Billy Hulen says:
I. Pickem Picks Medford, Oregon and Two Upsets

I. Pickem is here again, children, with his weekly dozen gridiron prognostications designed to astound, by their unerring accuracy, the nation's keenest football minds. If these same predictions seem somewhat bewildering, think nothing of it. Even I. Pickem is at times amazed at what comes out of his typewriter, and has been known to outsmart himself and win plenty of potatoes betting in reverse English.

Without further ado, here they are and told tight: Medford-Bend: According to Bill Bowerman, if the Tigers are able to limp, hobble and stagger upon the field it will be a miracle. He is seriously thinking of transporting his gridders from the bench to the field and vice-versa by ambulance. Granted that the Tigers are pretty well shot up by injuries, Pickem still thinks they will have enough stuff left to cage the Lava Bears. But it will be a crucifier; 6 to 0, Medford. Klamath Falls-Grants Pass: If it rains in Klamath Falls the Cavemen will be lucky. On the assumption that Modoc field will offer uncertain footing, Pickem picks the Grants Passers to hold Klamath to a five-touchdown margin.

Ashland-Dunsmuir: Dunsmuir beat Grants Pass and Grants Pass beat Ashland, So, Dunsmuir will beat Ashland, 13 to 0. Oregon-U.C.L.A.: It's almost too much to hope for that the Webfoots can go through an entire season without loss to those California teams.

Crippled Black Tornado Faces Bend at Stadium Tonight

Especially when they play in California. Nevertheless, and with a great big prayer, it's Oregon, 13 to 7.

Oregon State-W.S.C.: This could be the big upset of the week, with the Cougars from Washington State knocking over a Beaver team that apparently hasn't opened up yet. Pickem'll follow the yellow sheet on this one and say Oregon State, 7 to 0.

Washington Stanford: Who cares? Both have been beaten so often they probably couldn't survive the shock of a victory. Stanford will get the shock of conquest, 7 to 6.

U.S.C.-California: Howard Jones will show no mercy on the Golden Bears. El Trojan will pour it on to the tune of 27 to 6.

Purdue-Santa Clara: The Big Ten team is traveling a considerable distance, and the Broncos apparently have arrived, as witness their 7 to 0 setback of St. Mary's last week. On the flip of a coin it's Santa Clara, 14 to 13.

Noire Dame-Carnegie Tech: Well, here is what you've been holding your breath for. The upset! Stung by their surprise loss to New York University last week, the Skibos, on their home field, will smite the Irish a mighty whack that'll be heard in Belfast. Carnegie, by 7 to 6.

Michigan-Yale: Yale will be bluer than ever after Tommy Harmon and the Michigans get through tearing up the turf. The Wolverines, 20 to 0.

Ohio State-Cornell: This is Pickem's number 2 upset, an innovation at no increase in price. Cornell, not given the ghost of a chance against the mighty Buckeyes, will slip in a 20 to 14 victory.

Tennessee-Mercer: At last a breather! The Vols can't be stopped now. Tennessee 27, Mercer 0.

H. THURMAN AND HIBBERT OUT OF GAME WITH HURTS

Wallis to Be at Center and Grimes at Guard—Piche Won't Start But May Play

With two regulars definitely on the sidelines for the evening because of injuries and most of the other starters nursing various aches and pains, aftermath of the Klamath game last week, Medford's black Tornado moves against the Bend high Lava Bears at the stadium tonight in the blue ribbon gridiron clash of the 1939 local schedule. The kickoff is at 8 o'clock sharp.

Coach Bill Bowerman of the Tigers announced today that Harry Thurman, center, and Alden Hibbert, left guard, would not be able to play. Thurman has a severe charley horse in his right leg and Hibbert suffered a fallen arch against the Pelicans.

Opening in the snapper-back position for the Medfords will be Jim Wallis, 170-pound junior. Dean Grimes will be in Hibbert's guard spot.

One other regular—Right Halfback Billy Piche—won't hear the opening whistle, but he will probably be in before the night is over. Bowerman said, Piche's bad hip is bothering him again. His position will be filled by Ray Johnson, fastest man on the squad and state 440-yard dash champion.

Remainder of the Black Tornado lineup will see Moyer and Winter at the ends, Clute and Barrow, tackles; Dale Howard, right guard; Louie Thurman, quarterback; Bob Newland, left half and John Sausberry, fullback.

Coach Eldon Cone and 25 Lava Bears arrived in town last night and will take things easy until game time. The Bend mentor announced his lineup would consist of Nicar and Hudson, ends; Coleman and Zelick, tackles; Moyer and Neland, guards; Glazier, center; Bill Murphy, quarterback; Willard Ferneau, left half; Art Valley, right half and Jim Byers, fullback.

Coach Cone stated that his two regular guards were out of the game with injuries received two weeks ago, but that the rest of the team was in good condition. The Bend line, Cone said, will average about 175 pounds, while the backfield, sparked by Ferneau and Byers, will average 166.

Tonight's game will send two of the state's strongest prep teams against each other. The Tigers are undefeated in five starts, with only a tie against Klamath to mar a perfect record, and Bend has dropped but one game in six trips to the post. Albany defeated the Lava Bears last week, 6 to 0.

BELCASTRO PLANS TO BEAT SCHULZ WITH NO REFEREE

Pete Belcastro hopes the third time will prove the charm.

Whipped twice by Hans Schulz, the methodical Nazi assassin, Pete gets one last chance to go against the unbeaten German in next Monday night's main wrestling bout in the armory.

And, thanks to Belcastro's insistence, the match will be staged without benefit of a referee, and with no time limit. This was Pete's idea. He thought it up all by his lonesome. He figures that, with the ring cleared of all persons not actually engaged in attempting to break somebody else in two, he stands a much better chance evening his score with the Hun hombre. His wrestling style, he explains, isn't exactly according to the book, which causes complications when there happens to be an official on hand to handle things.

There will be a referee hanging around, but he won't step foot inside the ring until one or the other grapples gives up, signifying a fall. Then, and only then, will the arbiter climb through the hemp. And when he does it will only be to award the fall. At all other times he will remain outside the squared circle to see that the lads don't carry their rough stuff into the ringside clients.

Promoter Mack Lillard, in arranging the no-referee match had to do considerable talking to obtain the boxing commission's sanction. The latter group is not overly sold on these blood-and-thunder things, but Lillard talked them into it. With Schulz, he had no such difficulty. The German, puffed up like a zeppelin over his seven consecutive armory conquests, apparently has the idea he is a man of destiny and that nobody can beat him. He agreed to the match in a condescending manner.

A fine supporting card makes the coming program stack up as one of the best yet produced here. Dude Chick meets El Pulpo in a clean middle event and King Kong Cox, a 200-pound Negro newcomer and one of the finest in the business, faces Duke Pettigrove in the opener. The latter has appeared here off and on for several years. He is slightly rough.

EUGENE HIGH HANDS U-HIGH FIRST LOSS Eugene, Oct. 27.—(P)—A touchdown in the second quarter gave Eugene high a 8 to 0 win over University high of Eugene last night. The defeat was the first this year for the University eleven.

FIVE BIG GAMES ON COAST GRIDS THIS WEEK-END

Beavers Meet W.S.C., Oregon Plays UCLA; Golden Bears Underdogs to El Trojan

San Francisco, Oct. 27.—(P)—The busiest football week-end since the start of the 1939 campaigns finds four Pacific coast conference battles on the state this Saturday plus Santa Clara's inter-sectional struggle with Purdue.

Four of the eight conference schools will be risking their undefeated status in league play as the season, already jammed with upsets, passes the half-way mark.

Oregon State, the only outfit both unbeaten and untied within the conference, hooks up with twice-defeated Washington State at Corvallis.

Trojans Face Bears At Berkeley, the powerful Southern California Trojans risk their championship aspirations in a game with the fast-improving California Bears. U.S.C. will be the strong favorite.

The Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles and Oregon's Webfoot, each undefeated but tied once in the conference, clash at Los Angeles, while the other league affair pits Stanford against Washington at Seattle.

Purdue Favored Purdue's boiler-makers, representatives of the Big Ten conference, will be favorites in a game at San Francisco over a Santa Clara team fresh from nipping St. Mary's, 7 to 0.

Outstanding games tonight will see the Hardin-Simmons team from Texas meet Loyola at Los Angeles and San Jose State's undefeated and untied outfit entertain Santa Barbara State. University of San Francisco plays Fresno State at Fresno tomorrow night.

Other Saturday games will pit Montana against Idaho at Moscow in a toss-up affair and the California Aggies against the University of Nevada at Reno.

Portland university will play the St. Mary's Gaels here in a Sunday game.

AL HOSTAK FLATTENS KILLER COATES EARLY

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 27.—(P)—While the battle of the match-makers and managers over the disputed middleweight boxing title stirred up a New York-to-Seattle fistic hum, Al Hostak stepped out in decisive fashion here last night to justify his 48-48ths of the title in a non-title fight.

Hostak coasted for two rounds against Charlie (Killer) Coates of Los Angeles and then rapped him on the cheek to put him down for the count. Hostak weighed 160½; Coates 166.

Duck Hunter Killed Rockaway, Oct. 27.—(P)—A duck hunting trip ended fatally yesterday for William Jordan, Jr., 18, when the gun he was dragging from a boat exploded, Coroner R. N. Henkle reported.

Nyack, N. Y. (UP)—The fox's reputation for cunning has suffered a setback. Orangetown Supervisor Robert H. Clark reported a red fox leaped into his arms while he was inspecting culverts.

MEDFORD JUNIORS PLAY K. F. FROSH SATURDAY NIGHT

Medford junior high plays its second night home game of the season Saturday evening, tangling with the strong Klamath Falls frosh aggregation at the high school stadium at 8 o'clock.

The local team has a score to settle with the Klamathites, as it was the latter outfit which two weeks ago handed Riney Cook's boys their only defeat of the season to date. The score was 14 to 0 at Klamath Falls.

The last start for the Medford juniors resulted in an 18 to 6 victory over the Grants Pass frosh and Coach Cook is confident the team can even matters with Klamath. The local juniors are leading the Southern Oregon junior high conference with two wins and no losses. Klamath is not a member of this loop.

Medford will line up with Ricks and Monteith, ends; Smith and Anderson, tackles; Fletcher and Mitchell, guards; Casebeer, center; Dipple, quarterback; Barker and Isaacs, halfbacks and Cliff Jones, fullback.

George Harrington will referee. Bernie Hughes will umpire and Ivan Harrington will act as head linesman.

Sounds Like Nice Place. Omaha, Neb. (AP)—Eskimos on King island, giant rock in the Bering sea 90 miles from Nome, Alaska, have a 50-year record of "no murder, no suicide, no divorce, no quarrel, no venereal disease or vermin."

This was the observation here by Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard, S. J., noted "glacier priest," who took exception with those who "think of the Eskimo as primitive."

Portland, Oct. 27.—(P)—Benson defeated Lincoln high, 13 to 6, yesterday for its first win of the year in the Portland interscholastic football league.
