mr. Reisacher has re-opened his music studio.

OREGON FIRST TO FILL ARMY QUOTA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The war department announced today that the Oregon national guard filled within one week its quota of 913 new recruits ordered by President Roosevelt.

The state was the first to fill its quota after President Roosevelt directed that the national guard be expanded by 45,000 men as a national emergency measure.
