AMERICA PLEDGED TO AID ALLIES IS SEN. HOLT'S CLAIM

Southern Democrat Says Only Reason for Congress Session Is to Aid Allies

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—Senator Holt (D-W.Va.) charged in the senate today that President Roosevelt had pledged this country to aid England and France in an "attempt to stop the dictators by force."

"The only reason we are in session—and there is no use trying to fool the people—is to help England and France to beat Germany," Holt shouted as he pounded his desk for emphasis.

Holt agreed with Senator Holman (R-Ore.) that if German submarine attacks continued their recent successes that congress might be called into special session again to revise neutrality laws to permit direct shipments to England and France.

May Need New Change.

The Oregon senator had interrupted to observe Germany had scored some "remarkable successes" in the sinking of a British airplane carrier and a battleship. He suggested if Britain and France fail to have naval supremacy to obtain war supplies here, congress would be asked to change neutrality legislation again.

"In other words, should the one policy blow heat and blow cold as the tide of battle flows in Europe?" Holman asked.

Holt said he thought if the tide appeared to be turning to benefit Germany, administration supporters would want congress to remain in session continuously so the neutrality law could be changed on short notice.

Agree on Change.

A group of Democrats on the senate foreign relations committee agreed in principle on a plan to relax controversial shipping provisions of the administration's neutrality bill.

The proposal, offered by Senator Connally (D-Tex.) would authorize American vessels to carry all goods except arms to belligerent ports in South America, the Pacific ocean, the China sea, the Indian ocean the Bay of Bengal and the Arabian sea.

Connally told reporters a final agreement had not been reached. A group of Democrats would work on details at an afternoon session, he said.
