Voters League To Meet Monday

Jackson County Women's League of Voters will gather Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Girls' Community clubhouse for a panel discussion on "Know Your Town," a survey of the city taken last summer. Mrs. Stephen Nye Jr. will lead the discussion.

Others who will participate in survey reports are Mesdames W. A. Thompson, Raymond Fish, Maurice Spatz, Porter J. Neff, Paul Janney, Jack Spalding, Marjorie Pena, O. A. Eden, Leonard Carpenter and Miss Marjorie Kelly.

Rindts Return From Long Trip

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Rindt returned to Medford recently from an extensive trip spent in North Dakota and Wisconsin. While in the latter state they visited Mr. Rindt's mother in Milwaukee and other relatives and later went to Madison, Wis., where they were guests of Mr. Rindt's sister and family.

In Hankinson, Wis. they visited Mr. Rindt's brother and stopped to see relatives in different parts of the state. This marked their first trip back to their home state for 16 years at which time they moved to Oregon.

Ebel Home Will Be Party Scene

American Legion auxiliary will sponsor a card party next Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. R. H. Ebel on South Oakdale avenue.

Table reservations may be made by calling either Mrs. Ebel or Mrs. H. J. Meiring. This event will be the first of a series to be given during the winter months.

On October 25, the regular auxiliary sewing meeting will be held at the Medford armory. Committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Ruth Parker, Mrs. Helen Collier and Mrs. Norma Martin.

Many "Kids" Attend School Evening

The Junior high school auditorium was filled to capacity Tuesday evening as numerous parents trooped there for a "back to school evening." The very successful affair was sponsored by the school Parent-Teachers association and hereafter will join the annual events.

A brief business session was conducted by P-T-A. President Mrs. William Holloway. Later a program was enjoyed with Irving Beesley in the role of the "old singing master." Mrs. Lois Young accompanied. The many "kids" entered into the school spirit and joined in the singing.

Miss Delie Whelan, acting school principal, presented an interesting subject, "Why Have a Junior High School?" She gave a vivid picture of the advancement of that part of the school system and pointed out the percentage of students that dropped out of school under the old system compared with the small group that drops out under the present system. She attributed the decline to the vast number of activities offered the students now.

The "parent kids" then attended classes. Those getting lost in the halls were directed by the school Bull Dog Teachers explained to the visitors subjects taught.

Later refreshments were served in the school cafeteria.

Miss Leslie Is Party Honoree

Miss Rosalie Leslie was honored at a birthday party Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Davis entertained.

Guests included Miss Leslie, Miss Iris Zupann, Miss Helen Westway, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Ferguson, Mickey McMullen, Arthur Lewis, Lowell Iverson and Mrs. Mary Connell.

Games were enjoyed throughout the evening and a birthday cake was presented to the honoree.

Merritt Group Enjoys Meet

Merritt circle of the Presbyterian church convened Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. O. Randolph on Pennsylvania avenue. Mrs. B. L. Sanders, circle president, presided. Plans were formulated at the session for a bazaar to be held December 7. Refreshments concluded the meeting.

Lois Frazee Visits Parents

Miss Lois Frazee arrived in Medford recently to spend a week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Frazee. Miss Frazee is a student at the Stanford school of nursing in San Francisco, Cal.

Nefts Travel To Bay City

Mr. and Mrs. Porter J. Neff are spending a week in San Francisco on a combined business and pleasure trip.

NELSON E. MORRIS CALLED BY DEATH

Nelson Edgar Morris, 49, a resident of Medford for the past five years, passed away at a local hospital early Thursday after a brief illness.

Mr. Morris was born at Marengo, Ill., July 14, 1890. He spent his early life in Illinois, coming west in 1911 and living on the Pacific coast since that time. He was united in marriage to Ida Schelle at Portland, Ore., July 5, 1935.

He was a salesman for the P. Lorillard Tobacco company and had been with them for the past 11 years, making Medford his headquarters.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ida Morris, of Medford, two sons, Charles Morris, Riverside, Cal., and Richard Morris, Seattle, Wash. His mother, Mrs. Frank Marcellus of Clinton, Iowa, two sisters, Mrs. Frank Bohar of Clinton, Wis., Mrs. William Hale of Clinton, Iowa.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Perj funeral home Saturday at 10:30 a. m., Rev. S. L. Divins of the First Presbyterian church officiating.

Friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral services.

The Grange

Central Point Grange. Regular meeting of Central Point Grange was held Oct. 8.

The names of Julia Elliott and Chester McKibben were submitted for membership. Debts were granted to Arden Tyrrell and Arletta Tyrrell, who now live at Rogue River. We are very sorry to lose them from our membership.

Sales slips were turned in to the secretary and members reminded to have all slips from the firms who advertise in the Grange Bulletin.

During the summer months the grange has been meeting at 8:30 o'clock. Beginning with next meeting, Oct. 20, grange will be held at the regular time, 8 o'clock.

Next meeting there will be a birthday cake for members who had birthdays during the last quarter.

Grange has voted to have a harvest festival and carnival Friday, October 27.

Ways and means committee is working out details and everyone is anticipating a jolly evening. All members are asked to reserve this date, Oct. 27, and are also asked to bring friends. Members of other granges are given a special invitation.

MARTIN REPEATS DICTATOR CHARGE AGAINST CIO HEAD

John L. Lewis' Real Purpose to Destroy American Labor Movement, Declares A. F. L. Unit Chieftain

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12.—(AP)—William Green was re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor today for the 15th time.

Frank Duffy, Indianapolis, an officer of the carpenters' union, resigned as first vice-president and William Hutcheson, carpenters' union president, was elected his successor.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor received today the resignation of its veteran secretary-treasurer, Frank Morrison, and heard from Homer Martin a declaration that the real purpose of John L. Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organizations was "to destroy the American labor movement."

In his first speech to a federation gathering since his faction of the United Auto Workers International switched from CIO to AFL, Martin renewed many of his "dictator" charges against Lewis, asserting the CIO chief held the greatest "contempt for autonomous rights of CIO affiliates."

No Aid Given E.U.A.W. He charged too, that Lewis and his organization made no contributions to the upbuilding of the U.A.W., nor aided it with funds in its strike against General Motors in 1937. But Lewis has spent, he declared, upwards of $1,500,000 since last January "to capture and control" the auto workers union. The UAW split into two camps early this year.

Martin, a one-time clergyman, charged Lewis set up CIO because of his ambition "to control a labor empire."

"Since he could not control the American Federation," he said, "his first objective was to destroy it. In his mad scheme, he was joined by the inveterate enemies of the American labor movement, the communist party."

Secretary Since 1896 In announcing his retirement, Morrison said:

"I do it with a full heart. All circumstances considered, it will be helpful to the trade union movement at this time."

Morrison, 80 next November, has been secretary since 1896. Trade union leaders predicted George Meany, president of the New York State Federation of Labor and member of the plumbers' union, would succeed him. Delegates created a $6,000 a year retirement compensation for Morrison.

What will we do about that? Are we going to have our commerce destroyed because there is a war in Europe? Who says that we shall treat all nations alike?

Why not have one or three good men to guide the good old U.S.A. and let the congressmen go home and fix up their political fences?

Make this country strong enough so that any other country that jumps onto us will be glad to jump off. Money spent in this country is well spent and better than having a war.

Build more war vessels and more airplanes.

Our men need the work.

Then tell Germany to attend to her business and we will try to attend to ours.

Columbus Day Is Red Letter For Foes of "Buck-Passing"

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Today was a great anniversary for people who spend their lives battling buck-passing and red tape, for Christopher Columbus was their pioneer.

He got the runaround a dozen times in succession before he put across his scheme for exploring the western world. They not only laughed at Columbus—they laughed at him for 16 years straight.

He first broached the idea to King John of Portugal in 1482. The king referred him to the council for geographical affairs. And they turned him down.

So Columbus went to Spain, and spent two years trying to sell the idea to the Count of Medina. After all that work, the count referred him to Queen Isabella.

The queen was busy fighting the Moors, and the proposition (what Columbus was after was financing) was referred to a royal committee. And they turned it down.

Then he went to Cardinal Mendoza, who finally went to Cardinal Mendoza, who finally went to Cardinal Mendoza, who finally went to Cardinal Mendoza.

In 1488 (four years to go yet!) Columbus went back to Portugal and resumed negotiations with that government—to no avail.

While his brother Bartholomew was proposing the idea to the British and French governments, Columbus spent the entire year of 1490 lining up another hearing from the Spanish government. A cabinet council told him to come back and see them when the war was over.

In despair, he started for France, but on the way ran into an old friend, Juan Perez, formerly the queen's confessor, who promised to write her a letter.

That got Columbus another interview. But just when he thought he had the deal in the bag, the government balked.

In January, 1492, he set out in disgust for France. Simultaneously, the Spanish government changed its mind, and sent a messenger after him.

Six miles out of town, the messenger caught up with Columbus.

Communications

Talk Neutrality To Death To the editor:

I think Mr. E. Deacon of Talent hits the nail on the head in regard to our neutrality question now before congress, but congress will likely talk neutrality to death, just like they did the League of Nations.

As Mr. Deacon says, "How can we make a neutrality law work as we would like for it?"

We do not want to help Japan slaughter Chinese.

As the embargo now works it favors Germany against England and France.

Now we will suppose the war lasts several years and Russia goes in on the side of Germany and attacks Canada on the west.

What will we do about that? Are we going to have our commerce destroyed because there is a war in Europe? Who says that we shall treat all nations alike?

Why not have one or three good men to guide the good old U.S.A. and let the congressmen go home and fix up their political fences?

Make this country strong enough so that any other country that jumps onto us will be glad to jump off.

M-J-B WHY?

"I'm patrolling my beat when this explosion shakes m'back teeth..."

1 Then the Miller twins streak pass me. "Playing at chemistry again," I'm thinking. "Halt!" I shout, following 'em right into the Miller's kitchen. "And what will you be wanting, Officer O'Toole?" says their maid. "A talk with those boys, M'am," I say. "It's disturbing the peace they are!"

2 "And it's disturbing your handsome face I'll be if you lay hands on these lamb's," she says, her blue eyes flashing. "Forget it and pull up a chair." "Before I know it I'm making the peace over a cup of coffee." "And what coffee?" I say. "Sure and it's better than you deserve, O'Toole—it's M-J-B!"

3 It's a proud and happy man I am these six months later. Me, Officer O'Toole, drinking M-J-B every day in m'own kitchen. And her, prerry as a picture, smiling across from me and smiling every time I say, "Pour the M-J-B again, Mrs. O'Toole!"
