Craterian Brings Mysterious Santa Christmas Opening

As a special attraction for Medford's Christmas opening, the Craterian theatre will present "Little Santa," the mechanical marvel, in the lobby of the theatre this evening between the

Deanna Durbin Sunday Star

Deanna Durbin, the charming young lady with the million dollar voice, brings her new picture, "First Love," to the Craterian theatre Sunday for a three-day showing.

In this, her sixth picture, Deanna has her most mature role, that of a parentless girl, who, treated like a poor relation by her wealthy uncle and aunt, comes through to a triumphant victory over her surroundings, and meets a handsome young chap who brings romance into her life for the first time.

Robert Stack is the lucky chap who bestows Deanna's first movie kiss, with Helen Parrish, Eugene Pallette, Lewis Howard and Leatrice Joy also featured.

"Little Accident" Sunday Show

Hugh Herbert and Baby Sandy share starring honors as a brand new comedy team in the zesty film, "Little Accident," which has the two with Florence Rice at the New Rialto theatre for Sunday and Monday. The story has the whimsical "woo-woo" man of the screen lifted from obscurity to fame through the help of Sandy, who is abandoned at the newspaper office where Herbert is employed as baby editor. The film hours of 6:45 and 8:00.

Children—grown-ups, too—are invited to visit Little Santa, and express their desires for Christmas. Little Santa is a great listener and—once he gets started—quite a talker, too. But how he does it remains a secret; nobody knows but the Craterian staff and they're keeping "mum." Those who have had an advance meeting with Little Santa are unanimous in their approval and have invariably agreed that the little fellow is going to become the talk of the pearance this evening.
