2,500,000 VISIT CASCADE BUILDING DURING FAIR RUN

Wonderland Exhibit Seen by 23.9 Per Cent of All Who Visited Exposition

Treasure Island, Nov. 2.—(Spl)—A total of two and a half million had visited the Shasta-Cascade building when the Golden Gate exposition closed its gates Sunday night, far exceeding estimates made before the fair opened. The visitors came from every state in the union and 44 foreign countries.

"The California commission is grateful to the Shasta-Cascade counties for this really outstanding and entertaining demonstration of northern California and southern Oregon wonderland region," said Commissioner J. C. Berendsen as he made a final call on the manager.

Visited 100 Times

"This makes just an even 100 happy visits to the Shasta-Cascade building," commented Mrs. F. H. Coon of 8 Jordan avenue, San Francisco, as she stopped to thank Mrs. May Williams, hostess. Continuing she said, "This was the finest, most hospitable and soul satisfying exhibit on Treasure island. I shall miss it."

Final attendance figures at the building were 2,492,178, which was 23.9 percent of the total attendance at the fair. Some 30,000 of these came from the nine counties of the Wonderland and 26 percent were from places outside of the states of California and Oregon.

Wonderland court, always popular with visitors, was the scene of many gala occasions participated in by governors of other states, high government officials, noted bands, universities and colleges, lost none of its popularity as thousands crowded it to capacity to watch the last camp fire.

Quail Loath To Leave

When August Bade, game manager, came to pick up the beautiful pheasants, partridges, quail and ducks, a flock of 25 quail hid and could not be found. As soon as the wardens left the gardner saw them come cautiously from behind the protecting wings of one of Dudley Carter's huge wood carvings.

EX-MOVIE USHER KNEW WHAT TO DO WITH WEALTH GIFT

Man Who Befriended Aged Lady Inherits Half Million; Travels Continually

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—If I had just 15 cents in my pocket, and somebody died and left me a half million . . .

William J. Reilly, 40, a former Roxy theater usher, knew what he'd do if that wishing-well dream ever came true for him.

It did come true. And today, a year later, he's still doing what he wanted to do when the windfall came out of a clear sky.

"Just keep traveling," he said, as he stepped down the gangplank of the giant liner Santa Elena, bronzed by his fourth West Indies cruise since he inherited more than $500,000 in September, 1938, from Mrs. Edna Morse Elliott, who took that way of thanking him for his "kindly and courteous acts."

Thought Her Poor.

"I thought she was poor," he said. "I met her in 1927 and she attended the Roxy theater every week. I used to talk with her a little and make sure she had the seat she wanted. Sometimes I took her backstage.

"But I didn't know she had any money. I thought she was living on a pension."

Reilly said he left the Roxy theater in 1932 and then worked as manager for Warner Brothers picture theaters in the middle west for several years.

"Then I lost that job. I was broke and took a job as storekeeper in the Bronx veterans' hospital. In the meantime, I'd forgotten all about Mrs. Elliott, but her lawyers kept track of me and knew where I was all the time.

Down to 15 Cents.

"The day I heard the big news, I had 15 cents in my pockets. I couldn't believe it."

He has been getting about $3,000 a month from the estate since Mrs. Elliott died.

"I came back to see the Army-Notre Dame football game," he said. "Then I'm off on another cruise. That's my idea of a real life. Keep traveling."

AUSTRALIAN NATIVES SMART AS WE ARE, IS PROFESSOR'S BELIEF

Los Angeles, Nov. 2.—(AP)—After living for more than a year with the aborigines of Australia, the largest group of primitives in the world, Dr. D. S. Davidson, anthropology professor of the University of Pennsylvania, concluded they are as intelligent as modern Americans.

"They have adjusted themselves to their environment as intelligently—sometimes I think more intelligently — than we have to ours," says Dr. Davidson, returning from an expedition with the American Philosophical society and the Carnegie corporation of New York.

He says great intelligence and knowledge is required for "our contemporary ancestors," as the aborigines have been called, to survive the rigors of western Australia's vast, wild stretches, where game and water are scarce. Civilization, too, is pressing in on them.

"Scarcity of food has required a balance between population and food supply," Dr. Davidson explains, "and these people have met it by various forms of eugenic control. In times of great stress they kill their own children. This, so shocking to us, does not disturb them. They do not kill the old because they are valuable to the community in imparting knowledge to the young."

Missing Student Safe in Arizona

Eugene, Ore., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Charles Cox, Heppner, who disappeared last week after supposedly starting for home, is in Bisbee, Ariz., it was revealed here yesterday.

The University of Oregon student sent his parents a postcard from the southern city saying he was traveling with another man and would be home in about a week.

French Get Medals

Paris, Nov. 2.—(AP)—France published today the first list of her soldiers awarded Croix de Guere medals and Legion of Honor decorations for "remarkable heroism and great coolness" in the present war with Germany. Twenty soldiers were decorated, of whom 15 were seriously wounded.
