RECLASSIFICATION FOR TAX PURPOSES UPS CITY VALUES

Four Towns of County Show Increase—Six Show Decrease in Tax Valuation

Taxable valuation of property in the 10 incorporated towns and cities of Jackson county is $11,582,157.41, not including the corporation valuations for the year, according to figures compiled by the assessor's office. In 1938 the valuation was $11,513,397.01, a total increase of $68,760. The increase was due to a re-classification of property values in towns.

Four of the cities show increases in taxable valuations and six show declines. Medford, Ashland, Phoenix and Eagle Point gained, and Butte Falls, Central Point, Gold Hill, Jacksonville, Rogue River and Talent decreased. Medford property valuations showed an increase of $134,900.

Taxable property valuations for each city are as follows:

Medford, this year, $8,461,500; last year, $8,326,600; increase $134,900.

Ashland, this year, $2,258,560; last year, $2,235,200; increase $23,600.

CROP FREEZE-OUT BRINGS PROBLEM FOR MATANUSKA

Alaska Colonists May Be Forced to Kill Stock Account Shortage of Feed

Palmer, Alaska, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Faced with the necessity of killing livestock because of an early winter crop freeze-out, Matanuska colonists also faced today the prospect of a new general manager of the colony corporation.

Ross L. Sheely, operator of Alaska's second largest farm, submitted his resignation as manager of the Alaska rural rehabilitation corporation yesterday, effective at the board's convenience. He said his own farm required his undivided attention.

Earlier, Sheely said the emergency caused by the early grip of winter in the valley would necessitate butchering of some of the colony's dairy cattle because of an imminent feed shortage. An early freeze and 10 inches of snow damaged root and hay crops heavily 10 days ago. Weather developments were awaited by farmers to ascertain the full extent of their losses.

Sheely cautioned farmers against hasty action, declaring:

"The unprecedented storm made a critical situation. Some cattle no doubt must be butchered, but an effort will be made by the corporation to devise a method of carrying the cattle through the winter, even if the cost approaches the cost of buying new cattle in the spring."

SALVADOR MISSIONARY VISITS VERL WALKER, FORMER SCHOOLMATE

After being separated for a couple of decades, two former Los Angeles school mates spent the day together here yesterday. They were the Rev. Thomas F. F. Dixon, Baptist missionary in El Salvador for the past 4½ years, and Verl G. Walker of 205 West Jackson boulevard.

Mr. Dixon, spending a six months' leave in this country, was a Medford visitor between trains yesterday, having arrived in the morning and left last night. He comes from southern California and this was his first visit to Oregon. He said he liked Oregon.

Mr. Dixon described Salvador as a peaceful, industrious country, Spanish being the native tongue. Coffee is the principal product, 85 percent of which is exported, chiefly to the United States, he related, adding that the European war has had little effect upon the country.

Mr. Dixon plans to return to Salvador to resume his missionary work. There are two Baptist schools which are conducted primarily as educational institutions, he related. The country is sparsely settled, averaging only 120 persons to the square mile, he said.
