DALADIER'S ADDRESS RECEIVED KINDLY BY GERMAN GOVERNMENT

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Authorized German sources said today official Germany sees no conflict between the war aims expressed by Premier Daladier yesterday—security, defense of his country, guarantee for European peace—provided those are France's real war aims—and the peace proposals of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's reitigant speech.

The German government apparently is willing to regard the French premier's strictures on leading German personalities as intended for home consumption. Likewise his presentation of German aims are forgiven him, although sharply rejected by the German viewpoint, these sources said, provided his basic demands are for security and guarantees.

(Daladier said Britain and France would "continue to fight" until they obtained definite guarantees of security and "lasting peace in Europe.") German sources do not think Daladier can prevail on the French poliu to venture out from his Maginot line and attack Germany if the proclaimed French war aims are defense and security.

American Scribes On Western Front

FUR DEPARTMENT LATEST ADDITION AT MANN'S STORE

Caracul, ermine, mink, kolinsky, lamb and muskrat are just a few of the beautiful furs to be had in Mann's new fur department which was formally opened today.

With addition of this new fur feature it is now possible to be clothed from tip to toe at Mann's for the gorgeous furs will spell the final word for making attractive and complete outfits for Mann's many patrons.

Jo Rostel, manager of the new department points out that at the present the large varieties of fur coats are specially priced but that furs will be one of the first articles of clothing to be affected in prices by the war. Mrs. Rostel also stated that much time and effort had been expended in selection of the type of furs which her department desired for the hundreds of women shoppers in southern Oregon and the Mann's outlet for the fur department located the best in fashions, furs and prices before adding the special section.

In the group are chubbies, hip-length fur coats which add so much to an ensemble, full-length coats, and quarter-length coats. Rich colors of browns, blacks and grays are featured. Not only is the selection of coats varied but separate neckpieces are also available. One little number is especially appealing—a scarf fashioned from six skins of Kolinsky and cleverly put together to form an important part of any outfit.

In the complete fur selection sizes run from 12 to 46 and other sizes may be obtained by overnight service, Mrs. Rostel said. She also invited southern Oregon patrons to drop in to the fur department for a glance at the latest fur models which are also on display in Mann's store windows.

DEMO TREASURER TELLS FUND NEED

PORTLAND, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Oliver A. Quayle, Jr., treasurer of the Democratic national committee, arrived in Oregon last night to confer with state party leaders on the annual Jackson Day campaign fund drive.

Quayle refused to talk of candidates and declared "finances are my business." He hoped the campaign would bring the Democrats "three-fourths of a million dollars" for the 1940 campaign.

"The Republicans have only one thing we don't have," he asserted. "That's money. They have tons of it. We need only a half-ton to do the job."

AIRMAN MAKES WAY TO CITY AFTER LEAP IN CANADIAN WILDS

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 11.—(CP)—Second Lieut. Edward B. Saxon, object of a widespread aerial search in Washington after he and private W. E. Shane disappeared on a flight from Spokane to Port Lewis, Wash., arrived here today, safe after he and his companion jumped from their crashing plane.

But Saxon said he does not know what happened to Shane after the two parachuted to earth near Keeters, B. C., Monday afternoon.

Stiff, sore and unshaven after 26 hours in the British Columbia wilderness, Saxon related how he told Shane to jump when the plane's gasoline ran low. A moment later he himself bailed out from 1,000 feet and landed in an evergreen tree which broke his fall.

He saw the ship crash in a mass of tangled wreckage but did not go to it after he parachuted to earth.

"I did not see Shane again after he jumped," said Saxon, member of the Washington National Guard at Spokane.

"I was flying south when we jumped and I told him to follow a river, which turned out to be the Douglas river, and we were to meet. But he never showed up and I thought the best thing to do would be to get out to civilization and organize a search party."

COLD, SNOW THREATEN RUINATION FOR CROPS OF MATANUSKA VALLEY

PALMER, Alaska, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Cold and snow threaten ruin today for former middle-west drought farmers who colonized a new land to escape dust and heat.

Dog teams and snowshoes were utilized by colonists on the government-sponsored Matanuska valley farm project to fight a sudden and unexpected early snowfall that buried crops.

Nearly every farmer lost something in the 12 to 18-inch snowfall. The temperature hovered around the 10 above zero mark. The crop situation was the most serious since the colony was formed more than four years ago.

Only a small portion of grain had been harvested; the rest, about 80 per cent, was in shock in the field or uncut, the latter being flattened by the first snowfall Sunday.

Acres of market garden produce were caught unharvested, fields of cabbage were blowing bare and freezing swiftly.

Colonists said it was impossible to estimate the "untold damage".

A stated communication of Reames chapter, O. E. S., will be held Thursday evening, October 12, at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. Visiting members are invited.

Lillian Gray, W. M., Harry M. Alden, Sec'y.
