

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE CONCLUDED BY END OF WEEK

Committee Hopeful All Details Then Finished — 1552 Contributions.

The 1939 Community Chest campaign enters its third week tomorrow and the executive committee yesterday expressed the hope that all details could be cleaned up and headquarters closed by next Saturday. The campaign is to run to November 1 but the final clean-up work can be completed after the closing of headquarters, it was explained.

Up to the close of business Friday evening, 1552 individual subscribers were enrolled in the Medford, Phoenix, Jacksonville and Central Point areas, with some outlying territory still to be heard from. Children continued to come to headquarters during the week with their contributions of dimes and quarters but little Donna Evelyn Sherwood remained the smallest contributor. She walked in to Community Chest headquarters the previous Saturday and handed over five pennies.

To date the largest contribution from any single corporation has come from Holmes Brothers, the committee announced. Contributions from employees were not included in this, the subscription coming solely from the company.

Medco Employees Mutual Benefit association contributed 100 percent to the chest, this being an association of employees of the Medford Corporation. Also in the 100 percent rolls yesterday were all the public schools of the city, including the grade, junior and senior high schools and the superintendent's office, the executive committee announced.

Other firms contributing 100 percent during the week were Beck's Bakery, Burelson's, Woolworth, American Laundry, U. S. National Bank of Portland, Grover's Dairy, Snider's Dairy, Medford Service Station, Bruce Bauer Lumber company and J. C. Penney.

Eight 100 percent firms had been previously announced, making a total yesterday of 20 such contributors.

To complete the campaign it will be necessary to contact a great many persons whom solicitors have not yet been able to get in touch with for one reason or another and the executive committee issued another plea for everyone who has not yet contributed to come to headquarters or to telephone headquarters for a solicitor who will call. Headquarters are situated at the northeast corner of Central avenue and Main street. The telephone number is 789. Small contributions are just as welcome and just as necessary as large ones, the committee emphasized.

The committee stated that a story in Friday's Mail Tribune about the assistance needed by a destitute young woman who was about to become a mother inspired a number of contributions yesterday, especially small donations, and gratitude was expressed for Dr. LeRoy C. Jensen's suggestion that if people contributed more generously to the Community Chest perhaps the participating agencies would be able to enlarge the scope of their activities to take care of such cases as that of the expectant mother.

COUNTY WELFARE ASSISTANCE FOR DESTITUTE LADY

Mother and baby were doing nicely yesterday, thank you.

The mother was the young woman about whose pitiful plight a story was published in The Mail Tribune Friday. The baby, a girl, was born in a local hospital Friday afternoon. Hospitalization and other care were provided by the Jackson county public welfare commission.

Destitute, the young woman had stated that she had been told by three welfare agencies from whom she had sought assistance that they had no means of giving help in such a case. It was thus revealed that apparently there was no agency here equipped to handle such a maternity case.

The Jackson county public welfare commission office explained yesterday why it was unable to offer the woman assistance when she first applied last Thursday. The office said that the woman was living in California when she was deserted by her husband last May and that the girl's father assumed responsibility for his daughter and her baby son, provided the welfare commission authorized her return from California to Jackson county.

The authorization was granted, the girl returned to her parents' home and nothing more was heard of the case until the young woman went to the commission's headquarters Thursday and asked for help at a time when her baby was expected momentarily, the commission's office asserted. Having no information to the contrary, the welfare staff assumed that the father was living up to his asserted promise to take care of his daughter and the girl was so informed, it was explained. The next day, however, a girl's physician called the welfare office, described the situation as an emergency and the commission went to her aid.

It was explained that the welfare commission has no funds to take care of obstetrical cases, but that assistance is offered in emergencies when help is not available elsewhere. There is no routine way of handling a maternity case. The Salvation Army also explained its position, in being unable to offer the kind of help that was urgently needed. Capt. Reginald Vincent stated that it was too near the time of delivery when the young woman called at the Salvation Army Thursday to ask for help at the disposal of the organization. The Salvation Army, he pointed out, maintains almost 50 homes and hospitals throughout the country for maternity cases, one of the institutions being in Portland to which the expectant mother would have been taken without question if there had been time. But with the baby expected momentarily, it was obvious the young woman could not be taken to Portland and the Salvation Army had no other means of offering maternity assistance, the office related.

If the case had been called to the attention of the Salvation Army in time, the organization would have been glad to provide absolutely free as much as three months of pre-natal and six weeks of post-natal care at its Portland home, Capt. Vincent said. While the homes are intended primarily for unmarried girls who are mothers, no case needing help is ever turned down, the captain declared. He regretted the Salvation Army was not able to offer the young woman the kind of assistance she needed here.

COURT EULOGIZES LATE DR. PICKEL; DEDICATES TREE

An order of the county court eulogizing the late Dr. E. B. Pickel and dedicating in his honor the magnolia tree which stands in the courthouse yard, was placed in the court record October 11. The order reads:

"Before the County Court of the State of Oregon for Jackson County, sitting for the transaction of county business.

"In the matter of the memorial to E. Barton Pickel, deceased.

"On behalf of the Medford Garden Club an address has just been made to the Court by Senator A. E. Reames, dedicating to the memory of Dr. E. B. Pickel, the magnolia tree which stands in the Court yard on the south side of the Court House, it seems fitting that this Order should be entered in the journal, making a permanent record thereof and providing for an appropriate plaque to place upon the tree;

"And it appearing that at the time of the completion of the present Court House the Garden Club, and with the consent of Mrs. Pickel, removed this tree from the former home of Dr. and Mrs. Pickel, and planted it where it now stands.

"That in 1899 the Doctor and Mrs. Pickel obtained this tree in its southern home, and through the succeeding years, cared for it and enjoyed it greatly.

"It is of the variety of Grandiflora, and in this zone and in its southern home, grow to a height of forty to eighty feet and attain great age. It is an evergreen. Its blossoms are creamy white, have a spicy fragrance and often grow to more than a foot across.

"Dr. Pickel attained great eminence in his profession. He was always kindly and cheerful and of a very happy disposition. This evergreen with its constant freshness is a fitting emblem to his memory.

"It is ordered that the tree be and is dedicated to the memory of Dr. Pickel and that this plaque procured by the Medford Garden Club, for the purpose, be by it attached to the tree.

"It reads: 'DEDICATED TO E. BARTON PICKEL, THE BELOVED PHYSICIAN, 1861-1932. The Medford Garden Club.'

"Dated at Medford, Oregon this 11th day of October, A. D., 1939.

"Earl W. Day, County Judge.

"Ralph Billings, County Commissioner.

William Perry, County Commissioner."
