NAZIS KEPT BUSY ON WEST BORDER BY HEAVY STORM

Uprooted Trees Removed—Reconnaissance Flights Prevented By Elements.

Berlin, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Violent storms kept German troops on the western front busy yesterday removing uprooted trees. DNB, the official news agency, reported today.

The weather prevented German reconnaissance flights, but planes already in the air returned safely, DNB said in elucidating today's high command communique, which stated simply "no special events" yesterday. (Widespread scouting today over France by German planes was reported from Paris while in England anti-aircraft batteries went into action against an unidentified plane).

Busy in Baltic
Regarding mercantile sea warfare the report stated units of the German navy continued "to be busy in the Baltic, the North sea and in all oceans."

As for the western front activity, enemy planes penetrated German territory only in the immediate neighborhood of the border, DNB said.

Apparently the "lively machine-gun and rifle fire on both sides," reported in yesterday's communique, spent itself without follow-up action. That communique also took note of "localized artillery activity" elsewhere on the front.

(A dispatch from Basel, Switzerland, said flood waters of the Rhine had driven French and German soldiers from their river front pillboxes at the southern extremity of their lines.

(Of aerial activity, a dispatch from The Hague told of an exchange of fire between a trespassing German plane, over the island of Schiermannkoof, and one of a flight of Netherlands pursuit planes. Apparently neither was struck.)

CRIME IN COUNTY AT LOWEST EBB

The past two weeks, "have been the quietest since I took office, as far as crime in Jackson county is concerned," Sheriff Syd I. Brown said today.

There are seven county prisoners in the jail, augmented by nine federal prisoners, making a total of 16 inmates. Usually at this time of year the bastille population runs from 25 to 35.

The sheriff fears the situation is a lull before the storm and would not be surprised if the tranquility broke in time to cause him to miss his Thanksgiving dinner.

Mountain Climber Taken From Ledge

Portland, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Autists summoned by his shouts rescued Art Steele, Portland mountain climber, from a ledge high on the rocky face of Larch mountain Sunday.

Steele became stranded on the ledge attempting to scale the peak and could go neither up nor down. He was within 500 feet of the summit where the road up the peak skirts the edge of the precipice. Ropes were lowered from above and he was hauled to safety.

"To preserve the quality of beer is as important as making the beer good in the first place"

Leopold Schmidt Master Brewer

Evolution of the Beer Bottle

1. RESEARCH discovered that the cork in a bottle of beer contained tannin which harmed the beer.
2. HENCE THE MODERN CROWN CAP which Olympia pioneered on the Pacific Coast.
3. RESEARCH then discovered that the vacant space left in the long-neck bottle harbored unnecessary air which immediately produced oxidation to the detriment of the beer—hence the "Stubby" bottle which Olympia also pioneered on the Pacific Coast. Furthermore, the "Stubby" bottle is more convenient to handle and to store.

Dark Bottles Are Best For Beer

U. S. Bureau of Agriculture says: "It isn't accidental that beer comes in brown bottles; that color is chosen because it filters out ultra-violet and infra-red rays." Most of the world's fine beers come in dark bottles to protect their flavors against these harmful light rays. For fullest protection, Olympia always comes in dark brown bottles.

Yes, "It's the Water!" The waters of Burton-on-Trent, England, and Munich, Germany, became famous in the 13th century because of the quality of the beers produced therefrom. Mr. Leopold Schmidt discovered the same quality of brewing water at Tumwater in 1895 and thereupon founded the Olympia Brewing Company. Today the same water is used in brewing Olympia Beer as was used before Repeal by the same family of Master Brewers.
