Every so often people have children

IT'S REALLY quite normal for people to have children—and afterward to talk about them. So we hope you won't mind if we talk about ours. Maybe, being a corporation, we're just an uncle. But this Company is made up of things—and people. Our people, of course, have children.

A very talented lot you'll find them. Some are marvelous at the piano or with the violin. You'll find them on the stage and in the movies. You'll discover them entering the professions. You'll find an extraordinary percentage are in college, have been to college, or are college-bound.

This, we believe, is due to the fact that our people are everywhere able to become substantial members of their communities. Fair pay, job-security, promotion for merit, retirement annuities—all these and other advantages make it possible to plan family life to the best interests of the youngsters.

Actually, this is one of the greatest indirect benefits enjoyed by employees of this Company. Parents know no larger satisfaction than warranted pride in their children. Life pays no greater dividend than the ability to help them develop their talents.

 The Parent-Teacher Association is a valuable meeting ground where parents may meet people who influence their sons or daughters. Here there should be no social caste; only desire to be friendly because the children are friends. Parents should recognize that their child is only one of the incomprehensibles—that they are not alone in their perplexities.

Parents should learn to talk to their children about current events, new athletic rules, should go to a game with daughter, brush up on history, look up some names of books, recall some quotations from "Hamlet", practice on the old flute because son is in the school orchestra.

What the Girl Scouts Are Doing

Beginning Saturday, December 2, and continuing every Saturday until Christmas, there will be handicraft classes at scout headquarters Saturday morning from 9 to 12. Every girl scout is invited to attend these meetings. There will be weaving, knitting, sewing, block printing, making of doll dresses, wood burning and other forms of craft. These classes are more for the fun of working together than to learn new crafts. Girls furnish their own materials.
 Friday, December 1, at 1:30

there will be a special training session at scout headquarters for Brownie scout leaders and committee members or for any mother interested in Brownie work. Most of this training will be on folk dances, games and crafts suitable for Brownie troops.

All scout leaders are reminded of the leaders' association meeting on Monday, December 4th. This is a special Christmas meeting. The training part of the program will be the "Question Box Quiz."

WILLIAMS YOUTH HELD FOR THEFT

Caught last night while allegedly attempting to steal an automobile here, Vernie Lee Barrington, 16, of Williams was to be returned to Grants Pass today to face a charge of bicycle theft, city police stated.

The youth, according to police, climbed into a Graham sedan parked on East Main street and was preparing to drive away when the owner, Howard Lind of 320 Apple street, approached the automobile. Lind told police he took the boy out of the car, went to a nearby store and called the authorities.

Police said that Barrington confessed to stealing a Hawthorne bicycle at Grants Pass high school yesterday morning, riding it to Medford and leaving it in a bicycle rack near the Fluhrer building. The bicycle was recovered and will be returned to its owner.

The body will be shipped to Medford for burial Friday morning.

Friends of Mrs. Day are invited to gather at the Conger funeral parlors at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Graveside services will be held in the I. O. O. F. Cemetery. She will be laid to rest beside her husband who passed away in 1917.

MAN TAKING NAP IN STOLEN AUTO HELD BY POLICE

Howard Eldon Greer, 20, of Seattle, waived extradition this afternoon and was being held by city police for return to the Washington city where he is wanted for grand larceny involving the alleged theft of an automobile.

City police took Greer into custody here last night when he was discovered asleep in a 1940 Plymouth coupe parked on South Riverside avenue. The machine, police said, was registered to the Hertz Drive-Yourself service of Seattle, and upon questioning Greer said he rented the car on November 18.

Greer told police that he was on his way to California to visit his sister. He represented himself as a brush salesman, and said he planned to sell the brushes he had in the car to obtain gasoline money. He had less than $3 in his possession.

Although Greer displayed a receipt showing he had paid $32 to the automobile-renting concern, police notified Seattle authorities and the information came back that a warrant charging grand larceny was being held for his arrest.

A Seattle police officer is expected to arrive tomorrow or Saturday to return Greer to Washington.

KUHN GUILTY ON ALL FIVE COUNTS IS JURY FINDING

defense on the "leadership principal"—that he had the right to spend the Bund funds as he saw fit.

Long Instruction

The judge, in his two-hour and two-minute charge to the jury emphasized (1) that "you can't convict this man for his social, political, or economic views, nor can you convict him to get rid of him, for that would be a threat to civil liberties," and (2) that "this man is not on trial because he is an undesirable and unpopular citizen, or because he may foster ideals obnoxious to most of our citizens."

Specifically, Kuhn was found guilty of spending $717 in Bund funds wrongfully to remove the furniture of Mrs. Florence Camp, his erstwhile "Golden Angel" from Los Angeles to Cleveland to New York, and of talking $500 which he claimed he paid to James D. C. Murray, an attorney, for legal services to the Bund. He also was found guilty of falsifying the bund's records to indicate payment of the money to Murray, who denied he received it.

HAMMERSLY FUNERAL SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for John B. Hammersly, who passed away at a local hospital yesterday, will be held in the Conger funeral parlors at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Interment will be in the Gold Hill Cemetery.

'HAY FEVER' CAST SCORES SUCCESS ON OPENING NIGHT

Valeria Whitney's superb acting in "Hay Fever" which opened last evening in the senior high school auditorium, would doubtlessly do credit to any metropolitan presentation of the three act comedy by Noel Coward. In fact Mr. Coward might have had Miss Whitney in mind when he penned the hilarious play, so finished was her work in the role of Judith Bliss, middle aged mother of two grown children who never for a moment forgot that she had once been an actress.

Supporting Miss Whitney was a cast of eight, all turning in excellent portrayals. Don Darneille, again cast in a paternal role, played David Bliss with his usual able manner. Sorel and Simon Bliss, daughter and son of Judith and David, were portrayed by Jean Schuler and James Boyle, both scoring hits as they fairly bounced through their parts with enthusiasm.

Action of the production climaxes when the four members of the Bliss family each invite a friend to their country home at Cookham for the week end. It is here that romance steps in and one side splitting situation develops after another.

Week end visitors of the Bliss family include Sandy Tyrell, (Don McKenzie) a rather likable Englishman who strolls through the part with ease; Myra Arundel (Vivian Early) a deep throated siren; Richard Greatham (Del Burke) a diplomat at all times and Jackie Coryton, (Mary E. Letcher) a shy and lovely auburn haired miss, who like the other three guests, finally decides the Bliss family is decidedly screwy.

Clara, the maid, is ably portrayed by Faith Elm. She is long suffering and easily imposed upon by the slightest of commands.

Robert Stedman, junior high school drama coach, proved himself a competent director by turning out the highly successful production last evening. Lavon Davis acted as book holder and Russ Roseborough was technician.

Prior to the play opening and between scenes, the junior high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Helen Leach, entertained.

The fast moving and smooth comedy will be presented again this evening in the high school auditorium at 8:20 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased at the door.
