

RED U. S. CULPRIT GIVEN REFUGE IN RUSSIA IS WORD

Dies Says State Department Should Consider Testimony N. Carolina Convict

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Chairman Dies (D. Tex.) of the house un-American committee suggested today the state department should look into future relations with Russia because of testimony that a communist labor organizer, fleeing a North Carolina prison sentence, found refuge in the Soviet Union.

The testimony was given by Fred Erwin Beal, at present a North Carolina convict brought here to tell about various labor disturbances in which he said he participated a decade ago.

Reds Financed Trip

Resuming today the testimony he started Wednesday, Beal said the communist party had financed a trip he made to Russia while he was a fugitive from justice and he entered Russia on a false passport with the knowledge of Soviet officials.

"It seems to me that this ought to cause considerable concern down at the state department about our future relations with Russia," Dies commented.

Beal is serving from 17 to 20 years for conspiracy to murder Police Chief O. F. Aderholt during the 1929 Gastonia, N. C., textile strike, which he said he helped organize.

The witness testified Wednesday that he made one trip to Russia in 1930, while on appeal bond, with money and encouragement from communist party headquarters in New York. He did not like conditions there and so returned to this country early in 1931, he added.

Meantime, he resumed today, the North Carolina court refused his appeal, his $5,000 bail bond was forfeited, and he became a fugitive.

Return Urged

When he returned from his first trip to Russia, Beal said, "the communist party ganged up" to get him to go back.

He mentioned William Z. Foster, present party chairman, Leon Josephson, whom Beal identified as "a communist party OGPU man in this country," and George Maurer of international labor defense as persons who argued he should return.

"Josephson was of the opinion that they should have shot me before I left," Beal said.

All three offered persuasive arguments to him, he said, but he remained in the United States until September, 1931. While here, he testified, he stayed a short time at the camp of Roger Baldwin of the Civil Liberties Union with the understanding he would go to North Carolina to give himself up.

Wall St. Report

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—With European battlers apparently pulling their punches, war buying faded in today's stock market and recently buoyant leaders took a rest behind small minus signs.

While a few merchandising, utility and specialty issues managed to put on a moderate rising performance of their own, closing prices generally were on the declining side for fractions to around a point.

Transfers approximated 800,000 shares, or more than 300,000 under the previous day's aggregate.

Wall Street seemed more confused than pessimistic as news from overseas indicated both sides might be "digging in" or were holding their fire while awaiting a concrete peace move from one neutral source or another.

Business developments, including dividends and corporation earnings statements remained as a supporting market element.

Today's closing prices for 32 selected stocks, follow:

FATTEN TURKEYS FOR THANKSGIVING

Killing of the Rogue river valley turkey crop for Thanksgiving trade will start a week or ten days before that holiday, County Agent Robert G. Fowler said today.

Turkeys are now being fattened with corn mixed with a fattening mash, and are putting on weight fast. The birds are of good quality and sizing, due to favorable hatching and growing seasons.

Ralph Koozer of the Bagley Canning company at Ashland, reported the tomato season was nearing an end, extended by the late fall, with no severe frosts to date. The tomato pack, Koozer said, was larger than last year. The Bagley plant packed tomatoes, some beans, peaches and pears, and made tomato juice.

Veteran Dies

Portland, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Mayor Lloyd Ordway Harding of Oregon City died at the United States veterans' hospital today where he had been a patient for several weeks. Harding, an Oregon City native, attended the old Portland Academy and the University of Oregon and served overseas during the World war.

Barnyard Wobble

Wallington, Conn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—It's not earthquakes the New England Epidemic Tremor association of Wallington is studying. It's the barnyard wobble, a strange disease which causes chickens to die in a tremor—has cost Connecticut poultry raisers heavy losses. They formed the association and raised $2,500 to combat the malady.

San Francisco Butter

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Butter, eggs and cheese unchanged.

Sawmills Reopen

Scio, Ore., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Increased lumber activity was reported in this area today with the reopening of two mills for winter runs. The Lulay Brothers Lumber company, idle for two years, will employ 50 to 60 men to handle 40,000 board feet a day. The West Sco sawmill will also resume operations.

F. R. SEES LIMITS ON SEA FLEXIBLE

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt took the position today that the limits of United States' territorial waters are flexible, varying from three to hundreds of miles, depending on the circumstances under which the limits are created.

In the case of belligerent submarines, which have been barred from American ports or territorial waters, the president said at a press conference that the limit of such waters was three miles.

In the case of rum runners in prohibition days, he said it was 150 miles.

The president did not answer directly a question whether there was any possibility of placing restrictions on surface ships similar to those imposed on submarines.

He said he did not think the two were analogous—that it was like trying to add apples and pears, which were different things.
