

ROOSEVELT'S TALK FANS INTEREST IN 3RD TERM PUZZLE

States and soon, we hope, peace for the world.
He expressed the thought that, in the future, those who seek to learn the history of our time from contemporaneous documents will obtain an intimate accurate view of the aspirations and purposes of all types of Americans who have been living in these times.

By D. Harold Oliver
Washington, Nov. 20.—(AP)—News that three Republican groups are conferring on farm and labor planks for their 1940 platform provided a diversion today for political forecasters who for weeks have talked about little except the third term question.

Interest in the burning topic of whether President Roosevelt will run again was kept alive, however, with a comment by Paul V. McNutt that "no possible combination or permutation" could keep the nomination away from the chief executive if he chose to make the race.

Depends On F. R.
McNutt, federal security administrator, who spent the weekend at Hyde Park, N. Y., attending the cornerstone-laying ceremony for the new Roosevelt library, has said repeatedly that he would withdraw from the 1940 convention contest if Mr. Roosevelt sought a third term.

McNutt told reporters:
"If Mr. Roosevelt decides to run he will be nominated and elected. If he doesn't run, the Democratic nominee will have to be acceptable to him."
Politicians generally agree that the farm states will be one of the major battlegrounds in the 1940 campaign. Republicans made marked gains in the mid-west state and congressional races last year, and are eager to follow up those victories.

McNary Conferring
It was learned that Senator McNary of Oregon, senate minority leader, has been conferring with other party chieftains on ideas for strong farm and labor planks.

McNary, one of the authors of the McNary-Haugen farm bill in the Coolidge-Hoover days, believes, like many of his colleagues, that the administration's reciprocal trade program is detrimental to western agriculture and should be altered or scrapped.
What his alternative plan will be remains to be seen, but McNary is so determined to have a voice in formulation of farm and other plans which would attract western votes that he had permitted friends to push his own candidacy for the presidential nomination.

TRAIL AUTOIST CITED IN CRASH

Horace F. Peck, 39, of Trail was scheduled to appear in city court this afternoon to answer a city police charge of reckless driving, following an accident late Saturday night in which his automobile struck a parked machine and caromed up and over the sidewalk and into the residence of Mrs. Susan K. Eads, 29 Kenwood avenue.

Although Peck's car was practically demolished, he sustained only minor face lacerations and bruises, caused when his head smashed through the windshield.
City police said that Peck's machine struck a parked car owned by Ivan Lantz of Medford, jumped the curb and tore out a considerable amount of scrubbery on the lawn before stopping against the front porch of the residence, which was not damaged. The Lantz auto received a broken spring.

against the Nazis, stressing the presence of women and children aboard the Simon Bolivar, which was bound for the West Indies from Amsterdam.

(In Berlin, however, German authorities declared "a German mine could not have been responsible" for the sinking of the Simon Bolivar.)
The Simon Bolivar disaster possibly was the worst to civilian shipping since the war started. Unless the death list of 140 is reduced in the final survey, it will surpass the toll of 112 persons lost in the sinking of the British liner Athenia Sept. 3.

Some of the 260 survivors of the Netherlands liner told of harrowing experiences between the time two explosions rocked the ship and she settled in water so shallow her funnels showed.
"It was just like hell," a young Netherlander said. "The first explosion blew me down three decks. I saw people blasted dead, just like knocking down tinpins."
One survivor, a middle-aged man with a battered nose, said some passengers were smothered in their cabins when oil pipes burst, and others, unable to get into boats, "slid or jumped into the water."

"Some others, though, just stayed," added a barefoot, shirtless British bank clerk. "They just stood on deck and watched us go. Maybe they didn't get off."

TWO MEDFORD MEN GIVEN SWELL TRIP THROUGH AIR LANES

It seems that Lieuts. James W. Grigsby and Weldon H. McBee were taken for a ride.

The two national guard officers left here Friday night by United Mainliner for a big-week conference in Portland Saturday. The plane, however, was fogged out of Portland and went on to Seattle where the Medford men were given their choice of rooms and victuals at a first class hotel.

Saturday morning the lieutenants left Seattle by Mainliner for Portland but the plane again was fogged out of the Oregon metropolis and the first thing the travellers knew they were setting off the plane—in Medford. It was lunch time and so the officers were given an appetizing meal at the Hotel Medford. After feasting, they boarded another northbound plane and got to their appointment in Portland about 3 p. m., just a trifle late.

It was a lot of air travelling to do to get from here to Portland, especially for Grigsby and McBee for whom it was a first commercial flight.

P. S.: United Air Lines stood all the extra expense.
