FARM PROBLEM STILL UNSOLVED TABER ASSERTS

Master of National Grange Urges Program to Correct Economic Imbalance

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Louis J. Taber, master of the national grange, told the organization's 73rd annual convention today that "we have not yet solved our farm problem, and it remains with us as one of the great unanswered steps toward recovery."

Proof that the farmer is not receiving his share of the national income is evidenced by the fact, Taber said in his prepared keynote address, that in the last decade farmers received barely 10 per cent of the national income, including government benefit payments.

Farm Dollar Down
"The farmer's condition is brought into bold relief," he continued, "when we remember that during the same period he has educated, housed, clothed and fed 31 per cent of the youth of our land."

During the past 10 years, Master Taber said, prices received by farmers were only equal to 78 per cent of the prices they paid for commodities, goods and services used in rural life. This makes the farm dollar 22 per cent below par and "it is more than coincidence that approximately 20 per cent of the nation's labor is unemployed."

"This proves that America's greatest need is economic balance. Such disparity cannot be corrected by legislation alone. Until labor and industry will meet agriculture in solving this problem, depression will continue. Payrolls, business activity and advancing farm prices go hand in hand."

Program Needed
"Government, business, finance and labor must unite in a long-range, broad program doing justice to tillers of the soil and (1) assuring every person in the nation an ample supply of food, clothing and shelter; (2) guaranteeing the farmers that they shall have a fair return on their products for the essential service which they render to society. Both of these objectives can be attained by cooperation on the part of all interested, and the wise statesmanship at the hands of government."

Taber asserted experience had shown reciprocal treaties have not benefited American agriculture as a whole.

"A study of tables showing our exports of cotton and other basic surpluses proves that the program thus far has not benefited these commodities," he said. "On the other hand, the very existence of these treaties has a tendency to depress prices."

TEACHERS UPHELD BY HIGHER COURT

Salem, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The state supreme court ruled today that school district No. 1 of Multnomah county has no right to require applicants for teaching jobs to waive their rights to collect disability benefits.

The high court, in a decision by Justice Bean, reversed Judge Jacob Kanzler of Portland, who had held the district could require the waivers.

The district contributes to the teachers' retirement fund association of school district No. 1, and three years ago began to force all newly-hired teachers to submit to physical examinations. If it was found that the new teachers might be poor disability risks, the district required them to sign waivers forfeiting their rights to collect benefits should they become disabled.

CO-EDUCATION IS BEST, PRINCIPAL DECLARES

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—For years separate high schools for boys and girls have been maintained in Louisville and Mrs. S. I. Kornhauser, a vice-president of the city Parent-Teach council, says the "real" reason is the intense athletic rivalry between two of the boys' schools—Manual and Male high.

C. L. Jordan, retiring principal of Manual high school, advocates co-education as "the natural situation." He says boys and girls should not be separated in adolescent years.

Elderly Engineer Dies Making Plea For Return Of Job

Los Angeles, Nov. 15.—(AP)—John H. Mills, 70, retired last July from a school engineer's job as physically unfit, stood before the school board yesterday to plead for his position back.

"I offer these letters from four physicians," he declared. "I'm as sound and healthy as I ever was, and you've robbed me of the privilege of making a decent livelihood."

"This means bread and butter to me and my family. You see, it is rather an imperative time . . ."

His voice choked and he slumped to the floor. Dr. E. Vincent Askey, a board member, rushed to his side.

"He's dead," the physician said softly.

They WANT you to Call Again!

To all the merchants you buy from, "repeat" orders are not only desirable, but absolutely necessary. In order to stay in business, those merchants have to induce you to "come back for more."

For that reason alone, if for no other, the merchants whose advertisements you see in this paper are anxious to please you... to treat you fairly... to make each purchase satisfactory to you.

In that fact lies the secret of one of the great truths in modern merchandising and marketing:

Advertised goods are dependable goods!
