Beauty is Paramount in the 1940 Chrysler Line

The "Beautiful Chrysler for 1940", 6-passenger sedan. Note the longer hood, cleaner lines and attractive radiator grille with horizontal chrome molding.

Rear view of the "Beautiful Chrysler for 1940", 6-passenger sedan. Note the completely redesigned rear end, including a stone deflector. The rear window has been increased 16 percent in size, and is made of curved plate glass.

Striking front view of the "Beautiful Chrysler for 1940", 6-passenger sedan. Note the longer hood, cleaner lines and attractive radiator grille with horizontal chrome molding.

Completely redesigned and restyled, the Chrysler line for 1940 represents what the company considers its outstanding achievement in beauty. It is, in fact, an entirely new line with beauty so definitely the motif that in all its advertising the promotion efforts the company refers to the cars as the "Beautiful Chryslers for 1940". Along with its improved appearance, the car has been bettered mechanically in many respects. The result is that it has an improved performance, added comfort, greater safety and superlative riding qualities to match its eye appeal.

Six models, comprising a total of 26 body styles, are offered. These are designated as the Royal, Windsor, Traveler, New Yorker, Saratoga, and Crown Imperial.

The Royal is offered in the Three-passenger coupe, Six-passenger coupe, Six-passenger sedan, Eight-passenger sedan and Eight-passenger sedan-limousine. The Windsor has all these body styles, plus a Six-passenger convertible coupe. Body styles in the Traveler are the Three-passenger sedan-limousine and Six-passenger sedan. In the New Yorker all these may be had plus a Six-passenger convertible coupe. The Saratoga comes in but one body style, a Six-passenger sport formal, with combination leather and cloth trim. The Crown Imperial, corresponding to last year's Custom Imperial, lists a Six-passenger sedan, Eight-passenger sedan and Eight-passenger sedan-limousine.

Chrysler's "Cruise and Climb" transmission (overdrive) is offered as extra equipment at added cost in all models save the Royal and Traveler and is standard in the Crown Imperial. The famous Fluid Drive, introduced with such marked success last year in the Custom Imperial and later made available in the Imperial models, is offered in the New Yorker and Saratoga as extra equipment at added cost and is standard in the Crown Imperial. In all cases where Fluid Drive is used, overdrive is essential.

All models are similar in appearance, differing only in size and the quality and variety of trim and equipment.

The front end has been simplified Release Sept. 24.

Both front and rear seat have been widened, giving the cars actually greater seat width than most of the famous Airflights, which set new standards in this respect. Leg room has been increased three inches in the rear compartment.

Another Airflight feature is the use of full width doors to the rear compartment. The rear edge of these doors drops in a straight line, instead of having the usual "dog's leg" design. This means that entrance and exit are facilitated and that women do not risk scuffing or musing their costumes in the doorways. It also permits the rear door window-glass to be lowered completely out of sight. Rubber seals have been placed around all doors, to keep out drafts and dust.

The rear window has been simplified Release Sept. 24.

Interior has been restyled and made more beautiful by a thoroughly modern treatment. The hood is longer than those of the 1939 cars. The radiator grille, with horizontal rustler steel moldings, gives the
