Little star you may be par for the course

PERHAPS YOU'VE never thought of Old Joe Gloom, the tax-collector—thousands met him personally at the Golden Gate International Exposition's petroleum exhibit—as a gentleman and an astronomer. Yet Old Joe—otherwise known as the man in the black hat—is getting so that astronomical figures don't pack enough wallop to satisfy his appetite.

If you pace off the distance to the sun or check it on your speedometer you'll find it's roughly 93,000,000 miles. Just to double-check you might drop a dollar at each mile-post. This really shouldn't bother you, because motorists this year will pay ten times that amount in gasoline taxes.

Estimates indicate total gas-tax collections will cross the billion-dollar mark. This, it strikes our naturally prejudiced eye, is a figure sufficiently large—particularly when you remember that the gasoline tax is one of the few which consider neither value nor the ability to pay.

The unfortunately cockeyed truth is that taxes based on gal-lonage mean that as price has gone down the tax-rate has gone up. A $4 tax is more on a $10 suit than a $4 tax on a $20 suit. Not counting the extra pennies tacked on here and there, the government has constantly, since introduction of the gas-tax, taken more and more of less and less.

The costlier tobaccos are slower-burning...milder...cooler...mellower

MANY a smoker has switched to Camels because his value-sense applauded the thrift of getting more puffs per pack. But... that's only one small part of the story of slow burning. You get a lot more than savings!

You get extra mildness! Common sense tells you that a fast, fiery, hot-burning cigarette will not smoke comfortably or yield a delicate taste and fragrance. And that slow-burning tobaccos naturally would be mild and mellow. You get extra coolness. You needn't be a scientist to know that the slower tobacco burns, the cooler the smoking.

You get extra-fine flavor. Excess heat ruthlessly destroys the subtle elements of flavor and aroma. Slow-burning Camels tell their own taste-tale! So...for thrift and for a smoking thrill...light up a slow-burning Camel!

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to
