FLINT UNLOADING IN PREPARATION FOR TRIP HOME

Will Touch Only Neutral Ports in Return Voyage in Effort to Avoid Warships

Bergen, Norway, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The United States freighter City of Flint, which was captured as a war prize by Germany and then released by Norway, started to unload her cargo today in preparation for returning directly to America.

Captain Joseph Gainard said the vessel would carry only ballast on the return voyage.

They said she would travel from one neutral port to another without cargo in an attempt to avoid entanglement with warships of the belligerents on the lookout for contraband.

The City of Flint was bound for England when the German pocket battleship Deutschland seized her October 9 and put a German prize crew aboard.

No Munitions Aboard

Lubricating oil, agricultural machinery, radio receivers, zinc, surgical instruments and other miscellaneous articles were included in the cargo taken off the ship today. No ammunition or explosives were in evidence.

The German prize crew first took the City of Flint to Murmansk, Russia, and then brought her down the Norwegian coast as far as Haugesund.

There Norwegian officials interned the German crew Nov. 3 and returned the ship to her American master, accusing the Germans of violating international law by halting in a neutral port without due cause.

VETERANS THANK BUSINESS HOUSES

World war and Spanish war veterans' organizations of Medford have gone on record thanking merchants of the city who are closing their establishments on Armistice Day, "in honor of our departed comrades and to those who came back maimed and broken.

"The fine cooperation with the veterans this year will not be forgotten," the ex-servicemen's statement said.

Organizations represented include:

Commander H. J. Meiring, Medford Post No. 15, the American Legion.

Commander Carold J. Parker, Disabled American World War Veterans.

Commander M. A. Beneka, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Commander George King, Spanish-American War Veterans.

Armless Mother Feeds Week-Old Baby

Armless from birth, Mrs. Ruth Matthews uses her foot and toes at a Safford, Ariz., hospital to feed her week-old baby girl, born alongside a highway. Mrs. Matthews does her own housework, takes care of her eight other children. Her husband, who was taking his family to Oklahoma by the hitch-hiking route, has a job on a ranch near Safford.

CRATER LAKE PARK SKI LIFT PROPOSAL AWAITING DECISION

A recommendation of national park superintendents that portable ski lifts be permitted in small national parks is still before Washington, D. C., authorities who have taken no action in the matter, it was stated today by E. P. Leavitt, superintendent of Crater Lake national park. The question of a ski lift was brought to the fore again as winter sports groups here and in Klamath Falls filed applications for such installation at Crater lake.

There is a general policy of not permitting ski lifts in the smaller national parks, the purpose of the policy being to develop park facilities no faster than the ability to take care of them, Mr. Leavitt explained. Such equipment as ski lifts, particularly permanent fixtures, increases work and supervision tremendously, necessitates the addition of other facilities to take care of the increased crowds and enlarges the danger of accidents, he pointed out. Nevertheless, national park superintendents favor installation of portable ski lifts in small parks when such installation is feasible, Mr. Leavitt emphasized.

BEAVERS AND OREGON BUILDING UP FOR TILT IN EUGENE SATURDAY

Eugene, Nov. 9. — (AP) — The weather was cold but mental temperatures high at Oregon and Oregon State college as Eugene unfurled bunting today for the decades old football debate between the Webfoots and the Beavers on Hayward field Saturday.

Twenty thousand homecoming spectators, the most that can be jostled into the Oregon grandstands, will watch the University's and College's best elevens in years resume "civil war" hostilities where they left off with a Beaver victory at Corvallis in 1938.

Tex Oliver's Webfoots and Lon Stiner's Beavers, each asserting the other should be classed as the favorite, enter the state's "big game" with only one loss apiece in the Pacific Coast conference.

If Beaver spirits were bruised against the Trojans, so were their bodies. Corvallis reported Bob Pena, regular right end, was parked in the infirmary with a sore throat and minor wounds suffered beneath the hooves of the Trojan horse. A number of other lads who were roughed around by Southern Cal have been stalking the sidelines during the week's practice.

Meanwhile the Webfoots drew their second day of heavy scrimmage with every member of the squad getting in important licks. Just to make sure some of the reserves who performed so efficiently against Washington State were still "hot," Oliver gave them all an opportunity to win positions for the Oregon State battle.

UCLAN FROSH FORCES TOO SHORT FOR GAME

Los Angeles, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Southern California - UCLA freshman football game will not be played Friday because the Uclan frosh haven't enough players.

School authorities, mournful because the frosh squad had dwindled from around 30 players to 16, cancelled the game for fear they wouldn't have enough reserves to use in the contest.

ANJOU PEARS ATTRACT GLOBE TROTTER HERE, FRUIT GIVEN PRAISE

From Washington, D. C., to Medford, Ore., to see the place where grow the Anjou pears that have satisfied his taste for rare fruits — that's the jaunt taken by J. T. Moseley, who was looking over the Rogue river valley today.

A couple of years ago Mr. Moseley, then residing in Raleigh, N. C., saw an advertisement of Medford gift pears. He answered the ad and ordered a box of the Anjous. Since then he has been a regular Medford pear customer. Today he ordered five boxes for friends back east.

Mr. Moseley is a retired navy man who gets the urge to travel every once in a while. When the wanderlust hit him recently he decided to come to Medford and see where the Anjou pears are grown and packed. He has been shown around the valley by Maurice Spatz of the Crystal Springs Packing company.

Mr. Moseley said he has been in every country of the world. Washington, D. C., he added, becomes boring after a few months.

Prospect

Prospect, Nov. 9.—(Spl.)—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jantzer have moved to Azalea and Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Charley and William Charley of Brownsboro have rented their cabin, which is owned by Ivan Nye.

Mrs. Waldo Nye and infant daughter, Patricia, have returned home from the Medford Community hospital.

Among those shopping in Medford Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vaughan, Mrs. Zella Tullis, Mrs. Frank Jantzer Jr., Mrs. James Dole, Mrs. Dunnegan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manning, Mrs. Beddingfield, Mrs. Glass and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Carlton.

Hallowe'en pranksters were very well behaved this year and confined themselves to harmless tricks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Price of Medford were guests Sunday at the Ludo Grieve home.

Upper Rogue Grange met November 2. Next meeting will be November 16.

A mule belonging to Chauncy Arant was killed recently on the highway by a lumber truck.

Jantzer's mill has resumed operations after having been shut down due to muddy conditions in the woods.

TAMMANY TIGER WAKES TO CLAW LA GUARDIA MEN

Tough Old Machine Turns Back Fusionist Mayor's Forces in City, Suburbs

By William S. White

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—Tammany lives again—Tammany, the tough, hard-handed political organization which bears the angry scars of a history going back beyond the founding of this republic.

In Tuesday's New York city election the old hall demonstrated that in these last two years it had been merely dormant, not dead.

Its Manhattan legions — and the allied Democratic organizations of the city's outlying boroughs—made what appeared to have been a grand slam of all local and judicial county (borough) offices. They turned back specifically candidates whom the fusionist Mayor LaGuardia, Tammany's conqueror in 1933 and 1937, had supported.

Vote Count Slow

The full extent of their victory could not be measured, however, for it will be days yet before all the votes are counted in the race for the city council—a race conducted separately under a system of proportional representation by which the voter may designate in 1-2-3 order and beyond, all the candidates he may choose.

At the same time, the mayor suffered, too, in the vastly affirmative vote by which the city elected to help make New York the 23rd state permitting parimutuel betting. The New York city vote on the pari-mutual amendment was 594,698 for and 163,237 against. The mayor had publicly opposed the amendment.

Perhaps the worst blow struck at the LaGuardia leadership was in Kings county (Brooklyn), where the regular Democratic nominee of the Frank Kelly machine — William O'Dwyer — defeated his Republican opponent, William R. Bayes, for district attorney by a plurality of more than 220,000. LaGuardia had gone all the way for Bayes.

Poker Chips Protested

Milwaukee, Wis. (UP)—It's no news for poker chips to be causing trouble, only in this case the trouble comes even before they are put into play. The Paper Mill Workers union, local 215 (AFL), has sent a letter of protest to Washington asking that each Japanese-made chip be required to carry the label "Made in Japan."
