Billy Hulen says:

Tiger-Coquille Game To Decide Mythical Title

Eugene's feat in tying Inky Boe and his touted Milwaukie Maroons, 13 to 13, relegates that December 2 clash between the Portland prep champs and Milwaukie to strictly secondary importance, so far as the mythical state championship situation is concerned.

By the same token, the Eugene-Milwaukie deadlock focuses the spotlight of state interest on the Thanksgiving day struggle here between Coquille's unbeaten, untied and unscored-upon Red Devils and the undefeated but once-tied local Black Tornado.

Any way you look at it, the winner of this latter game can lay potent claim to the state title.

Regardless of what Klamath Falls thinks, if Medford defeats Spike Leslie's coast team the Tornado will have a more logical right to the mythical crown than any other team in the state. The boys on the other side of the Greensprings can cry their eyes out; the fact still will remain that the rest of the state will look upon Medford as the top grid outfit of them all.

Why? Well, for one thing, the Black Tornado decisively walloped Eugene, by a healthy 20 to 6 tabulation, and if it hadn't been for an absurd number of penalties the locals would have tallied probably once, maybe twice, more against the Axemen.

For another, Coquille has by far the finest record of any club in Oregon. In eight straight games the Red Devils have averaged over 40 points to their opponents' none.

By beating this aggregation the locals will become one of the three lone teams in the state with no defeats and only one tie on its record. LaGrande and Milwaukie are the two others, but Medford has played by far the hardest schedule.

I. Pickem actually picked an upset over the week-end, and as a result he is going bareheaded today because there isn't a hat in town big enough to cover his inflated cranium.

The form-reversal was produced by good old Iowa, which for the second straight week lived up to Pickem's advance ballyhoo. Two weeks ago it was Iowa knocking off Notre Dame; Saturday it was Nile Kinnick pitching his Hawkeyes to a 13 to 9 setback of Minnesota.

This was Pickem's "minor" upset, which saved him face when his "major" reversal—St. Mary's over Fordham—failed to occur. However, minor or major, it's still an upset and the prognosticator is smugly satisfied with his week-end labors, which saw him hit eight out of 12, with one a tie.

Mr. Pickem picked correctly Oregon State over California, Georgia Tech over Alabama, Tulane over Columbia, Holy Cross over Carnegie Tech, Princeton over Yale, Tennessee over Vanderbilt and Notre Dame over Northwestern, the latter being right on the nose at 7 to 0. He missed on Stanford-Washington State, Pitt-Nebraska and St. Mary's-Fordham.

The average jumped 11 points to the following:

Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.
60	33	9	.645

COLORADO BACK LEADS SCORERS

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—If the pupils of Golden, Colo., elect Coach Johnny Mason mayor, they will have to erect a statue to his ablest pupil, Lloyd Madden.

For while Mason has tutored Colorado Mines into its first conference football title in decades, Madden has given the school its first national football scoring leader in history.

The husky Colorado halfback, in eight games, has punched across 19 touchdowns and booted three extra points for a total of 117 points. That gives him leadership over Don Lieberum Manchester (Ind.) captain, who also has made 19 touchdowns, but who has no conversions to his credit. His total is 114.

Tommy Harmon, Michigan's great back, leads the major college outfits with 93 points.

Paul Bozell, Bob Kenaston Head All-Star Mat Program

TWO-THIRDS OF CARD TO PROVIDE ROUGH ACTIVITY

Schulz Meets Piluso In Middle Event; Parks Faces Clayton In First Go Here.

Bob Kenaston versus Paul Bozell, Hans (Hitler) Schulz against Ernie Piluso, Herb Parks taking on King Kong Clayton—that's the triple-decked, all-star mat lineup presented in the Medford armory tonight by Promoter Mack Lillard. Although it is not ladies night, and all feminine fans must lay their cash on the line with the other paying customers, another capacity crowd is expected to witness the program which opens at 8 o'clock.

Only one 100 per cent clean and legitimate struggle is slated to occur, the other two brawls being earmarked for rough and tumble exhibitions with at least one gent in each match kicking over the traces and unleashing plenty of unorthodox stuff.

The lone "clean" affair on the card will be six-round opener between King Kong Clayton of Birmingham, Ala., the flashy, capable Negro, and Herb Parks of Vancouver, B. C., a newcomer to southern Oregon. Parks, according to Lillard, is very fast and colorful, weighing about 185 and being short and heavy-set. He is one of the finest wrestlers in the northwest and the promoter expects him to make a solid hit with local mat addicts.

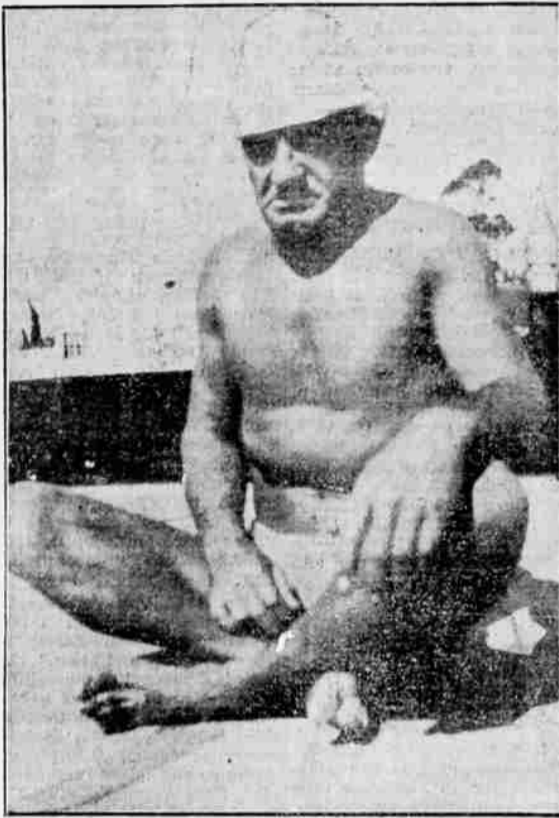

The main event featuring Kenaston and Bozell is expected to develop into what all Kenaston matches usually turn out to be—a super colossal slugfest, with nothing barred but legitimate maneuvers. The Gold Hill badman is returning to Medford following a successful jaunt through southern California and the southwest, and is said to be in the best condition of his career. He will have to be, many fans believe, to compete with Bozell, the former Black Dragon, who disposed of Schulz in short order last Monday.

Perhaps the best match on the program will be the middle event, slated for six rounds, between Schulz and Ernie Piluso, the Portland Italian-American, who is just about the most popular muscle-mangler now working this section.

Although he will be outweighed by many pounds, Piluso is confident he can black out the Nazi meenie. Piluso thinks Schulz is slow and awkward, and in general not much of a wrestler. He will attempt to prove his theory and the consensus is that he will be successful, notwithstanding Schulz' vast weight advantage.

Plans to Wallop Kenaston

Paul Bozell (above), erstwhile Black Dragon, is making arrangements to Boston Crab Sgt. Bob Kenaston into submission in tonight's main wrestling event in the Medford armory. Bozell, who defeated Hans Schulz last week, is probably the best manipulator of the crab hold in the country.

Tornado Challenges Winner Of Milwaukie-Portland Tilt

In an effort to settle once and for all the mythical state prep football championship, Coach Bill Bowerman of the Medford Black Tornado today issued a public challenge to the winner of the Milwaukie-Jefferson high of Portland grid clash on December 2 to a game in Medford on December 10, provided that Medford defeats Coquille's Red Devils here next Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving Day.

In issuing the challenge for the game, to be played in Medford, Coach Bowerman stated that the Black Tornado had, in years past, traveled six times to play for the mythical title, and that he believed it was about time for other contenders to come to Medford.

"We will meet the Milwaukie-Jefferson winner on almost any terms," the Medford coach stated. "I would suggest that the game be played for the milk fund, or some charity, but regardless of the basis on which the game could be arranged we would like to play either team and will make any reasonable concessions to do so."

Coach Bowerman pointed out that the state high school athletic association would have to officially sanction the game before it could be played, as the rules now prohibit any post-season games after December 2. However, he said, this might be done if the game were played for the milk fund.

The coach announced that Jean Eberhart, athletic director of Southern Oregon College of Education in Ashland, would referee the Medford-Coquille game here Thanksgiving Day, with Joe Gray of Grants Pass, head linesman, and Dale Lillebo of Coquille, umpire.

The Coquille game will start at 1 o'clock sharp, and all tickets sold for the La Grande or Mac high game of last Friday, which was postponed, will be honored.

The Tigers are all back in school today after the flu epidemic of last week and will go through light practice sessions today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ORANGEMEN MEET UCLA IN WEEK'S TOP GRID CLASH

California Plays Stanford; Webfoots Tackle Washington Thanksgiving Day.

San Francisco, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Pacific Coast football fans turned today from a dull pigskin week-end to expectations of two "big games" next Saturday—an important clash between two top conference teams and a renewal of the far west's most bitter gridiron rivalry.

While the traditional enemies, California and Stanford, clash before a near-capacity crowd at Palo Alto in an insignificant game insofar as the conference is concerned, the undefeated Bruins of University of California at Los Angeles will entertain Oregon State in a game that could put the Beavers right up there in the Rose Bowl running.

Oregon State, 21 to 0 victor over California Saturday, has won five games and lost one—that to powerful Southern California, 19 to 7. U.C.L.A., tied 14 to 14 by a weak Stanford team several weeks ago but otherwise unbeaten in the conference, held the strong Santa Clara Broncos to a scoreless tie Saturday.

Southern California, topevery favorite to take the conference crown and the Rose Bowl bid despite an early-season tie with Oregon, was idle last Saturday. The Trojans hook up with Notre Dame at South Bend this week in their annual get-together.

They're celebrating Thanksgiving Thursday in these parts, and two games are on the turkey day slate.

Portland Plays Gonzaga At Seattle, Oregon will play University of Washington in another conference game with little significance. At Fresno, Calif., San Jose State and Fresno State, each undefeated and untied, will meet Thursday afternoon.

Santa Clara will play Loyola at Los Angeles Sunday while Gonzaga goes to Portland University.

Basketball Father Shows Improvement

Lawrence, Kas., Nov. 20.—(AP) Dr. James Naismith, 78, inventor of basketball, rallied today after a night in which friends feared for his life.

His physician termed his condition "somewhat improved" and not particularly critical this morning. His illness had been termed critical after a cerebral hemorrhage last night.

California's Gerald Lutes, halfback, is shown carrying the ball for a short gain in game with Oregon State at Corvallis. Bears were trounced, 21-0.

SIMMONS FIRST IN BLIND BOGEY

Eddie Simmons wielded his golf clubs in fine fashion Sunday to win first prize in the Rogue Valley Golf club's blind bogey tournament. His prize was a huge turkey.

Low net winner was Bob Hammond, who also obtained a turkey for his score. Mrs. Keith Kittle turned in high net score and received a golf ball prize. Fourth, fifth and sixth prizes, all of golf balls, were won by H. H. Pringle, Ivan Harrington and R. H. Norris, respectively. Leland Clark won a special prize for low gross in a playoff with George Harrington.

The tourney, sponsored by Club Fro Laddie Selkirk, was a large success, and other events are slated for the remainder of the winter.

Linfield Defeated In Guessing Game

Longview, Wash., Nov. 20.—(AP)—It was largely a matter of guessing where the ball was Saturday night when St. Martin's college met Linfield. St. Martin's did the best guessing and won 13-0. The game was played in a pea-soup fog.

Spectators could see the players only when the game surged near the sidelines and players frequently could not see the punts nor the long passes.

AMATEURS TAKE MANY PRIZES IN LOCAL TRAPSHOOT

Fine weather and the first winter turkey shoot brought out a big entry list at the Medford gun club yesterday morning, with amateur trapshooters winning most of the turkeys.

Prizes of names and turkeys were taken home by Louis Jantzer, Billy Hall, George Howard, Harry Wilson, Tom White, Fred Sanders, L. Porter, B. Calvert, Ed Pease, George Jantzer, Clarence Eads, J. T. Hall, C. W. Lemery, Dr. Thayer, Ron DeVore, Harry Elden and Dr. Winkle.

Jack Crane of Turlock, Cal., one of the top ranking California trapshooters and director of the Pacific International Trapshooting association, was among the guest shooters participating in the practice shoot. The success of the event encouraged the gun club management to announce another turkey shoot to be held shortly before Christmas.

In practice shooting the following scores were made:

Thayer	21x25
Jantzer	22x25
Elden	23x25
DeVore	25x25
Barnum	24x25
Lampert	24x25
