REGISTRY FEES FROM AVERAGE AUTO OWNER WERE $5.12 LAST YEAR

Washington, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The average passenger vehicle owner in Oregon paid a registration fee of $5.12 in 1938 and the average truck owner paid $17.97 according to an analysis of state statistics by the public roads administration. Corresponding national averages were $9.25 and $22.66.

Average payments per vehicle in Oregon for registration, permits, certificate of title and similar items amounted to $8.18, as compared to a national average of $13.19.

Gasoline tax collections averaged $27.53 per vehicle in the state and $26.17 nationally. Average tax payments per vehicle are considerably higher than payments by the average car owner because of the large gasoline consumption of trucks and busses, according to the administration.

MEDFORD HIGH PUPILS JOURNEY TO ASHLAND FOR GOOD WILL MEET

Ashland, Nov. 10.—(Spl)—Principal Leonard Mayfield and the student council of Medford high school yesterday paid a visit to the Ashland high school assembly, where they were introduced to the student body before the councils of the two schools held joint meeting for the purpose of promoting "interschool relations."

Dick Finch, student body president, headed the Medford student delegation of eight members.

All concerned agreed that relations between the two schools, including sports, should be conducted in the future with a maximum of sportsmanship and good feeling and a minimum of the rowdyness which has cropped up occasionally in the past.

The Medford group got a warm welcome here, four days prior to the gridiron contest at Medford which will bring a climax to the traditional athletic rivalry of the two schools.

One accomplishment of the meeting was to agree upon an exchange of assembly programs of entertainment, which will be put into effect in the near future, according to Principal B. C. Forsythe of Ashland high school.

RARE BORAX MINERAL ADDED TO COLLECTION

Washington— (U.P.) —A rare mineral which exists about once every 50 years has been added to the collection of the Smithsonian institution, it was revealed here.

The mineral, found for the first time on the bed of the borax lake in California in 1934, was named "teepleite," in honor of the late Dr. John E. Teeple, by its discoverers, W. A. Gale, of the American Potash and Chemical corporation, Dr. William F. Foshag of the U. S. National Museum, and M. Vonsen of Petaluma, Cal.

Teepleite was found in crusts of salts formed within small pools that remained when the borax lakes dried up the year the mineral was found. The fact that the 1934 drouth caused the beds to dry up for the first time since 1861, gave rise to the belief that the mineral forms only about once in every half century.
