By CLARA MARY DAVIS

Reames Country Club Women are Luncheon Guests

Rogue Valley Golf club women members entertained the members of Reames Country club of Klamath Falls Thursday afternoon at a luncheon and tournament affair.

Klamath women making the journey here included Mesdames Leslie Rogers, A. D. Johnson, Earl Weimar, C. E. Riley, J. J. Steiger, Jr., R. Proebstel and Mohr Reimer.

Local members who entertained the visitors at luncheon at the Hotel Medford were Mesdames A. E. Orr, Tim Daily, R. J. Conroy, H. B. Kellom, Belle Thompson, Jerry Jerome, George Codding, T. J. Fuson, F. G. Bunch, Keith Kittle, Kurt Winston, Laddie Selkirk and H. C. Wells and the Misses Jerry Bunch, Helen Thompson and Margo Boyle. Mr. Selkirk, club pro, was also a guest at the affair.

A handicap tournament followed luncheon and Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Reimer were winners of golf balls for low net play.

In the Wednesday handicap tournament which followed a no-host luncheon in clubrooms for local members, Mrs. Keith Kittle and Mrs. F. G. Bunch were winners.

Musical Program Presented by Club

Rogue Valley College Women's club enjoyed a recent meeting held at the attractive home of Mrs. George Canode on Crown Hill.

William Willits sang "The Old Road" by John Prindell Scott and for an encore he rendered "The Top o' the Morning," by Mana Zuca. He was accompanied by his mother on the piano.

Miss Maxine Conover was heard in the following violin numbers, "Adoration" by Borowski and "Moment Musical" by Schubert.

Mrs. John Lawrence presented a very interesting and instructive resume on the current neutrality act. She pleaded for sane thinking and warned against propaganda.

Refreshments were served after the outstanding program by Miss Ora Cox, chairman. She was assisted by Mrs. Aletha Vawter, Mrs. Glenn Taylor and Miss Clark.

Current Bowmer Play in Ashland Lauded by Many

The many Medford persons who are familiar with the plays directed by Angus Bowmer, drama department head at the Southern Oregon College of Education, will not want to miss his latest production which was attended by a large crowd on the opening night Friday and will be presented again on Tuesday evening.

"Mr. Pim Passes By" by A. A. Milne, is Mr. Bowmer's current play. It is being presented in the college gymnasium in "stadium style" with the action taking place in the center of the room and the audience seated on the four sides. Curtain rises at 8:30 o'clock.

"Mr. Pim Passes By" is decidedly a comedy. Friday evening's appreciative audience found it indeed amusing. Mr. Bowmer chose for his cast an experienced group, having seen action in his previous plays, "You Can't Take It With You," "Dangerous Corners," and others. The cast followed: Mr. Pim, John Barker; George Marden, Woody Mason; Olivia Marden, Ethel Mary Robinson; Dinah Marden, Lois Firestone; Lady Marden, Janet Young; Brian Strange, Dwight Monroe, and Anne, Thelma Messenger.

Also attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hart, Klamath residents who formerly made their home in this city.

Many members of the Garden clubs from Klamath Falls, Ashland, Medford, Gold Hill and Illinois Valley attended the school of instruction in flower show judging held in Grants Pass this past week, under the supervision of Mrs. Daniel Heffner of Portland and Mrs. Harry O. Smith of Kerby.

Those attending from the Medford Garden club were Mesdames Winfield Bailey, J. W. Jacobs, O. O. Arnsperger, H. F. Cope and L. Bundy.

The auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will convene at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening to observe the eighth anniversary of the institution of the auxiliary.

A banquet will be served in the hall and all members of the lodge and auxiliary are asked to attend. Visitors are expected to attend from Klamath Falls.

Games, music and a program will be enjoyed throughout the evening's anniversary celebration.
