

NEW NAZI BOMBS FIRED BY SOUND BRITISH LEARN

Navy Confident of Finding Defense For New, Formidable German Sea Weapon

Washington, Dec. 1. —(AP)—Word has been received in authoritative quarters here that the British navy is confident that means of defense can be devised for a new German mine which some experts consider the most formidable new weapon of the European war.

A well-authenticated report said that the mine, blamed for heavy shipping losses recently, could be exploded by sound waves as well as magnetic force. British hopes of developing a defense were said to be based on this discovery.

Several of the mines were recovered unexploded. They were reported to rest on the sea bottom, rather than to drift or remain attached to cables regulating their distance beneath the surface.

Sensitive Trigger
The British were said to have discovered that the firing mechanism was extremely sensitive and that it would be sprung either by magnetic force or, through acoustical horns, by sound waves.

The explosive charge was heavy enough to blast the hull of passing ships from a considerable depth, but the mines were most effective in comparatively shallow coastal waters.

Apparently they were sown by mine-laying submarines, it was reported. They were placed at considerable distances apart in the North Sea, it was said, and then more mines were dropped in some instances by aircraft flying high enough not to detonate those already in place.

DEATH COMES TO DAN J. MALARKEY, EX-LEGISLATOR

Portland, Ore., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Dan J. Malarkey, attorney and former state legislator from Multnomah county, died at his home today after a month's illness.

The 69-year old civic leader served in the house of representatives from 1902 until 1904. He went to the state senate for his first term in 1904 and was elected again in 1910. The senate named him president in 1913.

Malarkey, a Republican, sponsored the first minimum wage and hour law for women in the United States. The law, introduced in the Oregon legislature, was sustained by the United States supreme court. He was also credited with organizing the first public utilities legislation.

Surviving are his widow, four children, Mrs. Henry F. Cabell, Neil, Thomas B. and Dan J. Jr., all of Portland; a sister, Mrs. E. H. Hamlin, Seattle, and two brothers, James A. and Charles B., both of Portland.

Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's cathedral Monday morning.

HEAT REGISTER GIVES OLD SOL 12,300 DEGREES

Pasadena, Cal. —(UP)—Next time the bottom falls out of the thermometer and the winds whistle around the eaves, it might be consoling to know that at the same time the approximate temperature on the sun is 12,300 degrees Fahrenheit.

Dr. John D. Strong, California Institute of Technology physicist, utilized a newly-invented optical pyrometer to record accurately this temperature on the face of the sun.

The pyrometer, Dr. Strong explained, measures the heat thrown off from the sun by recording the intensity of its light waves. Heretofore this was impossible until the physicist introduced the principle of the infra-red ray in his pyrometer. With the aid of these invisible rays, it is possible to gauge accurately the intensity of the light rays given off by the sun.

"Once we have captured the intensity of light of the sun's rays it is quite simple to measure—by comparing with previously proved formulas—the degree of heat existing at its source," Dr. Strong said.
